THE COLLEGE PROGRAM

HAVERFORD COLLEGE

AS A QUAKER COLLEGE, Haverford stresses in its educational policy the importance of personal and social ideals. In the past, this concern has been expressed through Fifth Day Meeting and Collection, rather than in any formal way in the requirements for the degree. Recent changes in faculty policy, however, have put a heavier emphasis on philosophic and evaluative courses within the academic curriculum itself. The College is not satisfied with scholarship and intellectual expertness alone, though it values highly these qualities; in its new plans, Haverford will stress increasingly the importance of sound ethical judgment based upon clear perception of individual and social aims.

In its curricular work, Haverford insists on a high standard of achievement. The College's selective admissions policy brings together a varied group of promising young men in each Freshman class. A reasonably high aptitude for academic work is an essential prerequisite, but selection is made also with qualities of personality and character in mind. In its strictly academic work, the College stresses intellectual integrity, independence of judgment, the imaginative grasp of interrelationships, and the capacity to do independent work. Mastery of facts and of the techniques of research is always important, but even more so is the desire and moral capacity to use these skills for worthwhile ends.

Haverford believes that desirable qualities can be cultivated in the classroom and laboratory but that this process can be supplemented and strengthened by a sound program of student government and extracurricular activities. The non-academic program is calculated to encourage growth in a sense of responsibility for constructive community service, in the appreciation of beauty, and in certain creative skills not properly included in the curriculum itself. The meditative silence of Fifth Day Meeting continues, as always, to make an important contribution to the spiritual development of Haverford men.

From the beginning these aims have been important in Haverford's educational program; the changes now in effect are intended to increase their importance in the curricular work of the College.

History

HAVERFORD COLLEGE was founded in 1833 as the first college established by members of the Society of Friends in the United States. Wherever the first Quaker settlers set up their meetings for worship, they also opened schools, but because Friends have no ordained ministry or priesthood set apart from secular life, they made in the beginning no provision for institutions of higher learning. With the expansion of science and learning in the early nineteenth century, however, the need for advanced training was felt by the Friends as it was by the many other religious groups in America which founded colleges in that era. A tragic separation in American Quakerism in 1827-28 brought this need sharply to the attention of certain leaders of the "Orthodox" Quaker body in Philadelphia and New York. They organized Haverford, therefore, as an institution which would provide an "enlarged and liberal system of instruction" to meet the intellectual needs of "Friends on this continent," offering a course of instruction in science, mathematics, and classical languages "as extensive as given in any literary institution in this country." In religion, morals, and manners, the students who attended Haverford were, in the Quaker phrase of the day, to receive a "guarded" education, but their training was to be "equal in all respects to that which can be obtained in colleges." Haverford College in those days was modestly called Haverford School, but the intent was clear to create an intellectual center that would give to Friends the kind of education which other young Americans were receiving in the best colleges.

The choice of the site of Haverford College exercised its founders for three years; it was settled by the purchase of 198 acres of rolling farmland in the center of the Welsh Tract, a large area originally set apart by William Penn for Quaker immigrants from Wales. The region still bears the native place-names of its settlers, of which Haverford is one. The site was propitious. Today the College campus (increased to 216 acres) is a beautiful area of fields and woodlands, although the Philadelphia suburbs have spread out along the Main Line to Haverford and beyond. What had been fields grew into a graceful sweep of lawns, distinguished by trees and by planting reminiscent of an English garden. This was the contribution of William Carvill, an English landscape gardener whose careful planting gave Haverford a campus of great charm.

During the first forty years of the College's existence, Founders Hall, the original building, Alumni Hall, which is now incorporated in the Library, and an Astronomical Observatory comprised the major part of the physical plant. Throughout this era Haverford men were proving by their effectiveness in their communities the soundness of the principles on which the College had been founded. In 1847 Haverford opened its doors to young men who were not members of the Society of Friends, and in 1856 it became a degree-granting institution, with a tradition of high scholarship which has continued unshaken. At the same time it has adhered to its Quaker traditions of simplicity of living and enlightened interest in social issues.

An era of progress began in 1874 under the presidency of Thomas Chase. He and his brother, Professor Pliny Earle Chase, brought the institution to full academic stature, and strengthened its endowment. In this period a number of new buildings were erected, notably Barclay Hall, which, as the principal dormitory, became the center of student life.

President Isaac Sharpless, 1887-1917, led Haverford College into the forefront of American collegiate institutions. His many-sided genius enabled him to gather and hold together a faculty of extraordinary capacity. In his regime, and the years immediately following, modern dormitories and classrooms, well-equipped laboratories for Chemistry, Physics, Biology, and Engineering were added to the growing assembly of buildings. The Gymnasium was erected in 1900; Roberts Hall, containing administrative offices and a large auditorium, in 1903. The Haverford Union, used for many College activities, dates from 1910; the Morris Infirmary from 1912. A modern Observatory was built in 1933, and a modern addition to the Library was completed in 1941.

As the College enrollment has grown in recent years, the need for residences in which men of like tastes and interests might have more intimate associations has been met by the establishment of a Spanish House and a French House, each with a resident director. In these specialized student residences the occupants have the advantages of group life without social discrimination of a fraternity system.

The original fund of $60,000 raised when the College was started has been increased by generous bequests and donations to more than $10,000,000. This endowment enables the College to maintain a superior faculty of unusual size in proportion to the number of students. Student enrollment is limited to approximately 450 in order that teaching may continue on the basis of personal acquaintance in a unified community, as it has throughout the history of Haverford College.

Haverford Station on the Pennsylvania Railroad, between Bryn Mawr and Ardmore, is twenty minutes from downtown Philadelphia. The campus fronts on the famous Lancaster Pike (U. S. 30). It is approximately two hours train journey from Haverford to New York or Baltimore and less than three hours to Washington. Philadelphia's Orchestra, its museums and libraries, its scientific laboratories and industrial plants are all easily accessible to Haverford students who can make full use of the cultural opportunities of a city while enjoying the beauty of a college campus in a quiet suburban setting.

Admission

THE POLICY of Haverford College is to admit to the Freshman class those applicants who, in the opinion of the Committee on Admissions, are best qualified to profit by the opportunities which the College offers and at the same time to contribute to undergraduate life. Due regard is given not only to scholarly attainment, as shown by examination and by school record, but also to character, personality, and interest and ability in important extra-curricular activities.

Whenever practicable, the College will arrange for the candidate to have a personal interview with the Director of Admissions or another administrative officer. Every applicant should realize that, in view of the limited enrollment, he is entering a competition for admission to a carefully selected and comparatively small student organization. On the basis of all information available — College Board reports, school record, class standing, evidence touching on character and personality — the application will be accepted or rejected, and the decision of the Committee on Admissions is final. Preference will be given to those with superior records and credentials rather than to those with mere priority of application.

Students who are accepted will be admitted without conditions. Those who, on entrance, show marked proficiency in certain subjects will be permitted to take courses usually not open to Freshmen; in such cases, however, the number of courses required for a degree will not be diminished.

Each applicant for admission must take the Scholastic Aptitude Test and three Achievement Tests of the College Entrance Examination Board. The English Achievement Test is required, but a candidate may choose the other two tests. If there is any doubt about the choice of the two tests, he should consult the Director of Admissions. Applications involving divergence from the normal procedure must be discussed in detail with the Director of Admissions. In addition, the applicant must obtain blank forms from the College, on which he must submit his school record and a certificate of character signed by his school principal. The school certificate must show satisfactory attainment in 15 units* of work.

* A unit represents a year's study in any subject in a secondary school, constituting approximately a quarter of a full year's work. A four years' secondary school curriculum should be regarded as representing not more than 16 units of work.

The preparatory course must include four years of English, at least a year and a half of Algebra and one year of Geometry, and three years of a foreign language. Cases involving divergence from the requirements should be discussed with the Director of Admissions. The remaining units will be drawn from laboratory science, social science, history, and additional mathematics and language.

A candidate may offer an elective in a subject not usually listed, provided he shows proficiency which indicates an amount of study and intellectual effort commensurate with that required in other subjects. The subject chosen must have the approval of the Admissions Committee.

Information Concerning College Entrance Board Tests

The College Entrance Examination Board will hold a complete series of examinations on each of the following dates during the academic year 1955-1956:

Saturday, December 3, 1955

Saturday, March 17, 1956

Saturday, January 14, 1956

Saturday, May 19, 1956

Wednesday, August 8, 1956

On each of the dates listed above, the schedule of tests will be as follows:

8:45 A.M.—Scholastic Aptitude Test (Verbal and Mathematical Sections)

1:45 P.M.—Achievement Tests—Candidates may not take more than three of the following:

English Composition

Advanced Mathematics

Social Studies

Biology

French Reading

Chemistry

German Reading

Intermediate Mathematics

Latin Reading

Physics

Spanish Reading

In addition, at the March, 1956, series only, Achievement Tests in Greek Reading and Italian Reading will be offered, but only to candidates who register in advance specifically for these tests.

The schedule permits a candidate to take the morning Scholastic Aptitude Test and a maximum of three of the afternoon Achievement Tests.

Copies of the Bulletin of Information may be obtained without charge from the College Entrance Examination Board. The Bulletin contains rules regarding applications, fees, and reports; rules for the conduct of the tests, advice to candidates, descriptions of the tests, sample questions, and lists of examination centers.

Candidates should make application by mail to the College Entrance Examination Board. Students who wish to take the examinations in any of the following States, territories, or foreign areas should address their inquiries and send their applications to College Entrance Examination Board, P. O. Box 27896, Los Feliz Station, Los Angeles 27, California:

Arizona	New Mexico	Territory of Hawaii
California	Oregon	Province of Alberta
Colorado	Utah	Province of British Columbia
Idaho	Washington	Republic of Mexico
Montana	Wyoming	Australia
Nevada	Territory of Alaska	Pacific Islands, including Japan and Formosa

Candidates applying for examination in any State or foreign area not given above should write to College Entrance Examination Board, P. O. Box 592, Princeton, New Jersey.

Haverford prefers that its candidates take the March series of College Board examinations, but it will accept the December or January series if a candidate wishes to take them at those times.

Application forms will be sent to any candidate upon request. When ordering the forms candidates must state whether they wish applications for the December, January, March, May or August tests. Application forms for the December tests will be available early in the fall; those for the January tests will be ready for distribution about November 1st, those for the March series, about January 9th; forms for the other two series will be available immediately after the preceding series has been held. A copy of the Bulletin of Information is routinely sent to every candidate requesting an application blank.

Each application submitted for registration must be accompanied by the examination fee. A detailed schedule of fees follows:

Scholastic Aptitude Test and one, two or three Achievement Tests	$12.00
Scholastic Aptitude Test only	6.00
One, two or three Achievement Tests only	8.00

All applications and fees should reach the appropriate office of the Board not later than the dates specified below:

Date of Tests	For examination centers located
	in the United States, Canada, Alaska, Hawaii, the Canal Zone, Mexico, or the West Indies	in Europe, Asia, Africa, Central and South America, and Australia
December 3, 1955	November 12	No administration
January 14, 1956	December 17	November 26
March 17, 1956	February 25	January 28
May 19, 1956	April 28	March 31
August 8, 1956	July 18	June 20

Applications received after these closing dates will be subject to a penalty of three dollars in addition to the regular fee.

Candidates are urged to send in their applications and fees as early as possible, preferably at least several weeks before the closing date, since early registration allows time to clear up possible irregularities which might otherwise delay the issue of reports. Under no circumstances will an application be accepted if it is received at either of the Board offices later than one week prior to the date of the examination. No candidate will be permitted to register with the supervisor of an examination center at any time. Only properly registered candidates, holding tickets of admission to the centers at which they present themselves, will be admitted to the tests. Requests for transfer of examination center cannot be considered unless these reach the Board offices one week prior to the date of the examination or earlier.

The Board will report the results of the tests to the institutions indicated on the candidates' applications. The colleges will, in turn, notify the candidates of the action taken upon their applications for admission. Candidates will not receive reports upon their tests from the Board.

Advanced Standing

Since Haverford offers an integrated education, admission with advanced standing is ordinarily granted only in a limited number of cases. An undergraduate who comes from an approved college must submit an official statement of his honorable dismissal, together with a full list of his accepted preparatory subjects, and a list of all his college courses, with his record therein.

Financial Arrangements

Rooms

ENTERING FRESHMEN are assigned the rooms available after the other classes have made their choice. It is not always possible to meet the desire of Freshmen for the remaining rooms. The College assumes that a new student will accept any available room of approximately the same quality as the room for which a preference is expressed. New students will be notified of the rooms assigned to them by means of a list available in Roberts Hall. The choice of rooms by other students is governed by published rules.

A deposit of $35 is required of all new students at the time they are notified of their admission. A similar deposit is required also of those students who have not been in attendance at the College during the immediately preceding semester. This amount will be deducted from the bill for the following year. If the student fails to present himself at the beginning of the semester for which he has been enrolled, the deposit will be forfeited.

Students are expected to treat College property with the same consideration as their own. A student is held financially responsible for any damage to his room, and any damage wilfully done will be sufficient reason for requesting withdrawal from the College.

Expenses

The tuition charge for all regular students is $750.00 for the academic year. Tuition for special students is $125.00 per course, per semester. The board is $470.00, and room rent $250.00 per year. The Unit Fee is $85.00 per year. Charges are subject to alteration by the Board of Managers.

The room charges include heat, electric light, service, and the use of necessary bedroom furniture, i.e., a bureau, table, chair, study lamp, and a bed, the linen for which is furnished and laundered by the College. Students will supply their own study furniture, blankets, and towels.

The College requires that bills rendered August 15 and January 15 for the following semester's tuition, board, room, unit fee, and deposits be paid in full before the beginning of the semester.

In order to avoid last minute congestion, it is suggested that bills be paid by mail in advance. Upon receipt of payment, registration cards will be released by the Comptroller's Office to the Registrar, and students, except Freshmen or transfer students, need not report at the Office of the Comptroller.

The Unit Fee includes the following: Student activities fee, laboratory fees, health fee, accident insurance (a maximum of $500.00 within one year of each accident), diploma, and psychological tests when required by the College. Students who are insured at home on a blanket accident policy, for no less than $500.00 per accident, will be granted a reduction from the unit fee equal to the premium the College would pay to the insurance carrier, on condition that their personal accident policy covers all accidents without any exclusion whatsoever, and that medical expenses incurred as result of an accident be paid the student, who in turn will present his claim to his insurance carrier.

The College requires a $70.00 deposit to cover the cost of books and any other incidental charges which may arise during the school year. At intervals during the year, a bill for the actual charges made will be sent to the student. If this bill, or any other indebtedness, is not paid by the end of the semester, credits will not be granted for the work performed. Any unspent balance is refunded at the end of the academic year.

No reduction or refund of the tuition charge will be made after the first two weeks of any semester. If a student withdraws before the completion of the first two weeks, there will be a complete refund of his tuition. In case of illness or absence for any reason from the College, for four weeks or more, there will be a prorated refund of board. In case of withdrawals at any time, there will be no reduction of room rent for the semester unless the same room is re-rented, in which case the withdrawn occupant will receive the amount paid to the College by the new occupant. The unit fee cannot be refunded for any reason.

College Responsibility

The College is not responsible for loss due to fire, theft, or any other cause. Students who wish to cover the first risk may apply for information at the Office of the Comptroller.

Monthly Payments

Because some parents may prefer to pay tuition and other College fees in equal monthly installments during the academic year, the College is glad to offer this convenience under The Tuition Plan. The cost is 4% greater than when payment is made in cash at the beginning of each semester.

Student Loan Fund

For information apply at the Office of the Comptroller.

Student Aid

In addition to the Student Loan Fund and to scholarship help, the College offers students the opportunity to work at standard rates in the library and as clerical assistants to faculty and administrative officers of the College. Appointments are made from a list of eligible students prepared by Vice-President MacIntosh.

Scholarships

SCHOLARSHIPS are awarded on a basis of merit and individual need. While no scholarship is given for more than one year, it is the practice to continue the scholarship if a student's scholastic performance has been satisfactory and his need remains constant.

No scholarship will be given to a student who has a failure against him at the time of application.

No scholarship will be given to a student whose previous college bill has not been paid in full.

All preliminary correspondence and applications for undergraduate scholarships for 1956-1957, together with supporting letters from parents or guardians, should be in the hands of Vice-President MacIntosh before April 15, 1956.

It is assumed that requests for scholarships will not be made by those whose expenses can be met by their parents or from other sources.

CORPORATION AWARDS.—Four Corporation Scholars will be chosen in each class. In the senior, junior and sophomore classes the selection will be made on the basis of the highest general averages for the preceding year. In the freshman class the selection will be made after the May College Board Examinations (see page 24). Each man will be awarded $50.00 in books. No application for these awards is necessary.

Curriculum

General

HAVERFORD is a liberal arts college. Its curriculum is designed to develop in its students the capacity to learn and understand, and to make sound judgments based on knowledge and on thought. The requirements for the degree insure the exercise of these skills in each of the broad fields of human knowledge, and their subtler development in a single field of concentration.

Bachelor's Degree

Every student in full standing at Haverford College shall normally carry a program of five courses per semester for four years. The minimum full schedule of four courses will be approved by the Dean only under unusual circumstances. To graduate, a student must have completed successfully the work of forty semester courses, and in addition three years of Physical Education (part of which may be replaced by work in the Arts and Service Program). The courses may be classified as follows:

Required (English 11-12)	2
Limited Electives (either two or four in Foreign Languages— see below)	14 or 16
Major Concentration (average)	12
Free Electives (average)	10 or 12
Total	40

Students who have received credit for the full number of courses in prescribed and elective studies, provided they have met the other requirements of the College, attained a general average of 70 or above for both the Junior and Senior years, and provided they have passed their Major examinations with a grade of 70 or above, are granted the Degree of Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science. The degree normally conferred upon all candidates meeting these requirements is that of Bachelor of Arts. Upon request by the candidate and approval by the department concerned, however, the Bachelor of Science degree will be granted to men majoring in Natural Science, Mathematics, or Engineering.

The award of Honors for work toward the Bachelor's degree is described on pages 123-124.

Limited Electives

To ensure breadth of distribution, every student is required to pass a certain number of courses, as indicated in each of four groups. This requirement must be satisfied before a student can be admitted to Senior standing. Exceptions may be made by agreement between the Major Supervisor and the Dean. The requirements are as follows:

1. FOREIGN LANGUAGES: One full-year course in a foreign language beyond the elementary grade. For the purpose of this requirement, all first year foreign language courses, with the exception of Greek 11, 12, are considered as of elementary grade.

(N.B. A single full-year language course, if included among those listed under the Humanities requirements below, will satisfy requirements in both Group 1 and Group 2.)

2. HUMANITIES: The requirement may be met by passing four semester courses as follows:

- (a) Two semester courses from the following:
Biblical Literature 12, 13, 23.
Humanities 21-22, 32.

- (c) Astronomy 11, 12; Geology 101a, 101b*; Mathematics 11, 12 (or 14), or 21, 22.

* Geology is offered at Bryn Mawr College. In order for a student to take courses at Bryn Mawr, he must meet the requirements as stated on page 43 of this catalog.

4. SOCIAL SCIENCES: The requirement may be met by passing four semester courses selected from at least two of the following departments:

Free Electives

A number of courses sufficient to bring the total to forty semester courses shall be chosen by the student, with the understanding that for the Freshman and Sophomore years the College reserves the right, through the Faculty Adviser and the Dean, to prevent unreasonable combinations of courses, and that in the Junior and Senior years the student will choose his free electives in consultation with his Major Supervisor.

Non-Academic Electives

Three terms of Physical Education or of courses in the Arts and Service Program are required of each Freshman, Sophomore, and Junior, as described on pages 84 and 102. These courses must be passed in addition to the 40 semester courses of academic work required for a degree.

Major Concentration

A student may elect to major in any one of the following departments: Astronomy, Biblical Literature, Biology, Chemistry, Classical Archaeology (Bryn Mawr College), Economics, Engineering, English, French, Geology (Bryn Mawr College), German, Greek, History, History of Art (Bryn Mawr College), Italian (Bryn Mawr College), Latin, Mathematics, Music, Philosophy, Physics, Political Science, Psychology, Russian, Sociology, Spanish.

Definite requirements are stated under the name of each department on pages 49-102. During the fourth semester of his attendance each student should confer with the Major Supervisor of the department in which he wishes to major, and apply to him for written approval of a program of courses for the last four semesters. Such a program must provide for the completion, by the end of the Senior year, of approximately twelve semester courses, or the equivalent, at least six of which must be in the Major Department and the others in closely related fields. Should the student's application be rejected by the department of his first choice, he must immediately apply in another. Failure to file with the Dean, before the date specified on the College Calendar, a copy of his Major Program signed by his Major Supervisor, will entail a fine of $5. Any student who continues delinquent in this matter will be debarred from the final examinations in his fourth semester. Should the student's application be rejected by all the departments to which he applies, he will not be promoted.

A student who applies for permission to become a Major in any department may be rejected for scholastic reasons only. The College rule on this point is:

If, at the time specified for application, the average of the grades obtained by a student in the "preliminary courses"* of any department is 75 or above, the student will be accepted by that department.

If the average of the grades obtained in these courses is below 70, the student will be accepted in that department only under exceptional circumstances.

If the average of the grades obtained in these courses is 70 or above, but below 75, the decision will be at the discretion of the Major Supervisor.

A student who has been formally accepted as a Major by any department has the right to remain as a Major in that department as long as he is in College. Should he wish to change from one department to another after the beginning of his fifth semester, the change can be made only with the consent of the new Major Supervisor and the Dean.

Each Senior must take a special Major comprehensive examination (written, oral, or both) during the period scheduled for such examinations. The purpose of this examination is to promote the student's comprehension, integration and application of the knowledge acquired in the field of his major concentration, and to secure evidence of this achievement. The passing grade for this examination is 70. In case of failure, a candidate may, with the permission of his Major Supervisor, present himself for re-examination at a date (to be determined by the Major Supervisor) later than Commencement Day of the current year.

If the re-examination is taken one year later, during the regular period of Major examinations, there is no fee. But if the candidate applies for re-examination at an earlier date (involving the preparation of a special examination for one individual), and if the request is granted, the fee is $25.

As special background for the comprehensive examination a senior shall engage in a period of study, technically called course 100, in his department of concentration during the semester preceding that examination. This period of study shall be counted as one of the five courses normally carried by the student during his final semester. Evaluation of the work in course 100 may be included in the grade earned by the student in his comprehensive examination.

* "Preliminary courses" are any courses the student may already have taken in the department to which he is applying. If the applicant has not already taken any courses in that department, the department may name courses in other departments which are to be regarded as "preliminary."

In case of failure in the comprehensive examination a student does not necessarily repeat the term work of course 100, but follows the application procedure for re-examination as indicated on the preceding page. A student may not take more than two re-examinations in the field of his major concentration.

Students taking Majors under the supervision of Bryn Mawr College will note that their course 100 may extend over more than one semester; if this is the case, credit for two courses at Haverford will be granted if the work in each semester of this course is satisfactory.

Examinations in courses in the Major subject taken in the last semester of the Senior year may be omitted at the discretion of the Major Supervisor.

A student who has demonstrated unusual maturity and who has special interests and abilities may be permitted to arrange an interdepartmental major. The program of courses, the nature of the 100 course, and the nature of the comprehensive examination for an interdepartmental major are to be worked out in advance (that is, when the major is selected) by the student, with permission of the Dean, in consultation with and subject to the approval of the chairmen of the departments concerned, one of whom will be designated as Major Supervisor for that student.

In rare cases, and only for high ranking students, a double major may be arranged, in which the student takes the complete major in each of two departments. In order to take a double major, a student must receive permission from the Dean as well as from the chairman of each of the departments concerned.

Freshman Program

Each Freshman, on entering the College, is assigned to a Faculty member as Adviser. Normally, the student keeps the same Adviser until he chooses a Major near the end of the Sophomore year, when the Chairman of the Major Department becomes his Adviser. Assignment of Advisers for incoming students is made by the Dean, on the basis of the best evidence available to him. If a prospective student knows of a Faculty member whom he would like to have as Adviser, he is urged to inform the Dean of the preference before the opening of College. If, after being assigned an Adviser by the Dean, the student finds another Faculty member whom he would prefer to have as Adviser, he is urged to inform the Dean of this preference, so that, if possible, the change can be made.

Although the Faculty Adviser is instructed to advise each Freshman on a plan of study suited to his special needs, the Faculty requires that English be taken throughout the year, and recommends in all usual cases that Freshmen take Social Science and one foreign language. In addition, two courses chosen from Mathematics, the Natural Sciences, History, Biblical Literature, and Philosophy make a reasonable Freshman program.

The courses open to Freshmen are numbered 11 to 20 in the section on Courses of Instruction. If he is qualified, a Freshman may be permitted by the department concerned and by the Dean to take more advanced courses.

A series of standard tests is administered to all entrants within the first few days of the first semester. These tests are helpful in guidance and counseling. One function of the tests is to determine which Freshmen should be recommended to take the voluntary course in Remedial Reading, which is offered each term, for no credit, to students who feel the need of establishing reading habits that will improve their comprehension and increase their speed in reading.

Preparation for Professions

A large number of Haverford College students plan, after graduation, to enter upon further courses of study. As a liberal arts college, Haverford arranges its curriculum so that students who have such plans are able to meet the entrance requirements of graduate and professional schools. The College does not, however, attempt to anticipate in its own curriculum the work of any graduate or professional school. It is the conviction of the Faculty that the best preparation for graduate work is a liberal education, with sound training in basic disciplines, to which more specialized training may later be added.

A student who intends to go to a professional school is free to choose his major in accord with his principal abilities and interests, since professional schools, such as those of business administration, law, medicine, or theology, usually accept students on the basis of merit regardless of their choice of major and, except in the case of medical schools, without specific course requirements. The requirements of most state boards of medical licensure are such that all students who hope to be admitted to a medical school must take Biology 12 and one additional semester course (which must include laboratory work) in biology, Chemistry 13, 14, 25, and 26, and Physics 13-14.

Students who plan to go to professional schools should seek advice as early as possible from appropriate Faculty members as follows: business administration, Mr. Teaf; law, Mr. Somers; medicine, Mr. W. Cadbury; theology, Mr. Flight or Mr. Steere.

If a student plans to do graduate work in a departmental subject, such as engineering, mathematics, history, etc., he should consult as early as possible with the chairman of the department at Haverford which most nearly corresponds to the department in which he plans to work in graduate school. This adviser will be able to guide him in his selection of courses, his choice of Major (which will not necessarily be in the department of his intended graduate study), and other questions which may have bearing on his future.

Law schools, medical schools, and some graduate schools require applicants to take special admission tests. Arrangements for taking these tests are the responsibility of the student concerned; he can obtain information about them from the Faculty members mentioned above.

Regulations

Conflicting Courses

A student is not allowed to elect conflicting courses, except with the permission of the Dean and the two instructors concerned.

Additional Courses

In general, Freshmen will be permitted to take only five courses. Sophomore and upperclassmen may take a sixth course only if they have passed five courses in the preceding semester with an average of not less than 80. Exceptions to this rule may be made at the discretion of the Dean. A fee of $40 per semester is charged for every additional course.

Audited Courses

A student who wishes to audit a course should obtain the permission of the instructor. No charge is made for auditing.

Course Changes

Courses may be changed during the first week of each new semester. During that time students are free to make changes after consultation with their Advisers and the Dean.

Changes will not be permitted later except in cases where the student is known to be an excellent student and where he receives the consent of the professor to whose course he is changing and of his Adviser and of the Dean.

Special Cases

Whenever a student gives proof of special abilities, the College is prepared to lay aside such requirements of the normal program as stand between him and the development of his gifts.

Grading of Students

In determining the standing of the student, class participation, papers, hour examinations, and final examinations are all considered. Reports with grades and averages are issued at the end of each semester. The minimum passing grade is 60 for each course (except course 100, see p. 38). If a student's work in a course is passing, a numerical grade is reported; if less than passing the grade is reported at the discretion of the instructor as E or F. In computing averages, a grade of E is averaged as 55, and a grade of F as 45.

Freshmen are required to obtain a general average for the year of at least 60 for promotion to the Sophomore class; Sophomores are required to obtain a general average for the year of at least 65 for promotion to the Junior class; Juniors, 70 for promotion to the Senior class; and Seniors, 70 for graduation. Students who fail to make promotion averages will normally be dropped from College.

Failures and Dropped Courses

A student who receives a semester grade of E or F must repeat the course if it is required for graduation. If it is not required, he may repeat it or substitute another. The grade received for a repeated course is recorded and averaged in the year it is taken. No course may be repeated more than once; failure to pass a repeated required course will prevent a student from obtaining his degree.

In courses where the work of the second semester depends heavily on that of the first, a student who has failed the first semester, and has been permitted to continue in the second semester, will be given credit for the first semester if he obtains a grade of 70 or better for the second semester. A list of such courses is kept by the Registrar.

In exceptional circumstances, such as illness, a student who receives a semester grade of E or F and who petitions the Dean, may be permitted by the Dean to take a special examination. A request for such an examination must be submitted to the Dean not later than two weeks after the grades have been released by the Registrar's office. If the request is granted, and the student takes a special examination, the grade in that examination will replace the grade originally earned in the mid-year or final examination in computing the final grade for that course; the new course grade will be entered on the student's transcript and the semester average will be revised accordingly.

When a student drops a course, it will be recorded as "dropped" and averaged as 45, or in unusual cases, with the permission of the instructor in the course and the Dean, it may be recorded as "dropped without grade" and not included when the average is computed.

A course once reported to the College Office shall not be removed from the student's record. In the case of failure this shall apply, even though the credit deficiency has been made up by taking an extra course in a subsequent semester, or summer school, or by applying a credit previously obtained.

Any student whose record is such as to justify the belief that he is not availing himself of the opportunities offered by Haverford College may be dropped.

A student is usually dropped if he fails in several courses simultaneously or is three half-courses behind at the opening of College in September. The Committee on Academic Standing is allowed some latitude in dealing with students who are deficient in course credits, provided they have worked conscientiously to make up their deficiencies.

It is important that deficiencies be made up as promptly as possible, either by taking an extra course or by doing work in a summer school or both. But there are two regulations governing such make-up courses: (1) A student normally may take an extra (sixth) course at Haverford only when his general average for the preceding semester has been 80 or more. (2) Credit for one or more courses passed in a summer school is allowed by Haverford College only if all arrangements for such work have been submitted in advance to the Dean of the College and approved by him.

A special result of the foregoing regulations is that a student who is behind in course credits at the beginning of his Senior year will usually be unable to graduate with his class.

Intercollegiate Cooperation

Because of the cooperative relationship between Bryn Mawr College, Haverford College, Swarthmore College, and the University of Pennsylvania, full-time students of any of these four institutions may, upon presentation of the proper credentials, enroll for courses in another institution of the group without additional expense.

Students desiring to take advantage of this arrangement must obtain the permission of the Dean. This permission will not be granted to a student whose general average for the preceding semester has been less than 80. Exceptions may be made in case the course at the other institution is necessary for the student's Major. It is the student's responsibility to register in the selected course on registration day at the institution where the course is to be given. The course should also be entered on his registration card at Haverford.

Permission for graduate students at Haverford to take courses at other institutions should be obtained from the Committee on Graduate Program. Ordinarily, the holder of a graduate fellowship will not be permitted to take more than one course in another institution for credit on his Haverford record.

Visitors and Lectures

In recent years, the College has arranged for individual departments of the Faculty to invite visitors to Haverford for varying periods of time to meet with members of the department and with students interested in that field. These departmental visitors, who sometimes give public lectures, have contributed considerably to the vitality of the work in the various departments.

This program has been greatly strengthened as a result of a generous bequest from the late William P. Philips. A substantial sum from this bequest is used to bring to Haverford "distinguished scientists and statesmen," whose visits may last anywhere from a few hours to a full academic year. On page 13 of this catalog is a list of the visitors brought to the campus under this bequest during the academic year 1954-55.

The Haverford Library Lectures and the Shipley Lectures, both endowed lectureships, provide annual speakers. The endowment for the former, a gift from the estate of Mary Farnum Brown, is available "for an annual course or series of lectures before the Senior Class of the College, and other students, on the Bible, its history and literature, and as a way may open for it, upon its doctrine and its teaching." The fund for the latter was presented by Samuel R. Shipley, in memory of his father, Thomas Shipley. The income from the Shipley fund is used "for lectures on English literature." At the weekly Collection meetings of the whole College prominent visitors talk to the student body on subjects of current interest.

Graduate Study

Admission to Candidacy for Master's Degree

GRADUATES OF INSTITUTIONS of standing equivalent to that of Haverford College, who present satisfactory evidence of character, seriousness of purpose, and scholarly attainments, may be admitted as candidates for the degree of Master of Arts or Master of Science. The number of graduate students to be admitted each year will be determined by the Administration, in view of the situation obtaining in the College and in individual departments in that year. A candidate for the graduate degree must show competence in one language besides English. Each applicant will be advised, on request, of the language requirements to be met in the particular department in which he wishes to carry out his specialized study.

Applications, together with transcripts, should reach the Director of Admissions not later than May 1.

Charges.—For charges and fees see pp. 27-28.

Requirements

A candidate is required to pass four full-year advanced courses or their equivalent,* each with a grade of not less than 80, and to do satisfactory additional intensive work, which may take the form of a thesis or other research, equivalent to a full course. At least two of the courses and the additional intensive work must be in the special field chosen by the candidate, and the remaining courses in allied subjects. In addition, the candidate may be required, at the discretion of the professor in charge, to pass a comprehensive examination upon the field of his special study. The scope of the examination will be determined by the professor in charge, and will be communicated to the candidate when he is admitted as a graduate student. The entire plan of study must be drawn up by the candidate in consultation with the professor under whom he proposes to do the major part of his work. This plan must be submitted for approval before October 1 to the Chairman of the Committee on Graduate Program. After approval by this Committee, the program must be filed with the Registrar. In cases where a thesis is required, the candidate must deposit two copies of his thesis in the College Library at least two weeks before Commencement.

A minimum of one year's residence is required, and a candidate, if well prepared, should be able to complete his work for the degree in this time. If his preparation is inadequate, a longer period of residence may be necessary, but the required work must be completed in not more than two academic years. Courses taken before the registration of the candidate as a graduate student at Haverford College will not usually be counted toward the degree.

Candidates who engage in any occupation or employment other than graduate study will not generally be able to satisfy the requirements for the degree in one year.

For a description of the special Graduate Curriculum in Social and Technical Assistance, see pp. 105-108.

COURSES OF INSTRUCTION

Course Numbering

THE NUMBERING SYSTEM used in this catalog involves a two-digit number for each semester course. Courses numbered from 11 through 20, primarily Freshmen courses, are open to all students; courses numbered from 21 through 30 are open to Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors; courses numbered from 31 through 60 are open to Juniors and Seniors; courses numbered from 61 through 80 are open only to Seniors; courses numbered from 81 through 89 are project courses open to Seniors and often also to Juniors; courses numbered from 91 to 99 are open only to graduate students; in each department the course in preparation for the comprehensive examination is numbered 100.

When two course numbers, followed by a single description, are joined by a hyphen, the course is a year course; a student who passes the first semester of such a course must normally take the second semester. When two course numbers followed by a single description are separated by a comma, the first semester may be taken without the second, though the two are normally taken together as a year course.

Unless otherwise stated, courses with uneven numbers are given in the first semester; those with even numbers in the second.

Biblical Literature

THE COURSES in this Department are intended to give opportunity for study of our literary, moral, and religious heritage from the cultures which flourished in the Eastern Mediterranean lands where the roots of our civilization lie.

Those courses which are specifically Biblical in content are directed toward appreciation and understanding of Old and New Testaments and Apocrypha, their history, meaning, and interpretation. These courses cover broadly the historical backgrounds, literary qualities, and enduring religious values in these works of creative genius. Course 11, a survey of the whole Bible, is recommended as properly introductory to this field. Courses 12, 13, and 22, somewhat more advanced, place emphasis respectively upon the growth of religious ideas, the beginnings of the Christian movement, the literary history and art of the Bible, and its influence upon English and other literatures. Conference courses offer opportunity for intensive work by individual students on problems of archaeological, historical, or religious interest. Course 30 affords study of the broad background of the great early culture-centers of the Near East, where the first significant steps toward civilization were taken, many of whose achievements have come down in unbroken line into our western civilization. Finally, a course in comparative religion (Biblical Literature 23) is designed to acquaint the student with the nature and significance of religion in various cultures of our modern world.

Major Requirements

Six half-year courses in Biblical Literature, and Biblical Literature 100.

Six other half-year courses in either Biblical Literature or related departments, such as English, History, Philosophy, Psychology, Sociology.

Biology

THE COURSES in Biology are planned to meet the needs of the general student, as well as those of the specialist. Since man is himself a living organism, knowledge of the generalizations derived from studies of living organisms is reasonably to be considered part of the equipment of every educated man.

The careers opening from a background of undergraduate biology courses are: (a) medicine, dentistry, and veterinary medicine, all of which require some undergraduate biology—a field of endeavor which may be termed biological correction; (b) positions in wild life and fish and game services, forestry, agriculture, animal husbandry—a field which may be termed biological control; (c) positions in museums and other research and curatorial capacities which may be termed biological investigation; (d) teaching.

Four basic courses are offered, Biology 11, 12, 13, 14. All four are required of all Majors in Biology. No one of them is a prerequisite to any other, and they may be elected in any order. One of them (Biol. 11) has a Chemistry prerequisite, the others have none. One of them (Biol. 13) does not have laboratory work, but requires reading assignments and papers. The other three have laboratory work. Any two of these courses will serve to comply with the requirement in Limited Electives. Premedical students are advised to take courses 11 and 12.

Major Requirements

The minimum Major requirements consist of Biology 11, 12, 13, 14 and 31-32 plus three other semester-courses in Biology. Any work in Biology 81, 82 is to be in addition to the minimum.

Four semesters of work in at least two other fields of science, in courses to be approved by the Department after consultation.

Reading and reporting on some fifteen approved books, to be done at any time between the end of the Sophomore year and the comprehensive examination at the end of the Senior year.

Comprehensive examination, partly written and partly oral, near the end of the Senior year. The grade on this and the reported reading will be entered under the heading of Biology 100.

11. THE PHYSICAL BASIS OF LIFE—Four hours. Three class periods and one laboratory period a week. Mr. Loewy.

An introductory course in the area of biology conventionally denoted as Physiology, Biochemistry, and Biophysics.

The course will attempt to give insight into the methods and subject matter of the physical-chemical approach to the study of living systems. Major emphasis will be laid on cells rather than on correlative mechanisms between cells, and those aspects will be stressed which are common to all cells.

Prerequisite: An elementary course in Chemistry.

Semester course. Offered annually.

12. ANIMAL KINGDOM—Four hours. Three class periods and one laboratory period a week. Mr. Conner.

The objective is a knowledge of the nature and the diversity of the animal kingdom. Semester course.

Offered annually.

13. ORGANISMS IN THE WORLD. Three periods a week. Mr. Dunn.
An introductory course in the areas of biology conventionally denoted as Ecology, Genetics, and Evolution.
The course will attempt to give insight into the problems of the maintenance of the individual organism in relation to the various environments and in relation to the other organisms occurring therein (Ecology); into the problems of self-perpetuation of kinds of organisms by reproduction (Genetics); into the problems of descent with modification and entrance into changed relations with environments and with organisms (Evolution). Semester course.
Offered annually.
14. PLANT KINGDOM. Three hours. Two class periods and one laboratory a week.
Mr. Loewy.
The objective is a knowledge of the nature and the diversity of the plant kingdom. Semester course.
Offered annually.
- 21-22. VERTEBRATE MORPHOLOGY. (Anatomy and Embryology)—One class period and two laboratory periods a week. Mr. Dunn.
The laboratory work of this course includes the dissection of the principal types of vertebrates. The lectures deal with the development, status, and history of the organ systems of vertebrates. Prerequisite: Biology 12. Year course.
Offered annually.

Chemistry

THE COURSES in chemistry, when taken in proper sequence, afford a developing knowledge of chemistry as a rational science. Fundamental principles are stressed but sufficient experimental and other factual material is introduced to render these principles clear and to illustrate their applicability. Emphasis is placed upon precision of observation, measurement, and statement, and upon the application of the inductive-deductive method of scientific development, with the aim of making the study of chemistry of general educational value.

A Major in chemistry who intends to undertake graduate study in Chemistry should include in his program courses 24, 31, 32, 63, 64 and 65, together with German 13-14, Mathematics 21, 22, and Physics 13-14. This is in accord with the level of accomplishment recommended by the American Chemical Society. Course 81 or 82, giving some insight into the aims and methods of original research, is also desirable. For the courses in chemistry needed for premedical preparation, see page 40.

Students whose scholastic record prior to entrance indicates a satisfactory proficiency in elementary chemistry may enter the more advanced course, Chemistry 13, directly from high school. Others desiring work in chemistry will take Chemistry 12 in preparation for Chemistry 13.

Economics

THE WORK in Economics is intended primarily to develop in students an understanding of the working of modern economic society, to give practice in the interpretation of economic data, to arouse an informed interest in public affairs, and to lay the basis for the formation of intelligent judgments in the field of economic policy. The introductory courses are designed to give the basic understanding of economic processes and of economic organization that should be part of a liberal education. The advanced courses also are offered as part of a program of liberal education, but are designed to meet, at the same time, the needs of men going on to graduate work in economics or business administration or directly into business. Several of the advanced courses should be of special value to men planning to enter the foreign service, other government work, journalism, or law. In the advanced courses emphasis is placed on the use of source materials and on research methods in economics, and students gain experience in the preparation of analyses and reports.

In Economics 71, 72 and 74 there is wide latitude with respect both to subject matter and to course method. The specific subjects in each will vary from year to year, depending on the interests and capacities of the students.

Men expecting to major in Economics are advised to take Social Science 11-12 in the Freshman year. It will also be helpful to take Mathematics 11 and 14.

Major Requirements

Economics 21, 22, 31, 37, 52, 100; one of the three courses: 71, 72, 74; and two other semester courses in Economics. Mathematics 14 (Introduction to Statistics) may be considered as one such semester course. Economics 100 consists of a reintegration of the study of economics with related social sciences, through selected readings on the development of economic thought and on current problems, with informal discussion of the issues raised.

English

THE ENGLISH DEPARTMENT offers the opportunity to study significant formulations of the human spirit in the English language and to give oral and written expression with respect to these works of literature. It furthermore provides opportunity for and instruction in written communication of ideas and information, and the creation of fiction.

Many students who choose to major in English intend to pursue some aspect of the subject professionally: to proceed to graduate school, to teach literature, or to undertake a literary career. The program of the Department provides preliminary education for all these purposes. The study of English literature is recommended likewise to those students who wish to acquire a knowledge of their literary heritage, or to gain an acquaintance with the use of the English language, before entering a non-literary profession, such as law, government service, the ministry, medicine, or business. The Department welcomes such students.

English 11-12 is required of all Freshmen in the college; this course, or its equivalent, is a prerequisite to all further work in the Department. English 11-12 provides tutorial instruction in writing and an introduction to the study of literature.

Intermediate courses, numbered in the 20's, 30's and 40's, are open to all students in the college who have met the prerequisites. The Department offers courses in periods of literature, in a single author, and in selected works. These intermediate courses are graded in difficulty from the 20's through the 40's. A sequence of courses is arranged for English majors, with concentration on the literature of the Sixteenth and the Nineteenth centuries.

Courses numbered in the 60's and 80's are presented primarily for Senior English majors.

The attention of slow readers is called to the remedial work in reading.

Major Requirements

Twelve semester courses, to be arranged in consultation with the Chairman of the Department.

The following courses are required for the Regular Major in English: 23, 31, 32, 34, 40, two 60 courses (or one 60 course and one 80 course), 100.

Students who wish to choose a Broad Major may substitute Humanities 21-22, or English 41-42, for English 34 and 40.

The remaining four semester courses are to be chosen either from the Department of English or closely related fields, upon consultation with and permission of the Chairman of the Department. The student is given the opportunity to fit this portion of his major program to his individual needs, subject to the discretion of the Department.

The attention of students who intend to undertake work for the Ph.D. in English is called to the requirement, set by many graduate schools, of proficiency in Latin, French and German.

A student who wishes to work for Honors in English should apply to the Chairman of the Department during the first semester of his Junior year.

A student who is interested in an interdepartmental major in History and Literature should see the description of that major on Page 73.

German

THE MAIN OBJECTIVE of German study is the acquisition of the language as a means of access to the civilization and the literature of which it is the medium. The courses are planned and conducted with the aim of enabling the individual student to fulfill most effectively his prospective needs. Hence provision is made for acquiring a practical speaking knowledge of the language as well as the ability to read it for undergraduate and postgraduate research, for which in many fields it is indispensable, and for an appreciation of German literature.

German 11-12, 13-14, and 23 are primarily language courses. German 15-16 stresses literature, but combines this with practice in the language. The remaining courses are devoted largely to the history of German literature from the earliest times to the present, and to the intensive study of special periods and eminent authors.

The collateral reading required in German 13-14 generally consists of works of literature but it may be done in the fields of philosophy or history or, at the discretion of the instructor, in the natural sciences.

Opportunity is given to students who complete German 11-12 or German 13-14 with distinction to advance rapidly into higher courses by passing a special examination on a prescribed program of collateral reading.

It is possible and in some cases highly desirable for a Major in German or a student otherwise interested in advanced work to take his Junior year abroad in a supervised Junior year program. Attention also is called to the opportunities offered by university summer schools in Germany, Austria and Switzerland, and to international seminars and work camps sponsored by the American Friends Service Committee and other organizations in these countries.

Greek

THE WORK in Greek can be modified to suit the needs of individual students. The elementary course provides some insight into the culture of the ancient Greeks, and into linguistic problems generally, besides leading to a knowledge of Greek adequate for the reading of the Gospels and of easy classical authors. More advanced courses are intended for students with an interest in history, philosophy, or literature; the authors read are studied for their value in these fields. Students are encouraged, to the extent of their capacity, to develop an imaginative understanding of art, philosophy, and science as forces in human life. The special contribution of the Greeks in these fields will be assessed and its significance in European history and in current education will be noted. A knowledge of Greek is a great asset in many fields of graduate study.

Major Requirements

Greek 31, 32, and four half-year courses selected in consultation with the Major Supervisor; Greek 100.

Three additional courses to be arranged in conference with the Major Supervisor. If Greek 21, 22 is not taken in college, an additional half-course will be required. A comprehensive examination on Greek language and literature, Greek history, and Greek civilization.

History

THE COURSES IN HISTORY are designed to give some conception of the development of the civilizations which exist in Europe and in the United States today. Since history is the story of what men have done, it is related to every other field in the curriculum, but the limitation of time forces a selection of those aspects of human activity which can be treated in any course. An attempt is made to give a reasonably rounded view of those developments which are deemed most important in the period under consideration as a background for understanding other subjects in the fields of the humanities and the social sciences. With a variation of emphasis in each course, caused in part by the nature of the growth of civilization in the period and in part by the amount and the kind of historical evidence which has survived, attention is given to such phases of development as the political, constitutional, social, economic, religious, and intellectual. History 11-12 is intended to be an introductory course, and, although it is not a prerequisite for the election of any other course in the Department, it is required for those who major in History.

The study of history provides a background against which current problems of internal and external policies may be viewed to advantage. It also helps to develop critical standards for the evaluation of evidence which can often be applied in forming opinion with regard to the solution of such problems. Finally, it is useful as a foundation for professional studies not only in history but also in such subjects as public administration, journalism, and law.

Major Requirements

HISTORY

History 11-12 and four other full year courses (or three full year courses and two half year courses) in History; History 100.

Two full year courses or their equivalent in related departments.

Written examinations of three hours each in four fields.

HISTORY AND LITERATURE

The major in History and Literature allows qualified students to obtain a knowledge of the relation between History and Literature in two distinct periods or centuries.

A student should take six semester courses in English and American Literature, and six in English and American History above the elementary level. Of these courses, one in each department (History and English) should be a seminar or project course.

Students may enter this major program only by consent of the departmental chairmen and the Dean. History 11-12 is a prerequisite for this major.

21-22. INTRODUCTION TO THE HISTORY OF ART—Three periods a week. Mr. Engass.

It is conceived as a history of human values in terms of the visual forms in which they have been cast. The course parallels Humanities 21-22. In order to bring out the human significance of art, religious and philosophical ideas are discussed as they influenced the form and subject matter of art.

An introductory section deals with aesthetic principles and their application in the fields of painting, sculpture, and architecture. The purpose of the course is threefold: to widen the student's comprehension of past attitudes and beliefs so that he will be better able to understand his own; to enlarge his range of aesthetic appreciation; and to give him the technical knowledge required for further studies in the history of art. Not open to Freshmen. Year course.

Offered annually.

Latin

THE LATIN DEPARTMENT offers instruction in the language, literature and civilization of the Roman people. Knowledge of the Latin language is fundamental to an understanding and proper use of the English and Romance languages; familiarity with the Latin classics is an indispensable background for the Western European literary tradition; and the history and civilization of Rome provide an explanation of, and parallels to, many pressing contemporary political, economic, social, and religious problems.

Principal emphasis is laid upon meeting the Roman legacy through the medium of the Latin language; but for those whose knowledge of Latin is too limited for this purpose, Latin 29-30 offers an opportunity to do so from the historical approach.

Major Requirements

Four full-year courses (except Latin 11-12), some of which may be taken at Bryn Mawr College; Latin 100. The Latin Department reserves the right to exclude Latin 13-14, in individual cases, from consideration as fulfilling a part of the Major requirements.

Mathematics

THE AIMS of courses in Mathematics are: (1) to promote rigorous thinking by exhibiting a systematic, deductive, intellectual discipline; (2) to explain the role which Mathematics has played in the development of the culture of our age; (3) to foster technical competence in Mathematics as an aid to the better comprehension of the physical, biological, and social sciences.

Freshman Mathematics emphasizes mathematical ideas rather than techniques of computation. It is designed as a terminal course for the non-specialist who plans to take only one year of Mathematics as well as the beginning course prerequisite to further work in the Department.

The more advanced courses cover work in the fields of analysis, algebra, geometry, and statistics. The student majoring in the Department extends his studies into all of these areas; he may prepare for teaching in preparatory school, for graduate study leading to college teaching or industrial research, or for statistical and actuarial work.

The sequence in analysis and algebra, Mathematics 21, 22, 31, 32, 33, 34, 63, is especially suited to the needs of the physical sciences, while Mathematics 14 and 38 deal with those concepts of statistics and probability which are fundamental to the biological and social sciences.

Music

THE COURSES offered in Music have as their objective (1) the stimulation of the creative energies of the student through musical composition, and (2) the development of an understanding of music through the study of history and important writings on musical subjects, as well as through the analysis of musical compositions from all periods. In furthering and strengthening the discipline of music the College has no intention of training musicians by conservatory methods. The intention is rather to form enlightened workers in the field of music. Experience has shown that students in the fields of composition and musicology can be effectively aided by the joint offerings of Haverford, Bryn Mawr, and the University of Pennsylvania. At Haverford the program seeks to stimulate free composition in the vocal and instrumental forms with a view to public performance by professionals of successfully completed works.

The College does not grant academic credit for training in voice, or the playing of instruments.

Major Requirements

Three full year courses in music and six semester courses or their equivalent from such related fields of the Humanities, History of Art, Languages and Science as may be approved by the Department.

The Major comprehensive examination will consist of:

1. An examination in the history of music.
2. The presentation by the candidate of a musical composition in one of the larger instrumental forms, or a vocal work. In cases where the candidate has not been sufficiently trained in musical composition, the examination may be confined to music history. In such cases the candidate's work is expected to be at a high musicological level.
3. A small composition to be completed during the examination period.

11-12. ELEMENTARY MUSIC THEORY—Three periods a week. Mr. Reese.

This course deals with the general foundations of the musical language—scales, intervals, rhythm, formation of melodic patterns and their notation—and includes elementary chord formation (introduction to harmony). Ear training is an important adjunct throughout the course.

21-22. ADVANCED HARMONY AND COUNTERPOINT—Two class periods and one laboratory period a week. Mr. Swan.

No sharp line is drawn between harmony and counterpoint. Students will be free to select the method of harmonization, provided they can show a knowledge of both vertical and horizontal construction. Starting with exercises in two- and three-part writing the student will proceed to the composition of short pieces, scoring them for strings or voices. (A piano exposition is also permissible.) The work is done individually, the class periods being used for the discussion of common problems. Prerequisite: Music 11-12, or its equivalent.

31-32. SEMINAR IN ADVANCED MUSICAL COMPOSITION AND HISTORY—One three-hour period a week. Mr. Swan.

The seminar is intended for the demonstration of the work in composition of the advanced students and music majors. A detailed historical survey is made of the larger forms of composition, with especial emphasis on the history of the sonata. Each student is expected to choose one or two periods in music history in which he will do concentrated work.

Philosophy

THE COURSES in Philosophy are intended first of all to acquaint students with the major currents of interpretation and reflection upon the recurring problems, such as the nature of man, the nature of the universe, the nature of the processes by which man apprehends and responds to that universe. Since these problems underlie the work of literature and furnish it with many of its most basic themes; since they underlie the presuppositions of political, sociological, and economic thought; since they reappear in the frame in which every thoughtful scientist works and affect not only the use to which his results will be put, but his very method, just as his methods have influenced in turn the formulation of the problems, the study of philosophy is an important tool in connection with work in any of these fields.

In the second place the courses in philosophy are designed to assist in integrating material presented in literature, history, the social and physical sciences, in art, and in religion in order to assist the student in drawing together what he has learned, and in approaching a more responsible, intentional, and intelligent world view with which to confront life.

The courses are so planned as to require such orientation as would be secured in either Philosophy 11 (which examines in an elementary way the great problems man confronts) or Philosophy 21-22 (which deals with these same problems as it presents the great classical philosophical thinkers chronologically) before proceeding to the more specialized philosophical disciplines such as ethics, aesthetics, logic, political philosophy, philosophy of science, philosophy of religion, and to more specialized studies of certain philosophical thinkers.

Major Requirements

Philosophy 12, 21-22, 63-64 and two other half year courses in Philosophy. Philosophy 100.

Four half-year courses in related fields to be arranged in conference with the Major Supervisor.

Physical Education

COURSES in Physical Education are arranged in accordance with the plan for all-year physical training in the Freshman, Sophomore, and Junior years. The aim of this plan is to make possible active participation in athletics for the majority of students at Haverford College, with emphasis on the sports with carry-over value. Each student is required to take, during his first three years, nine terms (fall, winter, spring) of Physical Education or of certain courses in the Arts and Service Program (see p. 103), with a minimum of six terms in Physical Education; three in the Freshman year, two in the Sophomore year, and one in the Junior year.

A thorough medical and physical examination is given to each student upon entrance. Only those students whose physical condition is satisfactory will be permitted to take part in athletics. A tuberculin test is given to all Freshmen, followed by an x-ray if necessary, as part of this required examination. A swimming test is given to all entering students following the physical examination. This test must be passed by all students before graduation. Swimming instruction is given in the gymnasium pool during the early fall and late spring.

The outdoor facilities include: Walton Field for football and track, with a 440-yard oval and a 220-yard eight lane straight-away cinder track; the Class of 1888 and Merion fields for soccer, both of which are used for baseball and softball in the spring; a skating pond; Cope Field for cricket; an athletic field presented by the Class of 1916; a baseball field presented by the Class of 1922, used also for soccer in the fall; and thirteen tennis courts, three of which are all-weather. There are four dinghies available during the spring and fall for those (with certain exceptions) who wish to sail.

The indoor facilities are all included in the Gymnasium. The basement contains dressing rooms, showers, a swimming pool, a wrestling room, and a training room. Through the generosity of the Class of 1928, it has been possible to provide additional locker and dressing facilities, a new storage room for athletic equipment, and a laundry and drying room. A regulation basketball court is on the main floor and is used for Varsity and Junior Varsity basketball, the interclass and intramural program, and for instruction in Physical Education. Adjoining this floor are dressing facilities for instructors, coaches and officials, and rooms for the administration of medical and physical examinations.

Physics

COURSES in Physics are intended to acquaint students with fields of knowledge important to our civilization, to train them in analytical thinking, to give them an appreciation of scientific methods, and to help them gain first-hand experience and insight into the methods of experimental investigation.

Students of chemistry, engineering, mathematics, medicine, physics or other sciences will find the foundation offered by General Physics (Physics 13-14) indispensable. Physics 13-14 is ordinarily taken in the Sophomore year after Mathematics 11-12 or Physical Science 11 and 12, but Freshmen with adequate preparation may be admitted after consultation.

For the student with professional aims in science, the Department offers courses leading to a Major in Physics which should equip a man to enter graduate school or industry on a favorable footing. Sound knowledge of mathematics is essential. Ability to understand and use the calculus is assumed in most of the advanced courses. The Department desires to cultivate in its Major students independence of thought and initiative at progressive levels of maturity; to that end, a sequence of courses following Physics 13-14 has been arranged, culminating in Physics 81, 82. The latter offers opportunity to conduct an extended individual investigation with training in the mastery of theory and experiment, and with emphasis upon independence and the ability to express oneself clearly both orally and in writing on the subject of investigation. Physics 81, 82 is not, however, limited to students majoring in Physics; it may be elected by others after consultation.

Physics 21 and 22 are open to qualified students who seek a broad understanding of modern concepts of matter and radiation. Physics 24, 32, 33-34 and 61, 62 are recommended to students of chemistry, mathematics, and engineering who plan to do graduate work.

Major Requirements

Physics 13-14, 33-34, 81, 82, 100, and two semesters selected from 61, 62, 63 or 64, constitute the minimum requirement of courses in this Department. In addition, further choice from Physics 21, 22, 24 and 31 is recommended.

Mathematics through differential equations.

History of physics (collateral reading) in course 100.

A written comprehensive examination in two parts: (a) on general physics and history treated comprehensively; (b) on an extended, open-book problem designed to test each individual's ability to correlate his knowledge. The granting of Honors in Physics is based upon excellence (an average of 85 or better) in course work, particularly in Physics 81, 82, and evidence of accomplishment beyond the usual course requirements.

Students who desire to combine a Major in Physics with advanced work in some other related department may do so by special arrangement between the two departments concerned. In such cases, a program is mapped out with some modification of the requirements normally expected of a Major in a single department.

Political Science

THE POLITICAL SCIENCE CURRICULUM is designed to give students an understanding of political organization and political forces in modern society, to provide knowledge and a basis for insight and judgment on the problems involved in the relationship of the individual to government and of governments to one another. The broad areas of study include: analysis of political theory in relation to its institutional environment; comparison and appraisal of different types of governments and political organization; American political institutions; and problems of international relations.

The tools of analysis include theory and experience. The purposes and the actual workings of political institutions are appraised. In advanced courses, emphasis is placed upon individual research and analysis—practice in location, organization, and presentation of data, and independent judgment.

The courses are designed primarily for a liberal arts education and are intended to create intelligent and lasting interest and participation in the formulation of public policy. The training will also serve the practical needs of those men contemplating professional careers which involve an understanding of modern government, such as law, journalism, and the public service.

Men majoring in political science are expected to understand the relationship of this field to other social studies and also the purposes and methods of the social sciences as a whole. They are thus expected to take supporting courses in economics, history, and sociology.

Major Requirements

Political Science 21, 22, 100 and six other courses in Political Science distributed among the areas of study indicated above.

READING COUNSELING. Mr. F. D. Comfort.

This program offers an opportunity for students to improve their reading proficiency. Few students, if any, have realized their real potentiality in this field. Through a series of conferences, methods of developing higher level reading skills are explored. Any student who is willing to concentrate upon it, while reading for his various subjects, will find that he can increase his speed and comprehension. Also, by giving thought to the different purposes of reading, and practicing methods appropriate to each purpose, he may increase his adaptability, making each type of reading more effective. No credit.

Romance Languages

ADMISSION of new students to all French and Spanish courses except French 11-12 and Spanish 11-12 is contingent upon placement examinations administered by the Department prior to the opening of such courses.

Opportunity is given to students who complete French 11-12, Spanish 11-12 or Spanish 13-14 with distinction to advance rapidly into higher courses by passing a special examination in September on a prescribed program of vacation study.

Residence in the French and Spanish Houses and participation in the Cercle français and Club español afford an opportunity for supplementary oral practice.

Students who might profitably spend their Junior year in France or Spain are encouraged by the Department to apply for admission to the institutions sponsoring foreign study groups.

Students majoring in Romance Languages are encouraged to spend a summer in France or Mexico. Foreign summer schools and projects sponsored by the American Friends Service Committee and other organizations offer exceptional opportunities in this regard.

FRENCH

The program of French courses offers students an opportunity:

- 1) to learn to read, understand, speak and write French. In French 11-12 emphasis is placed on the ability to read and pronounce French. In French 13-14 a special effort is made to teach students to understand spoken French. French 21 and 22 are planned for the benefit of students primarily interested in learning to speak and write French;
- 2) to achieve an understanding of the basic attitudes implicit in a foreign culture which has exerted a profound influence in the shaping of western civilization;
- 3) to read with an increasing awareness of philosophical, moral, aesthetic and social implications the most significant French literary works.

Major Requirements

French 23-24, 25-26, 81 or 82, and 100.

SPANISH

The courses offered in Spanish are designed to give the students a thorough knowledge of the Spanish language and an understanding of Spanish and Spanish-American thought and culture. Elementary Spanish and Intermediate Spanish are primarily language courses, with emphasis on grammar, reading, and conversation. Even in these elementary courses the approach corresponds to the liberal tradition of the College, placing emphasis on the human value of the language, and its importance in international and continental solidarity and understanding. Arts and Service Program

THE FACULTY OF HAVERFORD COLLEGE adopted in the spring of 1947 a program which involves a new departure in American education. This program is designed to cultivate aesthetic perception, creative control of materials, a love of fine workmanship, and other important areas of learning and of experience, such as community service, which have often been neglected in the liberal arts program. The Faculty feels that, though courses (called "units") in these areas cannot properly be included in the academic curriculum, they are of no less importance in the development of personality than strictly intellectual work.

Every student is required to take nine terms of work which is not academic in nature. It is mandatory that six of these terms be taken in Physical Education: three in the Freshman year, two in Sophomore year, and one in the Junior year. The remaining three terms may be devoted either to offerings of the Department of Physical Education or to units of the Arts and Service Program described here. The first election of such units in the Arts and Service Program may be made in the fall or winter term of the Sophomore year.

In its non-academic work, the College insists on the same high quality of teaching which it demands in its academic courses. A distinction in the two types of work is needed not because one is thought to be less important than the other, but because in the opinion of the Faculty the two kinds of work are different and should not be equated.

CABINETMAKING—Three hours a week. Mr. Holmes.

Instruction will be offered during the winter term in woodworking with hand tools on selected tasks. Qualified students may work on projects of their own choice insofar as facilities permit. Cost of materials will be borne by the student. Limited to five students with consent of instructor.

Not offered in 1955-56.

COMMUNITY SERVICE—Three hours a week. Mr. Hetzel.

Non-academic credit will be given to students who serve as group leaders in the activities of community services. Activities include athletics, scouting, clubs, music, dramatics, hobbies, and other youth-leadership work. Competent social workers will supervise the work, and guidance will be given by sociologists to make the experience meaningful.

Offered in the fall and winter terms.

MACHINE-TOOL WORK—Three hours a week. Mr. N. Wilson.

The unit for beginners will be conducted in the winter term and will include machine tool work on the lathe, milling machine, shaper, and drill-press. Those who have sufficient skill will be permitted to use the scheduled period for approved projects of their own choice. Limited to five students.

MODELING AND SCULPTURE—Three hours a week. Mr. J. W. Kelly.

This course for beginners or advanced students will be offered in the fall and winter terms. It includes composition, portrait, life, and some study of modern trends in sculpture. As artists have for long been taught to read, so this course aims to teach academic students to see.

MUSIC APPRECIATION—(1)—Three hours a week. Mr. Reese.

An elementary course designed to develop a technique of listening to music. The basic aspects of music—melody, rhythm, harmony, texture, color, form—are studied. Emphasis is placed on the analysis of examples given and of music heard in available concerts. Offered in the winter term.

MUSIC APPRECIATION—(2)—Three hours a week. Mr. Caselli.

Operas by Bellini, Donizetti, Rossini, Verdi, Boito, Puccini, will be presented in record form and analyzed, placing them in proper correlation with other works in the field of Italian opera.

Offered in the fall term. No prerequisites.

PAINTING AND DRAWING—Three hours a week. Mr. Janschka.

The purpose of instruction in this course is to help students in acquiring perception and skill in artistic creation and rendition through the media of painting, drawing and modeling. The work may be from life and nature, from imagination, or the copying of art works. Prior experience is not required. Offered in the fall and winter terms. Limited to twenty-five students each term.

PHOTOGRAPHY—Three hours a week. Mr. N. Wilson.

This unit is for beginners and will include instruction in the use and characteristics of photographic equipment, the processing of films and papers, and the composition of subject material both indoors and outdoors. Limited to six students.

Offered in the fall term.

PUBLIC SPEAKING—Three hours a week.

This unit is based on the assumption that members, having taken required Public Speaking (English 11-12), have already had elementary training whereby they have been freed from stagefright and platform awkwardness. The course will be organized to meet the special needs of those who elect it. Important for prospective clergymen, lawyers and teachers. Admission with the consent of the instructor.

Offered in the fall term.

RADIO COMMUNICATION—Three hours a week. Mr. Benham.

This unit consists of projects in radio, such as instruction in the International Morse Code, a study of basic principles, or a construction project (the cost of materials to be borne by the student). It may serve as preparation for the amateur license examination given by the Federal Communications Commission. Admission with the consent of the instructor. Offered in the winter term.

THEATER ARTS—Three hours a week. Mr. Butman.

This unit is designed to help the individual establish a working understanding between his creative instinct and his ultimate expression within the framework of the spoken drama. Offered in the fall term.

WEEKEND WORKCAMPS—Mr. Hetzel and Mr. Richie.

Students electing this unit will spend three week-ends participating in the work of renovating houses in certain areas in Philadelphia. Consultations with expert social workers and discussion within the camp group will promote an interest in and understanding of social problems. Offered in the fall and winter terms.

The Graduate Curriculum in Social and Technical Assistance

HAVERFORD COLLEGE is offering qualified men and women a Graduate Curriculum in Social and Technical Assistance in the belief that the development of a peaceful world society depends on large-scale social, economic and political reorganization in many regions and over a long period of time.

All who engage in assistance programs should be both emotionally and intellectually qualified for the task. As men and women of good will they should be able to work harmoniously with people of different races and under difficult and primitive conditions. They should be able to appreciate the values of foreign cultures and understand the basis for economic and political theories.

Projects for the improvement of living conditions which are essentially technical in character make a profound impact on the social life of the people who are affected by the changes. Thus, professional competence of the technicians is not sufficient by itself. They must be alert to the social implications of the work and prepared to help the affected population to adjust to a new economic-social order. Practically all of the technical and social assistance projects now in progress or envisaged by the private, governmental and inter-governmental agencies are as much problems of human engineering as they are matters of putting technological principles into practice.

The Graduate Curriculum in Social and Technical Assistance offered by Haverford College presupposes a sound general education as basic preparation, preferably with some technical education or experience. The course does not necessarily specialize in the needs of specific areas—on the principle that a graduate should be broadly prepared to serve wherever the opportunity offers. However, in the case of an individual who is planning to join a specific assistance program, opportunity is offered to adapt the content and method of courses to the student's particular needs.

Although this curriculum is now only in its fourth year, many of the forty-eight students who have completed it are already finding positions of responsibility. Sixteen are serving in twelve different foreign countries, five are engaged in governmental service in the United States, eleven are with local agencies engaged in community development and social services, nine are teaching, three are doing administrative work in educational or civic organizations, two are continuing their technical education, and two are in industrial or commercial work.

Entrance Requirements

This curriculum is open to men and women who hold the Bachelor's degree from recognized institutions and who are otherwise qualified by virtue of their character, motivation and previous training. Special consideration is given to foreign students with similar preparation and qualifications. Candidates for admission are expected to possess competence in at least one modern foreign language equivalent to one year's work in college beyond the elementary level, and to have some preparation in the social sciences.

Academic Course of Study

Each student will be expected to complete a program of ten semester-courses selected to fit his particular needs. In most cases these courses will be chosen from those listed below, but students may be urged to select other courses which fit their particular needs and the general aims of this curriculum. A grade of at least 80 must be obtained in each course.

SOCIAL SCIENCE 91—Case Study of Assistance Programs. Required. Mr. Teaf and others.

A study by the case method, of the objectives, organizational and operational techniques, and problems faced in various types of assistance programs: relief, reconstruction, technical assistance, social and technical planning. In the study of each program, consideration will be given particularly to problems raised by geographical, cultural, economic and political aspects of the areas concerned. Lectures by staff and visitors, readings, papers, and seminar discussions.

SOCIAL SCIENCE 93—Orientation Seminar. Required. Mr. Steere and others.

This course will consider both directly and through biographical studies some of the factors which motivate service in assistance projects. It will also examine the living genius and impact of the principal non-Christian religions today.

SOCIAL SCIENCE 97-98—Research Project and Thesis. Required. Mr. Reid and others.

Research projects and theses may be case studies of projects sponsored by voluntary agencies and others operating assistance and developmental programs, or other approved subjects.

SOCIOLOGY 61—Social Research. Mr. Gordon.

An analysis of classic and significant studies in the fields of the social sciences with a view toward understanding the methods, tools, techniques, and hypotheses of social research. Studies will demonstrate the use of statistical, case, historical, and other procedures. Individual projects.

ECONOMICS-POLITICAL SCIENCE 53-54—International Relations: Economic and Political. Mr. Haviland.

An examination of the major factors which condition international relations, with special emphasis on political and economic aspects. The first semester's work focuses on certain basic elements: physical and human resources, fundamental economic and political concepts (e.g. trade, investments, nationalism, and imperialism) and some analysis of the interaction of these factors prior to World War II. This background provides the basis for an intensive study, during the second semester, of selected area and functional problems as they have taken shape since World War II. This study will terminate with group or individual projects involving some field work.

POLITICAL SCIENCE 64—Modern Political and Social Theory. Mr. Roche.

A study of leading political doctrines of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries which have had major influence in shaping the issues and conflicts of the modern world.

GEOGRAPHY 32—Conservation of Natural Resources. Mr. White.

Analysis of the basic principles of conservation of land, water and mineral resources as they relate to social policy. Field study in selected areas.

PSYCHOLOGY 81, 82—Special Topics in Psychology. Mr. Campbell and Mr. Heath.

A seminar for special work in restricted fields of psychology. A project course.

MODERN FOREIGN LANGUAGE.

Continuation of a language presented for entrance is recommended. In 1955-56 students may take such departmental offerings as French 21, 22, German 15-16, 23, Spanish 23-24 or, if qualified, higher courses in which the spoken language is employed. Students who are proficient in one foreign language may study another language.

Non-Academic Course of Study

Each student is expected to take one non-academic course in the Arts and Service Program. The following are recommended as appropriate for the purposes of this program:

Community Service. Activities include supervision of athletics, scouting, clubs, music, hobbies and other work with youth in a community center.

Photography. This course is intended for beginners and will include instruction in the use and characteristics of photographic equipment, as well as darkroom procedures of developing and enlarging.

Weekend Workcamps. Students electing this course will spend three weekends participating in the work of renovating houses in certain areas of Philadelphia.

Requirements for the Master's Degree

The degree of Master of Arts will be awarded to those who have satisfactorily completed the program of ten academic semester courses (including the thesis based on the research project), the non-academic course, and a comprehensive examination on the academic courses and the relevant courses offered for entrance.

Fellowships

Preference in the awarding of the Thomas Wistar Brown Fellowships for graduate study, totaling $5,000, will be given to qualified men and women who share concerns of the Society of Friends and who intend to specialize in Social and Technical Assistance. The value of a Thomas Wistar Brown Fellowship depends on the needs of the applicant. Holders of these Fellowships may live at Haverford or, by arrangement with the Vice-President of the College, at the community of Pendle Hill, situated a few miles from Haverford.

The College has received a grant from the Christopher Reynolds Foundation which makes possible the awarding of fellowships to one or two students who have had several years of experience in a technical field or in a technical assistance project. These fellowships vary from $1,000 to $3,000, depending on the financial status and requirements of the student. Special consideration will be given to applicants who have had experience in the technical assistance programs of the United Nations or of the United State Government.

Awards are determined on the basis of financial data presented in the questionnaire which constitutes formal application for admission into the graduate unit in Social and Technical Assistance. Questionnaires containing such a request for financial aid should be in the hands of the Director of Admissions, Haverford College, not later than April 1 to secure consideration for the following year.

Charges.—See pp. 27, 28.

Extra-curricular Activities

Student Government

THE COLLEGE ADMINISTRATION has delegated to the Students' Association the responsibility for nearly all aspects of student conduct on the campus; and the Students' Association has assumed this responsibility. Student Government is exercised through an elected Students' Council, on which are representatives of all the classes and of some of the undergraduate organizations.

The students at Haverford College believe that the success of self-government depends upon the individual's realization and acceptance of his social responsibilities. This concept forms the basis of the Haverford Honor System, which is a compact entered into by all members of the Students' Association. The Honor System is designed to maintain certain standards which represent the opinion of the Students' Association on what is desirable conduct on the campus. It applies to the conduct of examinations, the preparation of papers outside of class, to the rules governing the presence of women in the dormitories, and to some other aspects of College life. The Honor System is administered by the Students' Council with the active cooperation of all members of the Students' Association.

The Students' Council is an administrative and judicial body. It handles all phases of the administration of regulations for the Students' Association. It manages extra-curricular activities on the campus and allocates to each a percentage of the Student Activities Fee ($18 per year, charged to every undergraduate as a part of the Unit Fee) on the basis of a yearly budget. In intercollegiate relations in general it serves as the representative of the Haverford student body.

The chairmanship of the Students' Council is the most important undergraduate office. The Chairman represents the student body before the Board of Managers, the College Administration, and the Faculty. He serves both as liaison officer and executive. He conveys to the College Administration the recommendations of the Students' Council in disciplinary matters.

The Honor Pledge, which is quoted below, is called to the attention of each applicant for admission to Haverford College. It is signed upon entrance, and is signed again whenever the student takes an examination, though its force is not limited to examinations only. In signing the pledge the individual student accepts the Honor System in its entirety, as currently in force and as it may be changed while he is an undergraduate at Haverford. Every entering student should make sure, before selecting Haverford, that he can give his active support to the Honor System. He should realize that its success, which is of great importance to him personally and to the whole student body, and indeed to the College itself, depends upon his willingness to give it his complete support.

HONOR PLEDGE

"I hereby accept the Haverford College Honor System, realizing that it is my responsibility to safeguard, uphold, and preserve each part of the Honor System and the attitude of personal and collective honor upon which it is based."

THE STUDENTS' ASSOCIATION is made up of all undergraduates in good standing at Haverford College. It is the body for student self-government. The Students' Council is elected from among the members of the Students' Association, and carries most of the burden of leadership in the undergraduate body. In addition, there are dormitory representatives elected to the Council.

THE HONOR SYSTEM COMMITTEE is responsible for introducing the Honor System to incoming students. It also makes periodic evaluations of how the System works.

Societies and Organizations

THE PUBLIC AFFAIRS ASSOCIATION is an organization of men interested in political, economic and sociological affairs. It includes as subsidiary groups a chapter of the Intercollegiate Conference on Government and the Political Forum which is responsible for bringing speakers on current affairs in these fields to the campus.

THE INTERNATIONAL CLUB, founded in 1954 by an exchange student, offers opportunities for Haverford students to become acquainted with the more personal and intimate side of customs in foreign countries.

The W. W. COMFORT DEBATING SOCIETY elects to membership men who have shown a consistent interest in debating, and who have represented the College on more than one occasion. Every year a series of intercollegiate debates is conducted.

THE STUDENT CURRICULUM COMMITTEE investigates and evaluates Haverford's methods and philosophy of education and make suggestions to the Faculty and Administration on the subject of the curriculum and College program.

THE ADVISORY COMMITTEE ON COLLECTION SPEAKERS makes suggestions on possible speakers for the College and arranges for interested students to meet with these visitors.

THE DRAMA CLUB, in conjunction with the Bryn Mawr College Drama Guild, produces on the average three major plays a year, alternating between the Bryn Mawr and Haverford stages. Meetings, that are open to all regardless of previous experience, are the workshop of the Club with lectures and discussions on all vital aspects of play production.

THE COLLEGE GLEE CLUB, which is the chief musical organization of the College, is open to all who have a love of music and enjoy singing. Rehearsals are held twice weekly. The repertoire includes short numbers of various types and one or more major works each season, the latter being presented in conjunction with the chorus from a women's college. There are trips at various times and, some years, a concert tour during spring vacation. Tryouts are held after the first month of rehearsals for both Freshmen and Upper-classmen. Regular members are chosen on the basis of interest, voice quality, and reading ability.

THE ORCHESTRA is a combined enterprise with Bryn Mawr College. All students playing orchestral instruments are invited to get in touch with the director, Dr. William Reese. Full rehearsals are held at Bryn Mawr weekly and sectional rehearsals at Haverford. The orchestra studies particularly works of the 17th and 18th century, contemporary works, and often plays the orchestral part of large choral works given by the Glee Club in concert.

Smaller ensemble groups for chamber music are fostered at both colleges. There is opportunity for instrumental study with noted teachers at nearby music institutions.

THE BAND plays at football games, pep rallies, and on a few other occasions.

THE RADIO CLUB operates the College radio station, WHRC. Members of the club arrange programs, operate the station, and build or buy necessary equipment. The studios are located in the third floor of the Union Building.

THE INTER-DORM DANCE COMMITTEE arranges dances between Haverford and Bryn Mawr dormitories. Its members are appointed by the Students' Council.

THE PHOTOGRAPHIC CLUB promotes interest in photography and has the use of a dark-room and equipment located in Hilles Laboratory.

THE NAUTICAL CLUB is composed of undergraduate students of the College. Its purpose is to promote an interest in sailing for pleasure and to engage in inter-collegiate dinghy racing. It is a member of the Inter-Collegiate Yacht Racing Association.

THE VARSITY CLUB of Haverford College, organized in 1936, is composed of undergraduates who have won varsity letters. Its purpose is to advance the interests of the College and of athletics in every way consistent with the high ideals of the College.

DEPARTMENTAL CLUBS. There are at Haverford various departmental groups, which arrange for outside speakers and often hold discussion sessions. Among these are the French Club, German Club, Spanish Club, Philosophy Club, a Humanities Forum which discusses topics of general interest to students of language, literature, philosophy, and the fine arts; the Mathematics Club, Biology Club, and Chemistry Club. A number of these clubs sponsor demonstrations, plays, and social gatherings.

Joint Faculty and Student Group

THE COMMITTEE ON STUDENT AFFAIRS is a joint committee made up of members of the faculty and undergraduates. It is charged with supervising the arrangements for social affairs on campus, and with reviewing the budgets of various recognized student organizations.

THE CAMPUS CLUB is an association of graduates, faculty members, undergraduates, and friends of the College who are interested in maintaining and increasing the beauty of the College campus.

Student Publications

THE HAVERFORD NEWS is a weekly newspaper, sent to all undergraduates and to all members of the alumni body. It is published on Fridays, during term-time, by undergraduates. There are opportunities for all interested men on both editorial and business staffs.

THE HAVERFORD COLLEGE HANDBOOK is published each fall under the auspices of the Students' Council. It contains information particularly valuable to new students.

THE RECORD is published annually by the Senior class, with the support of the Students' Association. It includes a record of the year, with particular emphasis upon the activities of the graduating class.

THE HAVERFORD REVUE is a magazine devoted to student literary effort. It is published irregularly.

Health Program

EACH STUDENT is given a thorough examination at the beginning of the Freshman year, and at other times as recommended by the College physician. Chest x-rays are included in these examinations.

Each student is entitled to unlimited dispensary service, at stated hours, and first-aid service at any time.

In case of illness, each student is entitled to two weeks of residence in the Morris Infirmary each semester, ordinary medicine, diagnostic laboratory work, any x-rays needed for diagnosis, and the services of the College physician and resident nurse.

Students will be charged $5.00 a day for residence in the Infirmary after their first two weeks. Day students will be charged for board in addition, while in the Infirmary.

Each student is also covered by a blanket accident policy which pays actual expenses resulting from any accident up to a limit of $500.00 for each accident. The expenses covered include x-rays, medicine, surgical appliances, hospital bills, nursing care, physician's fee, surgeon's fee, and also dentist bills for repair or replacement of natural teeth as a result of an accident, subject to the approval of the College physician. The coverage is in force from 12:01 A.M. Standard Time three days before the date when registration of entering students begins until midnight three days after Commencement Day.

All of these services are covered by the Unit Fee which is paid by all students (see page 27).

The Infirmary, presented by John T. Morris, '67, contains ten beds, a surgical room, an isolation ward for contagious diseases, its own kitchen, and accommodations for a resident nurse. Every provision has been made for medical and surgical treatment of all cases among students during the college year. The danger of infection through illness in the college dormitories is thus minimized.

Library, Laboratories, and Other Academic Facilities

The Library

THE HAVERFORD COLLEGE LIBRARY is planned and developed with the primary purpose of providing the intellectual resources of books, periodicals, and pamphlets needed to sustain the work of the academic curriculum. Most of the volumes have been selected by the teaching faculty, and, with the exception of some special collections described below, the books and periodicals are all on open shelves and readily accessible for over ninety hours a week during the college year. In the administration of the Library, the aim is to bring the resources of the book collection as effectively as possible into the academic life of the College.

Beyond this primary purpose, the Library seeks through several collections to provide opportunities for independent research in certain fields. Most notable of such collections is the Quaker Collection, which attracts many visiting scholars each year. The Government Depository and International Documents Collections provide extensive resources for independent study in the social sciences, and there are further collections of autograph material, orientalia, and particularly of Renaissance literature offering similar research opportunities in other fields.

The Haverford Library contains about 196,000 volumes, and holds subscriptions to over 575 literary and scientific periodicals. Though designed especially for the use of students and faculty of the College, the Library welcomes outside readers who wish to consult the books, and, under certain restrictions, may grant them special borrowing privileges. The Library is open on week-days from 8:00 A.M. to 11:00 P.M., and on Sundays from 2:00 to 11:00 P.M. (Treasure Room: Week-days — 9:00 - 5:00; Saturdays — 9:00 - 12:00). Special hours are arranged for vacation periods.

The Library building, the first portion of which (the present north wing) was built in 1863, has grown by five successive additions. The construction of a new Stack in 1941 has assured room for growth of the book collections for several years to come. In December 1952 the original north wing was renovated in memory of William Pyle Philips, and now forms a bright and comfortable room for quiet study. There are also three special reading rooms in the building:

THE GUMMERE-MORLEY MEMORIAL READING ROOM, decorated and equipped by the Class of 1892, provides a reading and browsing room for Haverford students.

THE RUFUS M. JONES STUDY, a replica of Rufus Jones' own study, with his own books and furniture, is used for seminar classes in philosophy as well as for quiet reading.

THE TREASURE ROOM, provided through the generosity of Morris E. Leeds of the Class of 1888, contains the Quaker Collection as well as other rare books and special collections.

Special Collections

THE QUAKER COLLECTION, containing approximately 20,000 books and 40,000 manuscripts, maps and pictures of interest to the Society of Friends, provides a repository for Quaker literature in the United States, and makes Haverford a vital center for the study of the history and philosophy of Quakerism. The unique nucleus of the library is The William H. Jenks Collection of Friends' Tracts, mostly of the seventeenth century, which numbers about 1500 separately bound titles.

THE RUFUS M. JONES COLLECTION ON MYSTICISM contains almost a thousand books and pamphlets from the fifteenth century to the present day.

THE TOBIAS COLLECTION OF THE WRITINGS OF RUFUS M. JONES is practically complete. It consists of 168 separate volumes and 16 boxes of pamphlets and extracts.

THE CHARLES ROBERTS AUTOGRAPH COLLECTION contains more than 20,000 items, embracing autographs of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, authors, statesmen, scientists, ecclesiastics, and monarchs, and also several series of valuable papers on religious and political history.

THE CHRISTOPHER MORLEY COLLECTION OF AUTOGRAPH LETTERS comprises about 200 letters and memoranda selected by Mr. Morley from his correspondence files. Over one hundred contemporary authors are represented.

THE WILLIAM PYLE PHILIPS COLLECTION contains more than seventy-five rare books and manuscripts, mostly of the Renaissance period. Among the treasures of this collection are first editions of Dante, Copernicus, Spenser, the King James Bible, Milton, Newton, and the four folios of Shakespeare.

THE HARRIS COLLECTION OF ANCIENT AND ORIENTAL MANUSCRIPTS contains over sixty Hebrew, Greek, Latin, Arabic, Syriac, and Ethiopian rolls and codices collected by J. Rendel Harris.

Affiliations

Haverford maintains a cooperative arrangement with Bryn Mawr and Swarthmore whereby the facilities of the libraries of all three colleges are open to the faculty and students of each of the colleges.

THE PHILADELPHIA BIBLIOGRAPHICAL CENTER AND UNION LIBRARY CATALOGUE, the largest regional cooperative catalogue in America, enables users of the Haverford Library to locate books in over one hundred and seventy libraries of the Philadelphia area.

THE LIBRARY ASSOCIATES is an organization of graduates and friends of the College, devoted to increasing the usefulness of the Library. It serves to bring the facilities of the Library to wider notice and to make them available to the whole Haverford community; to encourage the making of gifts to the Library; and to aid in the use of the Library for exhibition purposes. Inquiries should be addressed to The Library, Haverford College.

Scientific Laboratories

THE WILLIAM J. STRAWBRIDGE MEMORIAL OBSERVATORY is equipped with three equatorially mounted telescopes, a 10-inch and a 4½-inch refractor, and a 6-inch reflector; a reflecting telescope with 8-inch mirror and altazimuth mounting; a meridian circle telescope of 3¾-inch aperture; a zenith telescope of 2¼-inch aperture; a spectrohelioscope; an astrographic mounting provided with two 4-inch Ross lenses and a 4-inch guiding telescope; sidereal clocks, a chronograph, and other instruments. The astronomical library is housed in the Observatory.

THE LYMAN BEECHER HALL CHEMISTRY LABORATORY is a three-story structure with working space in the various laboratories for about two hundred and fifty students. Separate laboratories are available for general chemistry and qualitative analysis, quantitative analysis, organic chemistry, qualitative organic analysis and organic synthesis, semimicro quantitative analysis, and physical chemistry, respectively. In addition two rooms are devoted to the needs of research students. The building is furnished with water, gas, compressed air, and alternating current electricity, and is provided with a good system of forced draft ventilation. The apparatus equipment is ample for the undergraduate courses. Books and periodicals dealing with chemical subjects are housed in a comfortably furnished library on the first floor which is open to the students.

THE HILLES LABORATORY OF APPLIED SCIENCE houses the Engineering Department. This modern building contains classrooms, drawing rooms, a departmental library, shops, and mechanical and electrical laboratories.

Exceptional facilities for observing the practical side of the work are offered by the many manufacturing companies in and near Philadelphia and frequent inspection trips are made.

SHARPLESS HALL is occupied on the two lower floors by the Department of Physics. Here are situated the departmental library, laboratories, darkrooms, shops, and rooms for individual work. Through the gift of William P. Philips, '02, and through other acquisitions, the department is equipped for advanced work in electronics and x-rays.

The upper floors house the Biology and Psychology laboratories, and the Biology library.

Natural History Collections

Archaeological Collection

Art Collection

A permanent art collection, including paintings and drawings by Homer, Inness, Pintorricchio, Sargent, Turner, and Whistler, is displayed in the Library.

Temporary exhibitions of paintings, drawings, and photographs are held from time to time at the College.

Framed reproductions of outstanding paintings are available for loan to students at the beginning of each semester.

Music Collection

In addition to a considerable collection of musical scores and books in the general Library, the special equipment of the Music Department consists of several pianos and a collection of scores, books, and phonograph records presented in 1933 by the Carnegie Corporation. This collection has been amplified by yearly accessions, and now numbers close to 1600 records. A large part of this collection is available to students at stated hours in a special listening room.

THE ALFRED PERCIVAL SMITH ROOMS in the Haverford Union are reserved for music study. There is a larger room with a Steinway Grand for the holding of classes and informal concerts organized by the Music Department, and a small library in which valuable books, scores and records are kept.

The large concerts are held in Roberts Hall where a concert piano and a Hammond organ are at the disposal of artists.

THE HAVERFORD COLLEGE FRIENDS OF MUSIC is an association of friends and neighbors of the College and faculty members, who, in cooperation with the Music Department, arrange a series of chamber music concerts which are held at various times during the year in the Common Room.

Campus

THE ARBORETUM AND THE WOOLMAN WALK, the latter the gift of Edward Woolman, '93, contain a wide variety of woody plants, both indigenous and exotic, thus permitting direct observation and study by students of the natural sciences.

THE MARY NEWLIN SMITH MEMORIAL GARDEN which adjoins the south side of the Library, while primarily developed as a decorative feature, contains a wealth of flowering shrubs of interest to the botanist.

The Bucky Foundation

THE BUCKY FOUNDATION, which has as its goal the promotion of a spiritually grounded political and economic order, and the training of responsible students for such an order, maintains an office at the College.

Income from the Foundation has been used to sponsor a Constructive Citizenship program and for the training of students through the Relief and Reconstruction Unit. It is being used to support Haverford participation in a program of week-end camps.

Fellowships, Prizes and Honors

Fellowships

THE CLEMENTINE COPE FELLOWSHIP was established in 1899. The income is applied to "assisting worthy and promising graduates of Haverford College in continuing their studies at Haverford or at some other institute, in this country or abroad, approved by the Board of Managers. Candidates shall be nominated by the College Faculty to the Board of Managers."

The Faculty will nominate a First Cope Fellow and a Second Cope Fellow whose individual stipends, not to exceed $1,000, will be determined by the Board.

Applications for a Clementine Cope Fellowship must be in the hands of the President before March 1, accompanied by whatever statement of extracurricular activities the candidate considers relevant.

GRADUATE FELLOWSHIPS.—For information regarding graduate fellowships, see page 108.

Prizes

(All prizes awarded in books are marked with appropriate bookplates. As soon as possible after the award a list of standard books, from which selection is to be made, should be submitted for approval to the head of the department awarding the prize. Books selected from the approved list may then be ordered through the College Business Office. The College grants an average discount of ten per cent of prize books, and supplies the bookplates.)

ALUMNI PRIZE FOR COMPOSITION AND ORATORY.—A prize of $50.00 was established by the Alumni Association in 1875 to be awarded annually for excellence in composition and oratory. Competition is open to Freshmen and Sophomores, but the same man may not receive the prize twice. The competition for this prize is administered by the Department of English.

JOHN B. GARRETT PRIZES FOR SYSTEMATIC READING.—A first prize of $50.00 and a second prize of $25.00 will be given at the end of the Junior or Senior year to the two students who, besides creditably pursuing their regular course of study, shall have carried on the most profitable program of reading in a comprehensive topic during a full college year.

Candidates for these prizes must register with the chairman of the department under whose supervision the work will be performed. The department is responsible for guiding his work and reporting his achievement to the Committee on Fellowships and Prizes for final judgment. Either or both of these prizes may be omitted if, in the judgment of the Committee, the work does not justify an award.

Interested students should apply directly to a relevant department for information.

THE CLASS OF 1896 PRIZES IN LATIN AND MATHEMATICS.—Two prizes of $10.00 each, in books, to be known as "The Class of 1896 Prizes in Latin and Mathematics," were established by the bequest of Paul D. I. Maier of the Class of 1896. They are awarded at the end of the Sophomore year to the students who have done the best work in the departments concerned.

THE LYMAN BEECHER HALL PRIZE IN CHEMISTRY.—A prize of $100.00 was established by the Class of 1898 on the twenty-fifth anniversary of its graduation in honor of Lyman Beecher Hall, Professor of Chemistry at Haverford College from 1880 to 1917.

This prize may be awarded to a student who has attained a high degree of proficiency in Chemistry and who shows promise of contributing substantially to the advancement of that science. It may be awarded to a Junior, to a Senior, or to a graduate of Haverford College within three years after graduation. It may be awarded more than once to the same student, or it may be withheld.

THE CLASS OF 1902 PRIZE IN LATIN.—A prize of $10.00 in books, is offered annually by the Class of 1902 to the Freshman whose work in Latin, in recitation and examinations combined, shall be the most satisfactory. At the discretion of the professor in charge of the Department, this prize may be omitted in any year.

THE DEPARTMENT PRIZES IN MATHEMATICS.—A first prize of $30.00 and a second prize of $20.00 are awarded on the basis of a three hour examination on selected topics in Freshman Mathematics. The examination is held annually on the first Monday after the Spring Recess, and is open to Freshmen only.

ELLISTON P. MORRIS AND ELIZABETH P. SMITH PEACE PRIZES.—These have been combined for the year 1955-56 into a single competition offering three awards of $200.00, $100.00 and $50.00 respectively. It is open to all undergraduates and to graduate students.

The prizes are awarded for the best essays bearing on the general topic of "Means of Achieving International Peace." Essays should be deposited with the Registrar before May 1. The judges shall be appointed by the President of the College.

Prizes will not be awarded if, in the opinion of the judges, a sufficiently high standard of merit has not been attained.

PRIZES IN PHILOSOPHY AND BIBLICAL LITERATURE.—A prize of $40.00 and a second prize of $25.00, in books, are offered annually to any student who, in the judgment of the professor in charge, does the most satisfactory outside reading in Philosophy in connection with the courses in that Department.

A prize of $40.00 and a second prize of $25.00, in books, are offered annually to any student who, in the judgment of the professor in charge, does the most satisfactory reading on the Bible and related subjects.

THE SCHOLARSHIP IMPROVEMENT PRIZES.—A first prize of $50.00 and a second prize of $45.00 are awarded at the end of the Senior year to the two students who, in the opinion of the judges appointed by the President of the College, show the most steady and marked improvement in scholarship during their college course.

THE CLASS OF 1910 POETRY PRIZES.—A first prize of $15.00 and a second prize of $10.00 are awarded for the best verse written by a Haverford undergraduate during the year. Typewritten manuscript, under an assumed name, should be deposited with the Registrar before May 1. These prizes are administered by the Department of English.

THE FOUNDERS CLUB PRIZE.—A prize of $25.00 is offered and awarded annually by the Founders Club to the Freshman who is judged to have shown the best attitude toward college activities and scholastic work.

THE S. P. LIPPINCOTT PRIZE IN HISTORY.—A prize of $100.00 is offered annually for competition in the Department of History under the following general provisions:

First—Competition is open to Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors who have taken or are taking work in the Department of History.

Second—The prize shall not be awarded twice to the same student.

Third—The prize may be withheld in any year, if the conditions listed below are not met by any of the competitors to the satisfaction of a majority of the judges.

Conditions

In competition for this prize an essay of not less than 5,000 words shall be submitted as evidence of scholarly ability in the collection and presentation of historical material, treating a subject selected with the approval of a member of the Department of History.

Essays should be typewritten and deposited with the Registrar before May 1.

THE NEWTON PRIZE IN ENGLISH LITERATURE.—A prize of $50.00 established by A. E. Newton may be awarded annually on the basis of Final Honors in English, provided that the work of the leading candidate, in the judgment of the English Department, merits this award.

THE WILLIAM ELLIS SCULL PRIZE.—A prize of $50.00 established in 1929 by William Ellis Scull, '83, is awarded annually to the upperclassman who shall have shown "the greatest achievement in voice and in the articulation of the English language." This prize is administered by the Department of English.

THE GEORGE PEIRCE PRIZE IN CHEMISTRY OR MATHEMATICS.—A prize of $50.00 in memory of Dr. George Peirce, '03, is offered annually to a student of Chemistry or Mathematics "who has shown marked proficiency in either or both of these studies and who intends to follow a profession which calls for such preparation. Preference is to be given to a student who has elected organic chemistry, and failing such a student, to one who has elected Mathematics or some branch of Chemistry other than organic. Should there be two students of equal promise, the one who is proficient in Greek shall be given preference." The prize is offered, however, exclusively for students who have expressed the intention of engaging in research.

THE STUDENT ORGANIZATION PRIZE.—Classmates of Edmund Jennings Lee, 1942, who lost his life in the service of his country, have established in his memory a fund, the income from which is to be given annually to that student organization which, in the opinion of a committee of judges, has contributed most toward advancing the interests of the College.

THE THERESA HELBURN PLAYWRITING AWARD.—These awards, open to all students of Bryn Mawr College, are given by Theresa Helburn to encourage playwriting. The prize consists of $50.00 for the best one-act play and $100.00 for the best full-length play submitted each year and considered worthy. Original work is required; adaptations, translations and collaborations are not eligible. Haverford students in playwriting may submit manuscripts for these awards.

Honor Societies

PHI BETA KAPPA.—The Haverford College Chapter of the Phi Beta Kappa Society of America was chartered in 1898 as Zeta of Pennsylvania. Election of members-in-course, Alumni members, and Honorary members, based upon scholarly attainment and distinction, takes place at the end of the academic year. President: Irvin C. Poley, '12; Vice President: Howard Comfort, '24; Secretary: Harry W. Pfund, '22; Treasurer: Holland Hunter, '43.

FOUNDERS CLUB.—The Founders Club was established in 1914 as a Haverford organization of students, alumni, and Faculty. Election to its membership is recognition of a sound academic record combined with noteworthy participation in extra-curricular activities. Undergraduate elections are usually limited to the Junior and Senior classes. President: Robert P. Roche, '46; Secretary: Robert B. Greer, III, '56.

Honors

Honors are of two kinds: Honorable Mention in a single course and Final Honors for work in the major department.

Honorable Mention in a single year course will be awarded at the end of the Freshman or Sophomore year for acceptable work in that course and additional work in the total amount of not less than seventy-five hours. Candidates for Honorable Mention must obtain a minimum grade of 85 in the regular work of the course and may be required to pass an examination on the additional work. Two courses of one semester each in the same department may be construed as a single course.

A student who has received the prescribed grade in the regular work of a course required for Honorable Mention, but who has not done the additional work required in connection with that course may do so with the consent of the professor in charge during the succeeding year.

Final Honors are designed to provide stimulation for capable students to undertake and carry through academic work of high quality. The Faculty has agreed that three indications of such high quality work on the student's part are: first, a broad and thorough understanding of his major field; second, within the range of his honors work a knowledge more profound than would normally be expected; and third, understanding of the relationship of his major field to other areas of human experience.

A student who is considered by his major department to have the ability to become an honors candidate is invited to do so and is informed of the nature of the honors work expected as early in the course of his major work as is convenient. Although the nature of honors work varies from department to department, some work outside of the regular course work in the department, preferably along lines of the student's particular interest, may be required. The honors candidate may gain some time for this extra work by devoting one or more project courses to it in his Senior year.

Three grades of Final Honors are awarded: Honors, High Honors, and Highest Honors. Honors are awarded at the discretion of the major department to honors candidates who meet the qualifications and may, under exceptional circumstances, be awarded to students who have done excellent departmental work even though they have not undertaken honors work as such.

High Honors and Highest Honors are awarded by the Faculty. Candidates for honors whose work has been outstanding are invited by the department to take a public oral examination, conducted by an examination committee under the chairmanship of the major supervisor and including at least two examiners from fields other than the candidate's major. If this committee so recommends, the Faculty may award High or Highest Honors. In general, Highest Honors are reserved for students who have demonstrated both breadth and depth of scholarship.

REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT

*presented at the
of Haverford College*

October 18, 1955

THE NEW buildings which have taken form on the Haverford Lawn have been the most conspicuous change in the College during the past year. But they do not represent a change in basic aims or methods. Rather, in their design and location they partially mirror educational policy which is deep in the history and thinking of this Quaker institution. There also have been changes in the personnel of the College during the year, there have been significant improvements in finances, and a strengthening of the academic program. In all these changes, and particularly in the buildings, we may see the direction which the College continues to take.

THE NEW BUILDINGS

It is notable that the new buildings are designed with a view to maintaining in simple and comfortable fashion the number of students currently enrolled. For the reasons set forth in the annual report last year Haverford is holding to a goal of an average enrollment of 450 undergraduates each year. The new dormitory was designed with this in view, the field house likewise contemplated no increase in enrollment, and the refurbishing of College buildings served to improve the existing plant without major readjustments.

Thus, the building program strengthens the College at its present size and does not provide latitude for further expansion.

The new dormitory does not include any provision for resident faculty or student supervision. As in past, it is expected that students through the medium of their Students' Association, will carry the major responsibility for governing themselves. They set the regulations for their conduct in the dormitories, and they administer the regulations. The layout of the interior of the building is designed to cultivate a quality of student life in which there is a good deal of sharing of activity and in which the day-by-day work centers on the small, intimate living rooms rather than on big common rooms or around dormitory corridors. This is as it must be if the heavy reliance which the Haverford Students' Association places upon its members under the honor system is to be warranted.

A large sector of the building funds is devoted to the construction of a field house. Haverford already has an excellent set of outdoor athletic facilities. The new field house will, in the spring of 1956, provide a suitable place for sports in times of inclement weather. It will supplement rather than replace the existing gymnasium, and will use the locker facilities in that building. Significantly, when the Board of Managers last spring was confronted with the decision of how best to allocate the available funds in the face of rapidly enlarged estimates of the cost of the field house, it decided to go ahead with the shell of the building and with the necessary facilities for intramural and practice activities and to cut out, in the interests of economy, those parts of the building which would provide essentially for the accommodation of spectators. Haverford athletics are not planned or carried out primarily for the spectator; they are planned for the welfare of the individual student whether he takes part in intercollegiate, intramural or physical education work.

Thus, the College recognizes again its concern for the development of young men outside of the intellectual and aesthetic qualities that may be cultivated in part in the classroom. The field house becomes an important part of the campus just as the playing fields and the Meeting House have been for many years. Haverford's continued insistence upon student participation in a weekly period of worship is consistent with its continued insistence upon student participation in games and in student shouldering of heavy burdens of management of its own enterprises. All of this assumes that the quality of individual action in later years is a complex of habits which can be encouraged in an environment that strengthens perception of belief and values and tenses the muscles of decision.

In all of these ways the new buildings advance the College a little further in its effort to provide a genuinely liberal education in the Quaker tradition. It would be a mistake, however, to suggest that the College does so fully at present or that it has any early prospect of doing so. It falls short of being genuinely liberal or genuinely Quaker in a good many respects. These shortcomings are less in name than in act, and more subtle than obvious, but taken together they cannot but make us humble as we consider the potentialities in a college of this character given its assets of people, of tradition, of physical plant, and of wealth.

THE YEAR IN REVIEW

FACULTY

Last June two valued members of the Haverford faculty reached the retirement age. John Kelly, who came to the College in the Department of German in 1920, has been ever since that time an inspiring interpreter of German literature and German music. Students have found in him not only a devoted teacher of the language but a sensitive interpreter of the culture of a people. Edward Snyder, as a member of the Department of English since 1915 and as chairman of that department for many years, has been an energetic member of the faculty in shaping policies and teaching methods. He has introduced a large proportion of the Haverfordians over that period to an understanding of poetry and the drama, and through his reading, his scholarship, and his teaching has given stimulation and enjoyment. Both of these men will be missed in the active faculty but each will continue to offer some instruction in his special field of interest.

Mabel Beard also retired during the course of the summer, bringing to a close 34 years of active service as nurse in the Morris Infirmary. There, many generations of Haverfordians came to know and respect her for her kindly and always competent interest in their welfare. Her interests were broader than the Infirmary, and the whole community benefited from her friendship. She, too, will remain on the Haverford campus, living in Merion Hall.

There was no major expansion in faculty during the year, but there was a slight improvement in faculty compensation made possible by the readjustment in tuition charges. In accordance with the desires of the faculty this increase in compensation — a modest amount — was set aside for use in providing special benefits on a plan which has not yet been developed in detail. Probably it will include insurance against catastrophic medical expenses and it may include some form of clinical medical care.

In any event, it is designed to assist further in guarding the faculty against the economic hazards of contemporary life. It should be supplemented as soon as possible with salary increases which would adjust the salaries to changes in costs over the past fifteen years. The College has made considerable progress in that direction but it is still short of keeping up with the cost of living.

New members of the faculty in the current year are Morton Baratz in the Department of Economics, Jonathan Bennett in the Department of Philosophy, Max Bluestone in the Department of English, Robert Butman on joint appointment with Bryn Mawr College in the Department of English, Robert Enggass on joint appointment with Bryn Mawr College in the Department of History of Art, and Michael Shaw in the Department of French. Richard Andree is serving as Visiting Associate Professor of Mathematics in place of Cletus Oakley, and F. Bradshaw Wood is serving as Visiting Professor of Astronomy in place of Louis Green. Because of the illness of Emmett Dunn, Percy Baker and I. H. Bhatti are serving as replacements in the Department of Biology.

On leave during the year were T. O. Jones, John A. Kelly, Harry W. Pfund, Ira deA. Reid, William A. Reitzel, John P. Roche, Ralph M. Sargent, and Douglas V. Steere. During the current year John Ashmead is serving as visiting lecturer at the University of Osaka on a Fulbright Fellowship, Howard Comfort is taking the second semester in order to carry on research at the Institute for Advanced Study, Louis Green is carrying on studies of interstellar space on a Guggenheim Fellowship, Theodore Hetzel is working on engineering problems, Holland Hunter is engaged in research at the Harvard center for Russian studies, Cletus Oakley, with the assistance of a grant from the Carnegie Corporation, is experimenting with new offerings in sophomore mathematics, Frank Parker is carrying on studies in literature and philosophy, H. M. Somers is at the London School of Economics on a Fulbright Fellowship, Richard Sutton is serving as Hill Visiting Professor at Gustavus Adolphus College in Minnesota, and Laurence Wylie has a Faculty Fellowship for investigation of relations between social science and language instruction.

STUDENTS

year. The number of graduate students has declined as the College has become more strict in its requirements of technical facility for admission to the graduate school and as it has felt it must restrict the scope of its graduate program in Social and Technical Assistance until it has a clearer idea of the future utility of that program.

Once again grants for scholarships have increased, so that with more than 36% of the students receiving scholarships, the average amount of aid is $400.

One distinguishing feature of the year was the increase of interest on the part of students in the academic program of the College. One student group, the Education Committee, made an elaborate investigation of the ways in which students use their time, trying to find out how much foundation there is for the frequent student complaint that they are overloaded and are forced to divide their interest among an unduly large number of subjects. Another group, the Curriculum Committee, gave its attention to the whole problem of grading in the College and submitted an extensive report which is being studied by a faculty group.

In these and other ways students worked closely with faculty on problems of common interest in the management of the College. Advisory committees on Collection speakers, on dining room operation, and on student activities now are a normal part of the College routine.

PLANT

After a good many years of effort to catch up on repair and maintenance of the physical plant, the College is at a stage where it can expect to keep all of the College buildings in relatively good order by a regular program of painting and mechanical repairs. Thus, during the year, Sharpless Hall was thoroughly renovated, and the painting of many of the buildings facing on the Lawn was carried out on schedule. Some roads were resurfaced. The Union lounge was refurnished with a gift from the Class of 1955. The new Founders Room in Founders Hall was fitted out with decorations illustrating the first fifty years in Haverford history.

With the vacation by students of Merion Hall and Merion Annex in order to occupy Leeds Hall, it became possible to devote those two buildings to faculty apartments. The work now is well under way, and it is expected that the project will be a self-liquidating investment for which College funds will be used. Under the current plans the two buildings are being joined together so as to form one single structure of twelve apartments. Some of these apartments will be especially suitable for retired members of the faculty who will be giving up larger quarters on the campus at the time of retirement. Three units will be reserved each year for new arrivals on the faculty, preference for these units being in reverse order of seniority in contrast to the seniority rule which applies to other housing space on the campus. With completion of the new Merion Hall, Haverford will be able to take care of all but five or six members of the faculty now living off the campus who would like to occupy campus quarters. During the year attention was given to construction of three small single-family dwelling units, but possible building delays and the difficulties of finding a suitable design prevented us from undertaking the project during the year.

FINANCES

The College finished the year with a small operating surplus which, added to previous surpluses, gives it a modest reserve fund as a protection against fluctuations in future. It was fortunate in having some unusually large dividends and back payments on securities during the year, and in order to prevent possible deficit in the current year it decided to increase the tuition to a total of $750 beginning in 1955-56. The total charges for board, room, tuition and unit fee at the College now are $1,555.

The completion of the new dormitory made it possible for the College to place all of the rooms on a single fee of $250 for the year. This eliminates the old distinctions according to cost and provides for a great deal more flexibility in allocation of space among students under rules laid down by the Students' Association.

With the end of the Building Program in sight, thought was given to the terms on which other phases of development would be continued in the annual giving program. It seems clear that this will involve appeal to parents and other friends of the College as well as alumni, and is scheduled to begin in the spring of 1956.

DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM

Construction of the new dormitory was initiated and completed during the year. A contract was awarded to the Frank H. Wilson Company and under the expert guidance of the firm of George Ewing a new building accommodating 52 students took shape. This now is occupied most happily by Haverford students and sets some new standards for comfort and elbow room on the campus.

The building was named by the Board of Managers in honor of Morris E. Leeds, for many years a member of the Board and Chairman of the Board, whose contributions in a wide variety of ways have strengthened the College since he entered it as a member of the Class of 1888. (See Special Memorial Bulletin Vol. LI, July 1952.)

The construction of the dormitory required subsidiary changes in campus facilities. The tennis courts were relocated to a new area adjoining the present courts, the service entrance for the Chemistry laboratory was relocated, roads to and from the power house were relocated, and substantial changes were made in paths and in the water, light and heat utilities.

In June, with more than $850,000 in hand or pledged for the Building Program, the Board of Managers decided to proceed with the construction of the field house, omitting the balcony and the spectator facilities which had been included in the original plans. The contract was awarded to the McCloskey Company and construction began in the summer. Completion is expected some time during the spring of 1956.

It became necessary to relocate all of the facilities in the area to be occupied by the new field house and this involved building a new service area for the College mechanical equipment in the area adjoining the power house behind Sharpless Hall. In order to start this work, the students and faculty of the College turned out 400-strong for a Campus Day last April and cleared the ground for the beginning of the construction operations. Quite aside from their physical work they gave the whole program a strong impetus.

During the summer the sleeping quarters for students in Founders Hall were completely renovated and the roof of the gymnasium was repaired.

The College was the beneficiary of another large gift of plants from Hiram Rickert, a devoted friend of the College. These plants, some of which already grace the Lawn in front of Sharpless, Barclay and Founders, are now being installed in the area near the Chemistry laboratory and Leeds Hall. Thanks to the foresight and interest of this friend, the landscape aspects of the College are being improved in an important fashion.

At the present time the Building Program is short $64,000 of the expressed goal of $1,000,000. The actual expenditures under present commitments will be in the neighborhood of $1,060,000, and it is anticipated that the excess, along with the guaranteed $333,000 from Board funds, will come from endowment at the disposal of the Board. There has been searching review of whether or not a fourth entry of the dormitory to house 23 students should be constructed in the near future according to the original Building Program plans. This decision still is pending, and will hinge upon the availability of funds to go ahead with salary increases.

During the autumn it seems likely that the Development Committee will bring to an end its three years of remarkable labor in the interest of Haverford College. Jonathan Rhoads, John Williams, Francis Strawbridge, Frederic Sharpless, the late Earl Harrison, and Charles Perry have done an extraordinary job in moving the program along during the past year. The goal is now well in sight and there seems every prospect of completing the appeal by the end of the year. All Haverfordians should be grateful for the service of these men and their many associates across the country who together have built solid foundations for what is a momentous improvement in the physical plant of the College.

ACADEMIC PROGRAM

The year has been marked more by the consolidation of experience in a number of experimental measures than by any new major developments.

Under grants from the Carnegie Corporation significant new approaches have been made to teaching of freshman biology and sophomore mathematics. With the advice of a group of consultants from other institutions, Ariel Loewy has gone forward with a new basic course on the physical basis of life. Likewise, in consultation with interested mathematicians across the country, Cletus Oakley has experimented with a sophomore course which will pioneer in new forms of mathematics.

During the year the Carnegie program in support of the three-college Russian instruction came to an end and the three colleges took necessary measures to continue its essential features both in teaching and in library facilities. Human Relations work also was consolidated into the regular budget. The graduate program in Social and Technical Assistance was reduced in scope so as to continue in 1955-56 on a more modest level of expenditure. One of the troublesome aspects of any new or experimental program is that of carrying it after the initial grant is exhausted: if it proves itself useful funds must be found either in the regular budget or from outside sources.

The Philips Visitors program continues to supplement in a fruitful way the regular faculty. As a result of experience during the first years of operation of the program, the visitors for the current year have been appointed chiefly with a view to including them in the operation of normal classes. Thus, one series of visitors is taking part in the advanced mathematics course, and another series is providing the basic lectures in a course in cellular physiology. We continue to feel a need for a visitors' program in the humanities which would supplement the Philips program, and have been much encouraged during the year by a donation from one friend of the College who is taking steps to set up such visitorships on a modest basis.

A FINAL REPORT

This is the last report which I shall have the privilege of submitting to the Corporation.

The opportunity to serve here has been a rare and pleasant one. The Board of Managers has been consistently understanding and helpful. The faculty has been intelligently dedicated to good teaching. The Students' Association has been responsible and cordially lively. The administrative staff has been competent and cooperative. Many alumni have given their strong support. For all these reasons, and others too, Anne and I have enjoyed living in the Haverford community. We are grateful for the days here, and on personal grounds we shall regret leaving.

It, nevertheless, has seemed clear to us that it would be wise to give my time to the field of work in which I have special interest and experience — teaching and research in geography. Indeed, I would have resigned several years ago had it not been for a commitment to the academic experiments and the Building Program which have been under way. Now the right time has arrived, and I find it possible to return to my alma mater, the University of Chicago.

I thank you for the privilege of being associated with you and others in this Friendly enterprise.

As I look to the future of Haverford College, I am inclined to feel that the issues that will be immediately pressing will not be ones of physical expansion or improvement. They are likely to turn largely on the problem of how the whole quality of the lives of students while at the College may be deepened and strengthened. We seem to lack not so much the facilities as the skill and the imagination to make use of our facilities in promoting maximum growth among the young men for whom the College exists. The atmosphere of the College is more important than anything else. This, at root, is nourished by the quality of the students and the faculty who are here. Having turned its attention for a time to improving the physical plant, Haverford must again center its activities where they always must be centered if the College is to remain healthy in the long run — on the faculty and students.

If I were to say in a few words what I feel to be points to emphasize in future in Haverford College they would be these: Keep it small; keep it Quaker; cultivate the inquiring mind; find good men with courage and integrity, and then back them.

Looking across a period of association with Haverford College which this group would consider relatively short, I find it difficult to think of Haverford in terms of buildings or academic programs or financial statistics. Essentially it is, in my mind, a procession of men. There are those who have helped shape this policy but no longer are here — Rufus Jones, Morris Leeds, Henry Scattergood, Stogdell Stokes, to name only a few. There are those who are here today and are devoted to its welfare. There are the youngsters who, having been members of the College for only a month, are allied with it for a lifetime. Together they form a procession — constantly dwindling and periodically replenished — who share in its responsibilities and grow with it and in it, and who as they achieve some of its aims join in fellowship with men everywhere who value the individual with the clear mind and the sensitive heart.

REPORT OF THE LIBRARIAN

The past year has been one of continued growth of the Library collections and of close study of the Library's rôle in the intellectual life of the College. Developments worthy of particular mention in reviewing the year's work are in the areas of the book-collections themselves, in our relations with other Philadelphia-area libraries, and in the survey, now nearing completion, of the long-range needs of the Library.

COLLECTIONS

Extensive purchases were made during 1954-1955 on Philips funds for back-runs of learned periodicals. Previous purchases on this fund have been few, pending a thorough search of publishers' remainder stocks for the items we have needed. Turning to the second-hand market in the past year, we were able to make very substantial progress toward the fine working collection of scholarly and scientific journals which William Philips envisioned for Haverford. The Journal of Biological Chemistry (1905-1951), Astronomischer Jahresbericht (1899-1942), History (1916-1953), Harvard Law Review (1935-1950), and the Bibliographie Géographique Internationale (1891-1946) are but a few of the back-runs which have been acquired during recent months. Many sets are still needed, and among them are some which will be difficult to find; yet the periodical collection is already of substantial proportions, a growing stimulus to study and research for both faculty and students at the College.

Two developments in the administration of the collections should be mentioned:

1. The entire Physics Library, hitherto listed by author only in the Department's catalog, was catalogued by title and by subject during the past summer. The departmental libraries of Biology and Chemistry are now the only ones which lack title and subject cataloguing.
2. The rapidly growing International Documents Collection was reorganized, and given room for expansion by the removal of many United States Government serials from the first to the fifth floor of the stacks. Both of these changes will serve to make Library materials in these two collections more accessible for student use.

INTER-LIBRARY RELATIONS

The past two decades have seen a marked trend among Philadelphia libraries to work together more and more closely toward building up library resources in the Philadelphia area. The trend has been a highly beneficial one in every respect; in the absence of any one major, heavily endowed research library in Philadelphia for scholars in the liberal arts, close cooperation among the many college, research, and specialized libraries in the area is of the utmost importance. The cornerstone of such inter-library cooperation was laid in 1935 with the founding of the Union Library Catalogue.

The past year brought four evidences of inter-library cooperation which should be mentioned:

1. The number of books which we loaned to and borrowed from other libraries on Interlibrary Loan was greater than ever before.
2. Philadelphia libraries undertook their first cooperative purchase of a single work in subscribing to the Microprint Edition of early American publications which has been undertaken by the American Antiquarian Society. The Edition will provide a microprint copy of every existent book, pamphlet, and broadside printed in the United States from 1639 to 1800; and its cost (about $750 per year for ten years) is such that no single Philadelphia library could easily have purchased the work alone.
3. The American Library Association, for their convention in Philadelphia in July, assembled a splendid exhibition of books and manuscripts illustrating the collective research resources of libraries in the Philadelphia area. The Philips Collection copy of the Foligno Dante was Haverford's contribution to the exhibit.
4. In connection with the current survey of long-range objectives in the development of the Library, we have had frequent occasion to consult the experience and practices of library administration in many nearby libraries. Members of our staff have visited specialized departments at the libraries of the University of Pennsylvania, Temple, Bryn Mawr and Swarthmore. The results of these visits, both in closer association with neighboring libraries and in suggested ways of improving our library services, have been most rewarding.

SURVEY OF LONG-RANGE OBJECTIVES

The survey undertaken in the fall of 1953 by the Library Committee and the staff is nearing completion. Considerable thought has been given to the optimum size and scope of a library adequate to support and stimulate curricular study at Haverford, and to ways in which students can best be made aware of the resources for reference and research which the Library affords. Each department of the faculty has had a share in drawing this blueprint for the future development of the Library; the staff have given thought and analysis to ways of improving our Library techniques, and to ways of measuring the staff, skills, and equipment which will be needed proportionately as the "ideal Haverford Library" becomes a reality. When the question again arises, "What are Haverford's needs for books?" we will have an answer ready which has received the thoughtful consideration of the faculty and Library staff of the College.

There are some changes in staff to be reported as we start the year 1955-56, one problem of physical plant to be mentioned — and the pleasant duty of recording many gifts to the Library during the past year.

STAFF

Largely through generous grants from the Shoemaker Fund we have been able to go far in 1954-55 toward eliminating the back-log of uncatalogued Quaker materials which has long been on our agenda. Mrs. Charlene Hennessy was engaged for this work from October 1954 until May 1955, and Mrs. Mae Craig, who took over the cataloguing in June, will continue through the current year, by which time the job should be very nearly completed. In the permanent staff of the Library there has been only one change. Miss Fredericka Nolde left her position at the Circulation Desk in June and has gone on to teach at Abington Friends School this fall. Miss Martha Wilson, a graduate of Baldwin School and Smith College, has taken her place in the Library.

PHYSICAL PLANT

There have been no significant improvements in the Library building in 1954-55 beyond the sealing of the wood floor in the Philips Wing. One very serious physical need must be reported: several leaks in the roof of the central section and South Wing of the Library have caused extensive water damage to books in recent months. The Library roof is in urgent need of repair.

GIFTS RECEIVED

Gifts to the Library during the past year were many and generous, including volumes of value in different house libraries and the Philips Visitor Suites as well as ones added to collections in the main Library. The following, a very brief sampling of last year's gifts, may serve to show their range and interest:

From Aldo Caselli, the splendid two-volume atlas of the Italian Touring Club.

From Hanford M. Henderson, '40, the first illustrated quarto (1716) of Dryden's Virgil.

From John G. Herndon, 178 volumes in the fields of government and public finance.

From Mrs. Mark Long, 200 volumes, primarily on current affairs.

From the estate of Mrs. Howard Longstreth, 630 volumes in German and other literatures.

From College-mates of John H. Musser, '57, a set of works of contemporary drama in his memory.

From Alexander D. Sellers, '50, the 1618 edition of John Stow's Survey of London.

From Mrs. Allison Wesley, 8 volumes of contemporary literature and non-fiction.

From Mrs. Henry S. Williams, 112 volumes of American and English literature.

[TWENTY

From William C. Wilson, '54, 8 books on the philosophy of education.

From Mr. and Mrs. S. Campion Wood, a complete run of back issues of the magazine Life.

One further gift to the Library deserves separate mention. On March 6, 1955, there was held in the Library a celebration marking the centenary of the birth of one of Haverford's great teachers of an earlier day, Francis Barton Gummere. A student of F. B. Gummere's (John A. Lester, '96), a colleague (William W. Comfort, '94), and his son (Richard M. Gummere, '02) shared in a celebration which gave vivid, moving testimony of the inspiration which the glad teaching of one man has breathed into the tradition and heritage of our College. On this occasion Richard Gummere and Samuel J. Gummere, '07, presented to Haverford many photographs, notebooks, manuscripts and letters which had once belonged to their father. The materials form a valued addition to our Haverfordiana and autograph collections.

GIFTS TO OTHER LIBRARIES

During the past year we donated 100 volumes from our Duplicate Collection to aid in expanding the newly-formed Levittown Public Library. Also, more reluctantly, but at the urgent request of the original donors, we parted with the manuscript of Albert Jay Nock's Memoirs of a Superfluous Man; it now resides, with a large collection of other Nock manuscripts, in the Library of Congress.

1954-55 has been a fruitful year, in exploring and developing the Library's rôle in Haverford academic life and in finding new friends of the Library in the Haverford community. I am indebted to the assistance and counsel of the Assistant Librarians, and to the good offices of the Library Associates, for their large share in making it so.

REPORT OF THE CURATOR OF THE QUAKER COLLECTION

Thirteen years ago the Quaker Collection of the Haverford College Library moved into its present quarters in the then new Treasure Room. For the first time Haverford's Quaker books and manuscripts, assembled from Roberts Hall, from the Quaker Alcove in the west wing of the old Library, and from the crowded shelves of the old stack, took shape in a tangible "Friends Library." In the years since 1942, as in the decades since Sewel's History and Fox's Journal received accession numbers 1 and 2 in the Haverford Library of 1833, the Quaker books have formed an integral element in the College Library as a whole, just as Quakerism has through the years been part of the essence of education at Haverford.

This year perhaps, rather than giving the usual resumé of books received and work done, it is time to look at the Quaker Collection's history and prospects, to evaluate its past services to the College, to the Society of Friends, and to scholarship, and to try to project something of its future.

Statistics alone provide an impressive picture of size and growth. Of the first seven books which came to the Library in 1833, the gift of Elizabeth Pearsall, six were Quaker books. When the Library moved out of its little room in Founders Hall in 1864 to "Alumni Hall," now the North Wing of the old Library, it contained altogether only a little more than 3000 volumes. Even in Rufus Jones's undergraduate days the whole College Library had fewer books than now make up the Quaker Collection alone. In 1919, just before Allen C. Thomas retired as Librarian, he had collected over 7000 Quaker volumes, and to these Professor Rayner W. Kelsey added many more. When the Treasure Room opened in 1942 we had 12,000 Quaker books. Now over 15,000 swell the shelves of the Treasure Room and its annexes. And these include only the books specifically classified as "Quaker," not the many volumes of Quaker interest — from John Gummere's Surveying, to Herbert Hoover's speeches and Isaac Sharples' histories of Pennsylvania which, because the Quaker Collection and the Library are one, find themselves in appropriate places on the shelves of the Library proper.

In the Treasure Room itself we have more than 400 books relating to George Fox, 550 books by or about William Penn, 1600 seventeenth-century Quaker tracts in the William H. Jenks Collection, and hundreds more from other sources which illuminate the story of Quakerism. Rare books from the libraries of other Quaker collectors now grace our shelves, memorializing such names as Phineas and James Pemberton, Thomas Chalkley, Anthony Benezet, Moses Brown, Joseph John Gurney, J. Bevan Braithwaite, Charles Roberts, Amelia Mott Gummere, Francis R. Taylor, Francis J. Stokes, Walter C. Janney, and many others.

In terms of subject matter I suppose the Quaker "Journals" — spiritual autobiographies we should call them now — probably predominate. But the range of subject headings in the Quaker Collection is enormous, from "Associations" and "Almanacs," through "Inward Light," to "Women," "Worship," and the "Young Friends Movement."

Haverford has treasures from Penn's own library, books which Fox once owned, inscribed copies of Whittier's poems, and — the gift of a devoted former graduate student — the complete writings of Rufus Jones: fifty-seven volumes which he wrote himself; two hundred more to which he contributed; and hundreds of his periodical articles. Side by side with the Quaker books, and supplementing them, is Rufus Jones's outstanding collection of nearly 1100 books on Mysticism. The Treasure Room also houses, of course, the William P. Philips Collection of Renaissance classics, and the J. Rendel Harris Collection of Oriental Manuscripts. Our "Quaker Fiction" Collection, some 485 novels and stories in which Friends appear, is unique, and we have 361 volumes of Anti-Quakeriana.

To the Quaker books, printed minutes of Yearly Meetings the world over, and Quaker periodicals, we must add some 41,000 manuscripts of Quaker interest: parchment deeds to Pennsylvania land, signed and sealed by William Penn; letters and documents written by Fox, Woolman, Gurney, Hicks, Whittier, and the Quaker great and near-great; family collections of more than family interest, such as the Drinker Collection of letters of the Quaker Exiles to Virginia, and the Haddon-Estaugh-Hopkins Collection relating to early nineteenth-century New Jersey; and holograph journals of Friends ministers such as William Savery and Joseph Hoag. Most important in terms of sheer bulk, and perhaps at some future day in historical interest, are the manuscript archives of the American Friends Service Committee. Nor should we fail to mention our large collection of Haverfordiana — diaries, letters, and records relating to College life and College history through the decades. There are even some items of Quaker interest among the 20,000 pieces in the Charles Roberts Autograph Collection.

Haverford preserves all these books and documents for one purpose — that they may be of use to the College, to the community, to the Society of Friends, and to scholarship. The Quaker Collection provides reference and source material for College courses in various departments: Philosophy, History, Literature, Sociology, Political Science — even Economics when the books are written by Quaker economists or show the Quaker point of view toward economic phenomena. The Collection is the major source for the course in the History and Philosophy of Quakerism which President Emeritus William W. Comfort gave for many years and which Henry J. Cadbury now teaches. People from Haverford Meeting and the Main Line community use the Quaker Collection too, and last year — a typical year — we had inquiries by mail from forty-nine persons from twenty states and three foreign countries. Every year scholars come here from this country and abroad to use the Quaker Collection themselves, thirty during the year 1954-55. Haverford, together with the Friends Historical Library at Swarthmore, provides the most important reference source of American Quakerism in the country, and has a collection second only to that in Friends House in London for Quakerism everywhere.

From this library William Comfort wrote his biographical studies on William Penn; Rufus Jones, Isaac Sharpless, Amelia Gummere and Allen Thomas their historical studies of American Quakerism; and a steady stream of writers of monographs on subjects such as Quakers and slavery, Friends and Indians, Friends and Methodism, and the work of the American Friends Service Committee, have done their major research at Haverford. In 1950 Harry Emerson Fosdick worked here on his Rufus Jones Speaks to Our Time; currently Elizabeth Gray Vining is using our books and papers of Rufus Jones for a full-length biography of Haverford's great teacher and Quaker Leader.

If this is the Quaker Collection's past, what of the future? What may we expect to happen to the Collection in years to come, and how shall we care for it? Certainly we can expect growth. New Quaker books appear currently at the rate of about fifty to seventy-five titles a year; pamphlets to more than twice that number. Over seventy-five Quaker periodicals now come out regularly in this country and elsewhere. All these we must buy, catalogue, and make available for present users, and preserve for students in the future. Many old Quaker titles remain to be assembled, either in their costly original form or in inexpensive photostat or microfilm copies. Quaker families should especially remember Haverford when homes and libraries are broken up, and should see that all their Quaker books and letters of historical value are placed in the Quaker Collection. The Service Committee archives will also grow as the Committee finds new opportunities for putting the Quaker spirit into practice.

Our duty, therefore, is clear. We must keep and maintain the Quaker Collection as the core of Haverford's Quaker heritage. We must support it with donations of books and manuscripts, and with funds to maintain them. And we must, as need arises, expand the space devoted to Friends books and Quaker services at Haverford. Already we anticipate the need for an archives building comparable in size to the splendid quarters which we now have for Quaker books. In doing these things we shall serve Haverford as her staff and her sons have served the College in the past, and Haverford will continue to be a vital element in the Christian witness of the Society of Friends.

TO THE BOARD OF MANAGERS AND THE CORPORATION:

Your Treasurer takes pleasure in submitting herewith his annual report for the year ending August 31st, 1955, duly audited by Lawrence E. Brown and Company.

In line with general business trends this years' report shows considerably increased income — and considerably increased expenses. It does not appear easy to separate the former from the latter. Of our total income 49% was contributed by endowment funds or funds held in trust for the benefit of the college. This is the largest percentage contribution from endowment since 1931. Income from college sources remained at practically the same amount as last year, but there was a substantial increase in corporate and foundation gifts for general budget purposes, due largely to the valiant and persistent efforts of our president.

It might be timely to point out the difficulty of predicting for budget purposes a year or more in advance the income from invested funds. If in drawing up the budget, we count on a "safe" rate of return, say $4 - \frac{1}{2}\%$ or $4 - \frac{3}{4}\%$ on book value, then it is likely that the budget will be either understated in order to balance or will show a deficit. On the other hand if the rate of return is too high, a business recession with consequent decline in dividends could create a serious deficit at the end of the year. It is for these reasons that I would re-emphasize the importance of an income reserve fund. This year we were able to place in that fund \$21,087.90 representing the operating surplus for the year.

There are two other methods of conserving principal which the college is following, one of them is the direct transfer of a percentage of income to principal; and the other, not as evident, is the crediting of stock dividends, paid from surplus, and not stock splits, to the reduction of book value. As a matter of interest, during this past year, over $30,000 of stock dividends were so treated.

All of the funds bequeathed to us several years ago have now been received. The book value of the combined funds was on August 31st, 1955, $10,621,198.51. The market value of all of these funds was on that same date $15,798,203.36. The overall rate of return on book value was 5.98% and on market value 4.01%. These are figures in which we can take some pleasure.

The Finance Committee claims neither omniscience, clairvoyance nor infallibility and it is not too much concerned with the daily fluctuations of the market, for our investments are regarded rather as long term commitments than short term profit makers. However, it seemed judicious to take advantage of the high prices to some extent, with a resulting capital gains realization of $204,524.99.

The income from the two Funds required to be reported upon annually, the John Farnum Fund and the John Farnum Brown Fund was used as usual for the purposes specified.

I am appending this year the audited statement of the Building fund only as far as June 9th, 1955.

Respectfully submitted,

Treasurer

Board of Managers
The Corporation of Haverford College
Haverford, Penna.

Dear Sirs:

We have examined the statement of receipts and expenditures and the operating statement for the fiscal year ended 8th Month 31, 1955, as set forth in the annual report of the Treasurer and Comptroller of The Corporation of Haverford College.

Our examination comprised the verification of the receipts and expenditures of the Treasurer and Comptroller for the year; the reconciliation of the cash balance at 8th March 31, 1955 with the balance on deposit in bank; and the examination of the securities held by the Provident Trust Company and Fidelity-Philadelphia Trust Company as fiscal agents for the Corporation.

We also made an examination of the Haverford College Building Program Balance Sheet as at June 9, 1955 and the Statement of Income and Expenses for the period November 1, 1952 to June 9, 1955.

In our opinion, the annual report of the Treasurer and Comptroller correctly sets forth the results of the operations of The Corporation of Haverford College for the fiscal year ended 8th Month 31, 1955, in conformity with generally accepted accounting Principles applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

Very truly yours,

LAWRENCE E. BROWN & CO.
Certified Public Accountants.

HAVERFORD IMPROVEMENT FUND AND CONSOLIDATED CAMPUS HOUSES ACCOUNT

undivided interest of $19,000. There was added in 1922, $9,000; and in 1925, $2,000. In 1926, $5,000 of this fund was sold and the proceeds were appropriated for the alterations to Roberts Hall. The balance of this fund, $25,000, was also used in 1927 for the same purpose. The income was used for general college purposes.

The College Lane land was purchased in 1886 for the benefit of the College by David Scull, Justus C. Strawbridge, Richard Wood and Francis Stokes, Managers of the College and now all deceased. With contributions raised by them and by mortgages on which they went on the bonds, funds were raised to build six dwelling houses, and two houses were built by the Corporation itself. From the income of the houses the debt against the properties was gradually reduced until it was entirely liquidated in 1919. The net income from 1919 until 1922, when the property was turned over to the Corporation, was applied toward the reduction of the Corporation's debt.

As of Ninth Month 1, 1944, all of these eight College Lane houses, together with seven houses which had been bought for the College and formed a part of the College debt, and nine other Campus houses which were owned free of debt, were consolidated at a combined valuation of $281,331.70 into a new Campus Houses Account held by Consolidated Investment Account. There have been additional investments in other College houses from time to time and the present book value is $396,553.51. A return of 4% interest is to be credited to income to the College and 1% is to be applied to the annual reduction of the investment.

With the donor's approval, the terms of the fund are as follows:

"Founded in 1944 to commemorate the service to Haverford College of Dr. Elihu Grant, from 1917 to 1938, a member of the College faculty. The income from this fund is applied to scholarship assistance to students in the Humanities, primarily those specializing in the study of Biblical Literature and Oriental subjects, and is limited to those whose major subject has been approved by the College faculty. In special circumstances the income may be utilized to assist those working for a post-graduate degree at Haverford College." If conditions change, the Managers are given power to change the use of the fund. In making the additional grant in 1949-50, the Foundation stated that "the income from this present gift may be allocated as scholarship or fellowship awards by the proper authorities of the College to under graduate or graduate students without restriction as to courses of studies." Present book value, $40,275.01.

The donor's provisions governing the use of the fund are as follows: "With this stock, or its proceeds, I wish to establish a fund for a scholarship primarily for a graduate of Moses Brown School, Providence, R. I., now under the care of New England Yearly Meeting of Friends. Should the scholarship not be awarded in any one year to a graduate of Moses Brown School, it may be awarded to someone else, preferably from New England, in the discretion of the College. If advisable, it may be given to more than one boy in any year. My preference is that it be awarded to a member of the Society of Friends, but I do not so restrict it. Should the time come when, for any reason, scholarships may not be needed or desirable, having full confidence in the Management of the College, I wish that both the principal and the income be used as the College in its sole discretion shall determine.

"I suggest that at the College it be known as the 'Moses Brown School Scholarship', and at the School as the 'Haverford Scholarship'." A further gift of $4,985.00 was made in 1949-50 and $2,715 in 1950-51 (through 1949 campaign). Present book value, $10,000.

The income from this fund is to be awarded as a scholarship by the College to a deserving student. 1949 CAMPAIGN SCHOLARSHIP FUND

Founded Sept. 1, 1950 by a transfer of $38,610.00 from the receipts of the 1949 Haverford Campaign for additional endowment.

The income is to be used to increase funds available for scholarships, in order to maintain the quality and increase the diversity of the student body and to carry on the tradition that personal merit rather than ability to pay is the primary entrance qualification.

Until otherwise ordered by the Board, 10% of the income is to be capitalized each year; provided that this shall not reduce the yield from the fund below 4%.

A portion of the Capital of this fund may be expended at the discretion of the Board of Managers in accordance with the policy stated in the Campaign Appeal. Present book value, $47,722.19.

MAX LEUCHTER SCHOLARSHIP FUND

The plan for this fund was evolved during the life of Max Leuchter, who died in 1949, and carried out upon his death by his wife Cecila P. Leuchter and his sons, Ben Z. Leuchter and Joel C. Leuchter. Self educated after completion of grade school, becoming editor and publisher of the Vineland Times Journal, Max Leuchter wished to benefit the College to which he sent his son, and which he had come to greatly admire.

The purpose of the donors in making this gift in 1950 of $10,000.00 was to "create a scholarship which shall be given yearly to a student whose need can be demonstrated, whose academic performance meets the College requirements, and who, in addition, gives promise of making an outstanding contribution to the life of the College through his breadth of interest, his love of hard play and of hard work."

The scholarship shall be in the amount of $300.00 in the beginning. It may be given to a new student each year or to one student through each of his four years. All income received above $300.00 shall be capitalized each year.

"When the income from the fund has reached proportions such that an additional scholarship of $300.00 can be awarded, and that at the same time at least $300.00 can be returned to the fund, the additional award shall then be made."

"It is the further wish of the donors that, while their interests are primarily as stated above, should the Board of Managers of the College be faced with circumstances which cannot be foreseen now, the Board may, at its discretion, use the income from the fund for College purposes other than the scholarship purposes." The present book value is $12,055.52.

A. CLEMENT WILD SCHOLARSHIP FUND

In making the gift the donor, though reiterating the freedom from restrictions, expressed the feeling that as A. Clement Wild was born in England, becoming a naturalized American Citizen, a grant to an English Exchange Student or someone in a similar category would be appropriate. Increased by $4,625.00 in 1951-52, $4,300.00 in 1952-53, in 1953-54 $4,100.00 and in 1954-55 $5,300.00. The present book value is $22,412.50.

individuals as in the judgment of the Trustees of said College shall be deserving of the same. The Trustees of said College shall have full power and discretion to determine the number of scholarships, the amount of such scholarships, and the recipients of the same, but it is my desire that wherever possible preference shall be given to boys who have no father and who are in need of financial assistance." Fridenberg of Philadelphia, co-trustees under the will of Eugenie Bucky, deceased (late of New York), the income only to be used. At the same time accumulated income of $2,000.00 was also donated as Bucky Foundation Gift, this amount to be available for use for the same purposes as the income of the Foundation. Extracts from Mrs. Bucky's will and codicils in reference to the purposes of the Bucky Foundation are here made as follows:

"The purpose or object of such a Foundation or Fund is and shall be for the encouragement of them who seek new truths, and who endeavor to free and clear from mystery and confusion our knowledge concerning God¹; and thereby to enforce more effectively the common laws of mutual love and obligation, peace and goodwill, between and among our several creeds, races, nations, and markets.²

"My aim, intention, purpose and object is to help in promoting piety among men, enlightening their ignorance and bettering their condition, by making more and more extensive and by spreading among the public at large not only the preaching but also the practicing of the words of the . . . American motto 'In God We Trust,' and of the . . . Preamble to the Constitution for the United States of America. I believe and therefore I aim, intend and purpose that the uplifting of men, women and children to the standard of life taught in the Scriptures and the Constitution for the United States of America is indeed the work of Charity, dispels ignorance, inculcates generous and patriotic sentiments, and fits the public groups and the individual men or women for their good usefulness in the American Commonwealth."

1. Associated with the American motto "In God We Trust."

2. Associated with the Preamble of the Constitution for the United States of America—"to form a more perfect union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, provide the common defense, promote the public welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity."

The Mathematics Department Prizes for freshmen, $50.00, are awarded annually, in competition, by examination. Present book value, $1,452.41.

WILLIAM T. ELKINTON FUND

The principal was $2,491.50 and income received, $11.11, a total of $2,502.61. After the death of a life beneficiary, the Trust provided: "to pay over, assign and transfer one of said equal parts unto the Corporation of Haverford College (a corporation of the State of Pennsylvania); the principal fund thus passing to said Corporation to constitute a part of such endowment as may be established at Haverford College as a fitting memorial of Friends' relief work abroad, which memorial 'should foster the peaceful relations of the United States with foreign countries by acquainting our youth with the principles of European governments and with international problems'; provided however, that if no such Endowment should be established at Haverford College prior to the expiration of one year after the principal of the Fund hereby conveyed becomes distributable under the provisions of this deed, the said one-third part of the fund hereby conveyed shall be devoted by the Corporation of Haverford College for such other purpose as the Trustees acting hereunder, their survivor or successor, shall designate, preferably for the furtherance of education in some form at Haverford College or for providing assistance in the form of scholarships to promote education."

In accordance with a suggestion from President Morley, concurred in by Thomas W. Elkinton representing the Trustees, the Managers voted on Ninth Month 22, 1944, that "the income until otherwise directed, is to be used for traveling and other expenses in the attendance at intercollegiate conferences for discussion of international problems by representatives of the International Relations Club at Haverford." The Trustee further stated "as long as the activities of the Club are closely related to 'acquainting our youth with the principles of European governments and with international problems,' the use of the income by the Club would be satisfactory."

In 1948-1949 a further gift of $100 was received from Miss Mildred W. Lee, sister of Edmund J. Lee.

"The proceeds from the invested fund shall be used to establish an annual award to be known as the Edmund J. If, however, at the expiration of twenty-five years the Board of Managers deems it advisable to use the income, or if necessary the principal, of the Fund for other purposes, it shall be free to do so." A further gift was made in 1952-53 of $500. Present book value is $14,043.62.

Haverford College Bulletin

VOLUME LIV

NUMBER THREE

January, 1956

Haverford College was founded in 1833 as the first college established by members of the Society of Friends in the United States. Wherever the first Quaker settlers set up their meetings for worship, they also opened schools, but because Friends have no ordained ministry or priesthood set apart from secular life, they made in the beginning no provision for institutions of higher learning. With the expansion of science and learning in the early nineteenth century, however, the need for advanced training was felt by the Friends as it was by the many other religious groups in America which founded colleges in that era. A tragic separation in American Quakerism in 1827-28 brought this need sharply to the attention of certain leaders of the "Orthodox" Quaker body in Philadelphia and New York. They organized Haverford, therefore, as an institution which would provide an "enlarged and liberal system of instruction" to meet the intellectual needs of "Friends on this continent," offering a course of instruction in science, mathematics, and classical languages "as extensive as given in any literary institution in this country." In religion, morals, and manners, the students who attended Haverford were, in the Quaker phrase of the day, to receive a "guarded" education, but their training was to be "equal in all respects to that which can be obtained in colleges." Haverford College in those days was modestly called Haverford School, but the intent was clear to create an intellectual center that would give to Friends the kind of education which other young Americans were receiving in the best colleges.

The choice of the site of Haverford College exercised its founders for three years; it was settled by the purchase of 198 acres of rolling farmland in the center of the Welsh Tract, a large area originally set apart by William Penn for Quaker immigrants from Wales. The region still bears the native place-names of its settlers, of which Haverford is one. The site was propitious. Today the College campus (increased to 216 acres) is a beautiful area of fields and woodlands, although the Philadelphia suburbs have spread out along the Main Line to Haverford and beyond. What had been fields grew into a graceful sweep of lawns, distinguished by trees and by planting reminiscent of an English garden. This was the contribution of William Carvill, an English landscape gardener whose careful planting gave Haverford a campus of great charm.

During the first forty years of the College's existence, Founders Hall, the original building, Alumni Hall, which is now incorporated in the Library, and an Astronomical Observatory comprised the major part of the physical plant. Throughout this era Haverford men were proving by their effectiveness in their communities the soundness of the principles on which the College had been founded. In 1847 Haverford opened its doors to young men who were not members of the Society of Friends, and in 1856 it became a degree-granting institution, with a tradition of high scholarship which has continued unshaken. At the same time it has adhered to its Quaker traditions of simplicity of living and enlightened interest in social issues.

An era of progress began in 1874 under the presidency of Thomas Chase. He and his brother, Professor Pliny Earle Chase, brought the institution to full academic stature, and strengthened its endowment. In this period a number of new buildings were erected, notably Barclay Hall, which, as the principal dormitory, became the center of student life.

President Isaac Sharpless, 1887-1917, led Haverford College into the forefront of American collegiate institutions. His many-sided genius enabled him to gather and hold together a faculty of extraordinary capacity. In his regime, and the years immediately following, modern dormitories and classrooms, well-equipped laboratories for Chemistry, Physics, Biology, and Engineering were added to the growing assembly of buildings. The Gymnasium was erected in 1900; Roberts Hall, containing administrative offices and a large auditorium, in 1903. The Haverford Union, used for many College activities, dates from 1910; the Morris Infirmary from 1912. A modern Observatory was built in 1933, and a modern addition to the Library was completed in 1941.

As the College enrollment has grown in recent years, the need for residences in which men of like tastes and interests might have more intimate associations has been met by the establishment of a Spanish House and a French House, each with a resident director. In these specialized student residences the occupants have the advantages of group life without social discrimination of a fraternity system.

The original fund of $60,000 raised when the College was started has been increased by generous bequests and donations to more than $8,300,000. This endowment enables the College to maintain a superior faculty of unusual size in proportion to the number of students. Student enrollment is limited in order that teaching may continue on the basis of personal acquaintance in a unified community, as it has throughout the history of Haverford College.

Haverford Station on the Pennsylvania Railroad, between Bryn Mawr and Ardmore, is twenty minutes from downtown Philadelphia. The campus fronts on the famous Lancaster Pike (U. S. 30). It is approximately two hours train journey from Haverford to New York or Baltimore and less than three hours to Washington. Philadelphia's Orchestra, its museums and libraries, its scientific laboratories and industrial plants are all easily accessible to Haverford students, who can make full use of the cultural opportunities of a city while enjoying the beauty of a college campus in a quiet suburban setting.

Alumni Directory

A MESSAGE FROM THE ACTING PRESIDENT OF HAVERFORD COLLEGE

I am glad that the Alumni Association's Centennial Celebration has provided the occasion for issuing another Alumni Directory. The gap of seven years since the 1949 directory is short compared with the intervals which occurred in the past.

But still, much has happened to Haverford and much has happened to all of you during the last seven years. I hope that the progress of your affairs and of your life has matched that of Haverford. I feel this especially because the College has much for which we can be grateful — not only material improvements, but the continuing faithful service of the faculty and the many acts and expressions of support and devotion from alumni, parents, and friends outside the College community.

In the course of planning and carrying out several common projects during the last few years, many of us have found that we are in closer touch not only with the men of our own day, but with older and younger alumni and with present-day students. This widening circle of Haverfordians is one of the enduring sources of pleasure over the years. The Alumni Directory will help us maintain and increase these contacts.

The interesting and extensive contributions Haverfordians are making in their occupations and worthwhile activities in this country and abroad are suggested in the occupational and geographical listings of alumni.

Still another anticipated use of an up-to-date Directory of Alumni is the ease with which prospective applicants can locate Haverfordians in their communities for questions and discussions of what Haverford has to offer. Applicants can even pick their man by profession, if they care to, and pin-point him on the map!

Yours for a good start on our second century!

Archibald MacIntosh

FOREWORD

This edition of the Alumni Directory, published in the centenary year of the Haverford Alumni Association, supersedes the Matriculate Catalogs of 1900 and 1922 and the Alumni Directory of 1949. It includes four main sections:

1. Alphabetical List
2. Class List
3. Geographical List
4. Professional List

To these have been added three further lists, of (a) recipients of Haverford honorary degrees, (b) alumni who attended Haverford as graduate students but not as undergraduates, and (c) members of the graduating class of 1956.

Each alumnus has been asked to supply information for, or to verify, his listing. Where replies have not been received we have drawn on the best information available, from the Alumni Office and the Registrar's Office of the College. In some instances this information has proved incomplete or impossible to verify; if in other cases the College records prove to have been inaccurate, we apologize in advance for the resultant errors in this Directory.

Working with the information at hand, we have aimed to abide by the following principles consistently:

1. Alphabetical and Class Lists: All students (unless no longer living) who have attended Haverford at any time should appear in these Lists, in accordance with information received either from the alumni or from our files.

2. Geographical List: For this listing we have used the address which appears to be the most permanent for mailing purposes — though the List as a result follows sometimes the residence and sometimes the business address.

3. Professional List: We have not included in this List the names of alumni from whom we have received no questionnaire-response, not knowing how they would wish to be listed. Where an alumnus has listed more than one occupation, we have listed his name under the occupation which seems most inclusive. Graduate students in the liberal arts have not been included in this List, since their professional classification cannot be foreseen at this time.

Finally it should be observed that, since the publication-schedule of this Directory has extended over five months, no changes could be made on the basis of information received after February 1, 1956.

We are indebted for this publication to Aldo Caselli and his competent staff for collecting and organizing the data, and to John A. Lester, Jr., for editing the entries and correcting the proof.

ALPHABETICAL LIST

This listing indicates after each alumnus' name (1) the class of which he is a member, (2) Haverford degrees received, in parentheses, and (3) degrees received at other institutions. (r) indicates residence address and (b) business address. Professions are indicated in italics.

THE COLLEGE PROGRAM

HAVERFORD COLLEGE

AS A QUAKER COLLEGE, Haverford stresses in its educational policy the importance of personal and social ideals. In the past, this concern has been expressed through Fifth Day Meeting and Collection, rather than in any formal way in the requirements for the degree. Recent changes in faculty policy, however, have put a heavier emphasis on philosophic and evaluative courses within the academic curriculum itself. The College is not satisfied with scholarship and intellectual expertness alone, though it values highly these qualities; in its new plans, Haverford will stress increasingly the importance of sound ethical judgment based upon clear perception of individual and social aims.

In its curricular work, Haverford insists on a high standard of achievement. The College's selective admissions policy brings together a varied group of promising young men in each Freshman class. A reasonably high aptitude for academic work is an essential prerequisite, but selection is made also with qualities of personality and character in mind. In its strictly academic work, the College stresses intellectual integrity, independence of judgment, the imaginative grasp of interrelationships, and the capacity to do independent work. Mastery of facts and of the techniques of research is always important, but even more so is the desire and moral capacity to use these skills for worthwhile ends.

Haverford believes that desirable qualities can be cultivated in the classroom and laboratory but that this process can be supplemented and strengthened by a sound program of student government and extracurricular activities. The non-academic program is calculated to encourage growth in a sense of responsibility for constructive community service, in the appreciation of beauty, and in certain creative skills not properly included in the curriculum itself. The meditative silence of Fifth Day Meeting continues, as always, to make an important contribution to the spiritual development of Haverford men.

From the beginning these aims have been important in Haverford's educational program; the changes now in effect are intended to increase their importance in the curricular work of the College.

History

HAVERFORD COLLEGE was founded in 1833 as the first college established by members of the Society of Friends in the United States. Wherever the first Quaker settlers set up their meetings for worship, they also opened schools, but because Friends have no ordained ministry or priesthood set apart from secular life, they made in the beginning no provision for institutions of higher learning. With the expansion of science and learning in the early nineteenth century, however, the need for advanced training was felt by the Friends as it was by the many other religious groups in America which founded colleges in that era. A tragic separation in American Quakerism in 1827-28 brought this need sharply to the attention of certain leaders of the "Orthodox" Quaker body in Philadelphia and New York. They organized Haverford, therefore, as an institution which would provide an "enlarged and liberal system of instruction" to meet the intellectual needs of "Friends on this continent," offering a course of instruction in science, mathematics, and classical languages "as extensive as given in any literary institution in this country." In religion, morals, and manners, the students who attended Haverford were, in the Quaker phrase of the day, to receive a "guarded" education, but their training was to be "equal in all respects to that which can be obtained in colleges." Haverford College in those days was modestly called Haverford School, but the intent was clear to create an intellectual center that would give to Friends the kind of education which other young Americans were receiving in the best colleges.

The choice of the site of Haverford College exercised its founders for three years; it was settled by the purchase of 198 acres of rolling farmland in the center of the Welsh Tract, a large area originally set apart by William Penn for Quaker immigrants from Wales. The region still bears the native place-names of its settlers, of which Haverford is one. The site was propitious. Today the College campus (increased to 216 acres) is a beautiful area of fields and woodlands, although the Philadelphia suburbs have spread out along the Main Line to Haverford and beyond. What had been fields grew into a graceful sweep of lawns, distinguished by trees and by planting reminiscent of an English garden. This was the contribution of William Carvill, an English landscape gardener whose careful planting gave Haverford a campus of great charm.

During the first forty years of the College's existence, Founders Hall, the original building, Alumni Hall, which is now incorporated in the Library, and an Astronomical Observatory comprised the major part of the physical plant. Throughout this era Haverford men were proving by their effectiveness in their communities the soundness of the principles on which the College had been founded. In 1847 Haverford opened its doors to young men who were not members of the Society of Friends, and in 1856 it became a degree-granting institution, with a tradition of high scholarship which has continued unshaken. At the same time it has adhered to its Quaker traditions of simplicity of living and enlightened interest in social issues.

An era of progress began in 1874 under the presidency of Thomas Chase. He and his brother, Professor Pliny Earle Chase, brought the institution to full academic stature, and strengthened its endowment. In this period a number of new buildings were erected, notably Barclay Hall, which, as the principal dormitory, became the center of student life.

President Isaac Sharpless, 1887-1917, led Haverford College into the forefront of American collegiate institutions. His many-sided genius enabled him to gather and hold together a faculty of extraordinary capacity. In his regime, and the years immediately following, modern dormitories and classrooms, well-equipped laboratories for Chemistry, Physics, Biology, and Engineering were added to the growing assembly of buildings. The Gymnasium was erected in 1900; Roberts Hall, containing administrative offices and a large auditorium, in 1903. The Haverford Union, used for many College activities, dates from 1910; the Morris Infirmary from 1912. The first section of a new dormitory, Lloyd Hall, was started in 1899. By 1926 three other sections had been added. Consisting of suites with common living room and single or double bedrooms, Lloyd Hall set a new pattern for living arrangements at Haverford, in which both privacy and group living were possible. A modern Observatory was built in 1933, and a modern addition to the Library was completed in 1941.

As the College enrollment has grown in recent years, the need for residences in which men of like tastes and interests might have more intimate associations has been met by the establishment of a Spanish House and a French House, each with a resident director. In these specialized student residences the occupants have the advantages of group life without social discrimination of a fraternity system.

In the Fall of 1955, Morris E. Leeds Hall was ready to house 52 students in living arrangements similar to those in Lloyd. Old Merion Hall and Annex were then converted into a faculty apartment house.

The original fund of $60,000 raised when the College was started has been increased by generous bequests and donations to more than $10,000,000. This endowment enables the College to maintain a superior faculty of unusual size in proportion to the number of students. Student enrollment is limited to approximately 450 in order that teaching may continue on the basis of personal acquaintance in a unified community, as it has throughout the history of Haverford College.

Haverford Station on the Pennsylvania Railroad, between Bryn Mawr and Ardmore, is twenty minutes from downtown Philadelphia. The campus fronts on the famous Lancaster Pike (U. S. 30). It is approximately two hours train journey from Haverford to New York or Baltimore and less than three hours to Washington. Philadelphia's Orchestra, its museums and libraries, its scientific laboratories and industrial plants are all easily accessible to Haverford students who can make full use of the cultural opportunities of a city while enjoying the beauty of a college campus in a quiet suburban setting.

Admission

THE POLICY of Haverford College is to admit to the Freshman class those applicants who, in the opinion of the Committee on Admissions, are best qualified to profit by the opportunities which the College offers and at the same time to contribute to undergraduate life. Due regard is given not only to scholarly attainment, as shown by examination and by school record, but also to character, personality, and interest and ability in important extra-curricular activities.

Whenever practicable, the College will arrange for the candidate to have a personal interview with the Director of Admissions or another administrative officer. Every applicant should realize that, in view of the limited enrollment, he is entering a competition for admission to a carefully selected and comparatively small student organization. On the basis of all information available — College Board reports, school record, class standing, evidence touching on character and personality — the application will be accepted or rejected, and the decision of the Committee on Admissions is final. Preference will be given to those with superior records and credentials rather than to those with mere priority of application.

Students who are accepted will be admitted without conditions. Those who, on entrance, show marked proficiency in certain subjects will be permitted to take courses usually not open to Freshmen; in such cases, however, the number of courses required for a degree will not be diminished.

Each applicant for admission must take the Scholastic Aptitude Test and three Achievement Tests of the College Entrance Examination Board. The English Achievement Test is required, but a candidate may choose the other two tests. If there is any doubt about the choice of the two tests, he should consult the Director of Admissions. Applications involving divergence from the normal procedure must be discussed in detail with the Director of Admissions. In addition, the applicant must obtain blank forms from the College, on which he must submit his school record and a certificate of character signed by his school principal. The school certificate must show satisfactory attainment in 15 units* of work.

* A unit represents a year's study in any subject in a secondary school, constituting approximately a quarter of a full year's work. A four years' secondary school curriculum should be regarded as representing not more than 16 units of work.

The preparatory course must include four years of English, at least a year and a half of Algebra and one year of Geometry, and three years of a foreign language. Cases involving divergence from the requirements should be discussed with the Director of Admissions. The remaining units will be drawn from laboratory science, social science, history, and additional mathematics and language.

A candidate may offer an elective in a subject not usually listed, provided he shows proficiency which indicates an amount of study and intellectual effort commensurate with that required in other subjects. The subject chosen must have the approval of the Admissions Committee.

In addition, at the March, 1957, series only, Achievement Tests in Greek Reading and Italian Reading will be offered, but only to candidates who register in advance specifically for these tests.

The schedule permits a candidate to take the morning Scholastic Aptitude Test and a maximum of three of the afternoon Achievement Tests.

Copies of the Bulletin of Information may be obtained without charge from the College Entrance Examination Board. The Bulletin contains rules regarding applications, fees, and reports; rules for the conduct of the tests, advice to candidates, descriptions of the tests, sample questions, and lists of examination centers.

Candidates should make application by mail to the College Entrance Examination Board. Students who wish to take the examinations in any of the following States, territories, or foreign areas should address their inquiries and send their applications to College Entrance Examination Board, P. O. Box 27896, Los Feliz Station, Los Angeles 27, California:

Arizona	New Mexico	Territory of Hawaii
California	Oregon	Province of Alberta
Colorado	Utah	Province of British Columbia
Idaho	Washington	Republic of Mexico
Montana	Wyoming	Australia
Nevada	Territory of Alaska	Pacific Islands, including Japan and Formosa

Candidates applying for examination in any State or foreign area not given above should write to College Entrance Examination Board, P. O. Box 592, Princeton, New Jersey.

Haverford prefers that its candidates take the March series of College Board examinations, but it will accept the December series if a candidate wishes to take them at that time.

Application forms will be sent to any candidate upon request. When ordering the forms candidates must state whether they wish applications for the December, January, February, March, May or August tests. Application forms for the December tests will be available early in the fall; those for the January and February tests will be ready for distribution about November 1st, those for the March series, about January 9th; forms for the other two series will be available immediately after the preceding series has been held. A copy of the Bulletin of Information is routinely sent to every candidate requesting an application blank.

Each application submitted for registration must be accompanied by the examination fee. A detailed schedule of fees follows:

Scholastic Aptitude Test	$6.00
One, two or three hours of afternoon tests	8.00

There is no reduced fee for those taking morning and afternoon tests at one administration.

All applications and fees should reach the appropriate office of the Board not later than the dates specified below:

Date of Tests	For examination centers located
	in the United States, Canada, Alaska, Hawaii, the Canal Zone, Mexico, or the West Indies	in Europe, Asia, Africa, Central and South America, and Australia
December 1, 1956	November 10	October 13
January 12, 1957	December 15	November 24
February 16, 1957	January 26	December 29
March 16, 1957	February 23	January 26
May 18, 1957	April 27	March 30
August 14, 1957	July 24	June 26

Applications received after these closing dates will be subject to a penalty of three dollars in addition to the regular fee.

Candidates are urged to send in their applications and fees as early as possible, preferably at least several weeks before the closing date, since early registration allows time to clear up possible irregularities which might otherwise delay the issue of reports. Under no circumstances will an application be accepted if it is received at either of the Board offices later than one week prior to the date of the examination. No candidate will be permitted to register with the supervisor of an examination center at any time. Only properly registered candidates, holding tickets of admission to the centers at which they present themselves, will be admitted to the tests. Requests for transfer of examination center cannot be considered unless these reach the Board offices one week prior to the date of the examination or earlier.

The Board will report the results of the tests to the institutions indicated on the candidates' applications. The colleges will, in turn, notify the candidates of the action taken upon their applications for admission. Candidates will not receive reports upon their tests from the Board.

Advanced Standing

Since Haverford offers an integrated education, admission with advanced standing is ordinarily granted only in a limited number of cases. An undergraduate who comes from an approved college must submit an official statement of his honorable dismissal, together with a full list of his accepted preparatory subjects, and a list of all his college courses, with his record therein.

Financial Arrangements

Rooms

ENTERING FRESHMEN are assigned the rooms available after the other classes have made their choice. It is not always possible to meet the desire of Freshmen for the remaining rooms. The College assumes that a new student will accept any available room of approximately the same quality as the room for which a preference is expressed. New students will be notified of the rooms assigned to them by means of a list available in Roberts Hall. The choice of rooms by other students is governed by published rules.

A deposit of $35 is required of all new students at the time they are notified of their admission. A similar deposit is required also of those students who have not been in attendance at the College during the immediately preceding semester. This amount will be deducted from the bill for the following year. If the student fails to present himself at the beginning of the semester for which he has been enrolled, the deposit will be forfeited.

Students are expected to treat College property with the same consideration as their own. A student is held financially responsible for any damage to his room, and any damage wilfully done will be sufficient reason for requesting withdrawal from the College.

Expenses

The tuition charge for all regular students is $850.00 for the academic year. Tuition for special students is $125.00 per course, per semester. The board is $470.00, and room rent $250.00 per year. The Unit Fee is $85.00 per year. Charges are subject to alteration by the Board of Managers.

The room charges include heat, electric light, service, and the use of necessary bedroom furniture, i.e., a bureau, table, chair, study lamp, and a bed, the linen for which is furnished and laundered by the College. Students will supply their own study furniture, blankets, and towels.

The College requires that bills rendered August 15 and January 15 for the following semester's tuition, board, room, unit fee, and deposits be paid in full before the beginning of the semester.

In order to avoid last minute congestion, it is suggested that bills be paid by mail in advance. Upon receipt of payment, registration cards will be released by the Comptroller's Office to the Registrar, and students, except Freshmen or transfer students, need not report at the Office of the Comptroller.

The Unit Fee includes the following: Student activities fee, laboratory fees, health fee, accident insurance (a maximum of $500.00 within one year of each accident), diploma, and psychological tests when required by the College.

The College requires a $70.00 deposit to cover the cost of books and any other incidental charges which may arise during the school year. At intervals during the year, a bill for the actual charges made will be sent to the student. If this bill, or any other indebtedness, is not paid by the end of the semester, credits will not be granted for the work performed. Any unspent balance is refunded at the end of the academic year.

No reduction or refund of the tuition charge will be made after the first two weeks of any semester. If a student withdraws before the completion of the first two weeks, there will be a complete refund of his tuition. In case of illness or absence for any reason from the College, for four weeks or more, there will be a prorated refund of board. In case of withdrawals at any time, there will be no reduction of room rent for the semester unless the same room is re-rented, in which case the withdrawn occupant will receive the amount paid to the College by the new occupant. The unit fee cannot be refunded for any reason.

College Responsibility

The College is not responsible for loss due to fire, theft, or any other cause. Students who wish to cover the first risk may apply for information at the Office of the Comptroller.

Monthly Payments

Since some parents prefer to pay tuition and other fees in equal monthly instalments during the academic year, we are glad to offer the convenient TUITION PLAN. Various plans are available at the following costs:

- One Year Plan — 4% greater than the Cash Price
- Two Year Plan — 5% greater than the Cash Price
- Three Year Plan — 6% greater than the Cash Price
- Four Year Plan — 6% greater than the Cash Price

The 2, 3 and 4 year plans include Parent Life Insurance which provides funds for the cost of the remaining period of schooling, if the parent who has signed the contract dies.

THE TUITION PLAN is optional and intended solely as a convenience. Upon request forms will be sent for signature.

Student Loan Fund

For information apply at the Office of the Comptroller.

Student Aid

In addition to the Student Loan Fund and to scholarship help, the College offers students the opportunity to work at standard rates in the library and as clerical assistants to faculty and administrative officers of the College. Appointments are made from a list of eligible students prepared by Vice-President MacIntosh.

Scholarships

SCHOLARSHIPS are awarded on a basis of merit and individual need. While no scholarship is given for more than one year, it is the practice to continue the scholarship if a student's scholastic performance has been satisfactory and his need remains constant.

No scholarship will be given to a student who has a failure against him at the time of application.

No scholarship will be given to a student whose previous college bill has not been paid in full.

All preliminary correspondence and applications for undergraduate scholarships for 1957-1958, together with supporting letters from parents or guardians, should be in the hands of Vice-President MacIntosh before April 15, 1957.

It is assumed that requests for scholarships will not be made by those whose expenses can be met by their parents or from other sources.

CORPORATION AWARDS.—Four Corporation Scholars will be chosen in each class. In the senior, junior and sophomore classes the selection will be made on the basis of the highest general averages for the preceding year. In the freshman class the selection will be made after the May College Board Examinations (see page 24). Each man will be awarded $50.00 in books. No application for these awards is necessary.

"A two-year scholarship award for the Junior and Senior years, to be given to that student who is planning to embark upon a business career and who is judged by both students and faculty as an outstanding member of the Sophomore Class."

XLIV. THE UNION CARBIDE SCHOLARSHIPS.—Established in September 1955, by the Union Carbide and Carbon Corporation, four four-year scholarships which cover the cost of tuition, books and fees and which are available to students who are interested in careers in business or industry, research or teaching.

The General Scholarships

In addition to the endowed scholarships, a general scholarship fund is available. Awards from this fund will be made by the committee, the scholarships varying in size and number according to the need of the applicants.

Curriculum

General

HAVERFORD is a liberal arts college. Its curriculum is designed to develop in its students the capacity to learn and understand, and to make sound judgments based on knowledge and on thought. The requirements for the degree insure the exercise of these skills in each of the broad fields of human knowledge, and their subtler development in a single field of concentration.

Bachelor's Degree

To graduate from Haverford College a student must complete successfully four years of academic work and three years of Physical Education (part of which may be replaced by work in the Arts and Service Program). Credit for a year of academic work is given to a student who has taken five courses for each of two semesters with an average of at least 65 for the Freshman year, and at least 70 for each of the next three years. Among the courses taken, the student must include freshman English, the courses required for his Major Department, and, during the first three years, those required under the limited electives program (see below). He must also include Course 100 in his Major department during the second semester of the Senior year, at the end of which he must take the major examination in that department, and receive a grade of at least 70. The degree normally conferred upon all candidates meeting these requirements is that of Bachelor of Arts. Upon request by the candidate and approval by the department concerned, however, the Bachelor of Science degree will be granted to men majoring in Natural Science, Mathematics, or Engineering.

The award of Honors for work toward the Bachelor's degree is described on pages 121-122.

Limited Electives

To ensure breadth of distribution, every student is required to take a certain number of courses, as indicated in each of four groups. This requirement must be satisfied before a student can be admitted to Senior standing. Exceptions may be made by agreement between the Major Supervisor and the Dean. The requirements are as follows:

1. FOREIGN LANGUAGES: One full-year course in a foreign language beyond the elementary grade. For the purpose of this requirement, all first year foreign language courses, with the exception of Greek 11, 12, are considered as of elementary grade. However, students whose native tongue is other than English are not required to study additional language in college.

(N.B. A single full-year language course, if included among those listed under the Humanities requirements below, will satisfy requirements in both Group 1 and Group 2.)

2. HUMANITIES: The requirement may be met by taking four semester courses as follows:

(a) Two semester courses from the following:

Biblical Literature 12, 13, 23.

Humanities 21-22.

Philosophy 11, 12, 21-22, 28, 32, 36.

(b) Two semester courses from the following:

Biblical Literature 11, 20.

English 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 29, 31, 32, 33.

French 12, 13-14, 23-24, 25-26.

German 15, 21-22, 31, 32, 33, 36, 37.

Greek 11, 12, 21, 22, 29.

History of Art 21-22; Bryn Mawr 201, 203, 204, 301, 302.

Latin 13-14, 15, 16, 23, 24.

Music 11-12, 21-22.

Philosophy 23 or 29; 24, 25, 26.

Russian 201, 203 (Bryn Mawr).

Spanish 21-22, 31-32.

3. NATURAL SCIENCES AND MATHEMATICS: The requirement may be met by taking four semester courses, two each from two of the following groups:

(a) Biology 12, 13, 14, 21; Psychology 33, 34, 36.

(b) Physical Science 11, 12; Chemistry 12, 13, 14; Physics 13-14.

(c) Astronomy 11, 12; Geology 101a, 101b*; Mathematics 11, 12 (or 14 or 16), or 21, 22.

* Geology is offered at Bryn Mawr College. In order for a student to take courses at Bryn Mawr, he must meet the requirements as stated on page 44 of this catalog.

4. SOCIAL SCIENCES: The requirement may be met by taking four semester courses selected from at least two of the following departments:

Free Electives

A number of courses sufficient to bring the total to forty semester courses shall be chosen by the student, with the understanding that for the Freshman and Sophomore years the College reserves the right, through the Faculty Adviser and the Dean, to prevent unreasonable combinations of courses, and that in the Junior and Senior years the student will choose his free electives in consultation with his Major Supervisor.

Non-Academic Electives

Three terms of Physical Education or of courses in the Arts and Service Program are required of each Freshman, Sophomore, and Junior, as described on pages 82 and 99. These courses must be taken in addition to the 40 semester courses of academic work required for a degree.

Major Concentration

A student may elect to major in any one of the following departments: Astronomy, Biblical Literature, Biology, Chemistry, Classical Archaeology (Bryn Mawr College), Economics, Engineering, English, French, Geology (Bryn Mawr College), German, Greek, History, History of Art (Bryn Mawr College), Italian (Bryn Mawr College), Latin, Mathematics, Music, Philosophy, Physics, Political Science, Psychology, Russian, Sociology, Spanish.

Definite requirements are stated under the name of each department on pages 49-99. During the fourth semester of his attendance each student should confer with the Major Supervisor of the department in which he wishes to major, and apply to him for written approval of a program of courses for the last four semesters. Such a program must provide for the completion, by the end of the Senior year, of approximately twelve semester courses, or the equivalent, at least six of which must be in the Major Department and the others in closely related fields. Should the student's application be rejected by the department of his first choice, he must immediately apply in another. Failure to file with the Dean, before the date specified on the College Calendar, a copy of his Major Program signed by his Major Supervisor, will entail a fine of $5. Any student who continues delinquent in this matter will be debarred from the final examinations in his fourth semester. Should the student's application be rejected by all the departments to which he applies, he will not be promoted.

A student who applies for permission to become a Major in any department may be rejected for scholastic reasons only. The College rule on this point is:

If, at the time specified for application, the average of the grades obtained by a student in the "preliminary courses"* of any department is 75 or above, the student will be accepted by that department.

If the average of the grades obtained in these courses is below 70, the student will be accepted in that department only under exceptional circumstances.

If the average of the grades obtained in these courses is 70 or above, but below 75, the decision will be at the discretion of the Major Supervisor.

A student who has been formally accepted as a Major by any department has the right to remain as a Major in that department as long as he is in College. Should he wish to change from one department to another after the beginning of his fifth semester, the change can be made only with the consent of the new Major Supervisor and the Dean.

Each Senior must take a special Major comprehensive examination (written, oral, or both) during the period scheduled for such examinations. The purpose of this examination is to promote the student's comprehension, integration and application of the knowledge acquired in the field of his major concentration, and to secure evidence of this achievement. The passing grade for this examination is 70. In case of failure, a candidate may, with the permission of his Major Supervisor, present himself for re-examination at a date (to be determined by the Major Supervisor) later than Commencement Day of the current year.

If the re-examination is taken one year later, during the regular period of Major examinations, there is no fee. But if the candidate applies for re-examination at an earlier date (involving the preparation of a special examination for one individual), and if the request is granted, the fee is $25.

As special background for the comprehensive examination a senior shall engage in a period of study, technically called course 100, in his department of concentration during the semester preceding that examination. This period of study shall be counted as one of the five courses normally carried by the student during his final semester. Evaluation of the work in course 100 may be included in the grade earned by the student in his comprehensive examination.

* "Preliminary courses" are any courses the student may already have taken in the department to which he is applying. If the applicant has not already taken any courses in that department, the department may name courses in other departments which are to be regarded as "preliminary."

In case of failure in the comprehensive examination a student does not necessarily repeat the term work of course 100, but follows the application procedure for re-examination as indicated on the preceding page. A student may not take more than two re-examinations in the field of his major concentration.

Students taking Majors under the supervision of Bryn Mawr College will note that their course 100 may extend over more than one semester; if this is the case, credit for two courses at Haverford will be granted if the work in each semester of this course is satisfactory.

Examinations in courses in the Major subject taken in the last semester of the Senior year may be omitted at the discretion of the Major Supervisor.

A student who has demonstrated unusual maturity and who has special interests and abilities may be permitted to arrange an interdepartmental major. The program of courses, the nature of the 100 course, and the nature of the comprehensive examination for an interdepartmental major are to be worked out in advance (that is, when the major is selected) by the student, with permission of the Dean, in consultation with and subject to the approval of the chairmen of the departments concerned, one of whom will be designated as Major Supervisor for that student.

In rare cases, and only for high ranking students, a double major may be arranged, in which the student takes the complete major in each of two departments. In order to take a double major, a student must receive permission from the Dean as well as from the chairman of each of the departments concerned.

Freshman Program

Each Freshman, on entering the College, is assigned to a Faculty member as Adviser. Normally, the student keeps the same Adviser until he chooses a Major near the end of the Sophomore year, when the Chairman of the Major Department becomes his Adviser. Assignment of Advisers for incoming students is made by the Dean, on the basis of the best evidence available to him. If a prospective student knows of a Faculty member whom he would like to have as Adviser, he is urged to inform the Dean of the preference before the opening of College. If, after being assigned an Adviser by the Dean, the student finds another Faculty member whom he would prefer to have as Adviser, he is urged to inform the Dean of this preference, so that, if possible, the change can be made.

Although the Faculty Adviser is instructed to advise each Freshman on a plan of study suited to his special needs, the Faculty requires that English be taken throughout the year, and recommends in all usual cases that Freshmen take Social Science and one foreign language. In addition, two courses chosen from Mathematics, the Natural Sciences, History, Biblical Literature, and Philosophy make a reasonable Freshman program.

The courses open to Freshmen are numbered 11 to 19 in the section on Courses of Instruction. If he is qualified, a Freshman may be permitted by the department concerned and by the Dean to take more advanced courses.

A series of standard tests is administered to all entrants within the first few days of the first semester. These tests are helpful in guidance and counseling. One function of the tests is to determine which Freshmen should be recommended to take the voluntary course in Remedial Reading, which is offered each term, for no credit, to students who feel the need of establishing reading habits that will improve their comprehension and increase their speed in reading.

Preparation for Professions

A large number of Haverford College students plan, after graduation, to enter upon further courses of study. As a liberal arts college, Haverford arranges its curriculum so that students who have such plans are able to meet the entrance requirements of graduate and professional schools. The College does not, however, attempt to anticipate in its own curriculum the work of any graduate or professional school. It is the conviction of the Faculty that the best preparation for graduate work is a liberal education, with sound training in basic disciplines, to which more specialized training may later be added.

A student who intends to go to a professional school is free to choose his major in accord with his principal abilities and interests, since professional schools, such as those of business administration, education, law, medicine, or theology, usually accept students on the basis of merit regardless of their choice of major and, except in the case of medical schools, without specific course requirements. The requirements of most state boards of medical licensure are such that all students who hope to be admitted to a medical school must take Biology 12 and one additional semester course (which must include laboratory work) in biology, Chemistry 13, 14, 25, and 26, and Physics 13-14.

Students who plan to go to professional schools should seek advice as early as possible from appropriate Faculty members as follows: business administration, Mr. Teaf; education, Mr. Friedrich; law, Mr. Somers; medicine, Mr. W. Cadbury; theology, Mr. Flight or Mr. Steere.

If a student plans to do graduate work in a departmental subject, such as engineering, mathematics, history, etc., he should consult as early as possible with the chairman of the department at Haverford which most nearly corresponds to the department in which he plans to work in graduate school. This adviser will be able to guide him in his selection of courses, his choice of Major (which will not necessarily be in the department of his intended graduate study), and other questions which may have bearing on his future.

Law schools, medical schools, and some graduate schools require applicants to take special admission tests. Arrangements for taking these tests are the responsibility of the student concerned; he can obtain information about them from the Faculty members mentioned above.

Regulations

Conflicting Courses

A student is not allowed to elect conflicting courses, except with the permission of the Dean and the two instructors concerned.

Additional Courses

Although the normal load is five courses each semester, a student who desires to do so may take additional work upon approval of his adviser and the Dean. Such approval will not normally be granted to Freshmen, but will usually be granted to a Sophomore, Junior, or Senior who requests it, if his average for the preceding semester was 80 or above. There is no charge for a sixth course taken by a student in full standing, but a fee of $40.00 is charged for a sixth course taken to make up a deficiency incurred under the regulations in force prior to September, 1956.

Audited Courses

A student who wishes to audit a course should obtain the permission of the instructor. No charge is made for auditing.

Course Changes

Courses may be changed during the first week of each new semester. During that time students are free to make changes after consultation with their Advisers and the Dean.

Changes will not be permitted later except in cases where the student is known to be an excellent student and where he receives the consent of the professor to whose course he is changing and of his Adviser and of the Dean.

Special Cases

Whenever a student gives proof of special abilities, the College is prepared to lay aside such requirements of the normal program as stand between him and the development of his gifts.

Evaluation of Academic Performance

The instructor in each course submits at the end of each semester a numerical grade for each student. These grades may range from 0 to 100. The grades obtained by each student are averaged together to give evidence of his overall performance during that semester.

The Committee on Academic Standing reviews students' records at intervals, and has authority to drop students from college, or to set requirements for additional work in cases of students whose work is unsatisfactory. As a rule, the Committee will drop from college Freshmen who do not receive the required average of 65 or higher, and upperclassmen whose averages are below 70. However, any student whose record is such as to justify the belief that he is not availing himself of the opportunities offered by the College may be dropped.

A student who, because of special circumstances such as illness, receives a low grade in a course, may petition his instructor and the Dean for a special examination. If the request is granted, and the student takes the special examination, the grade in that examination will replace the grade originally received in the mid-year or final examination in computing the final grade for that course; the new course grade will be entered in place of the old on the student's transcript, and the semester average will be revised accordingly.

In some circumstances a student may be permitted by the Dean to drop a course, or to take less than the normal load, and thus does not receive grades for the full five courses. The Committee on Academic Standing will review all such cases, and will specify what work the student must perform to be restored to full standing. Similarly, in the case of a student who wishes to accelerate, this Committee will specify conditions under which credit for an extra semester's or year's work will be granted.

Intercollegiate Cooperation

Because of the cooperative relationship between Bryn Mawr College, Haverford College, Swarthmore College, and the University of Pennsylvania, full-time students of any of these four institutions may, upon presentation of the proper credentials, enroll for courses in another institution of the group without additional expense.

Students desiring to take advantage of this arrangement must obtain the permission of the Dean. This permission will not usually be granted to a student whose general average for the preceding semester has been less than 80. Exceptions may be made in case the course at the other institution is necessary for the student's Major. It is the student's responsibility to register in the selected course on registration day at the institution where the course is to be given. The course should also be entered on his registration card at Haverford.

Permission for graduate students at Haverford to take courses at other institutions should be obtained from the Committee on Graduate Program. Ordinarily, the holder of a graduate fellowship will not be permitted to take more than one course in another institution for credit on his Haverford record.

Visitors and Lectures

In recent years, the College has arranged for individual departments of the Faculty to invite visitors to Haverford for varying periods of time to meet with members of the department and with students interested in that field. These departmental visitors, who sometimes give public lectures, have contributed considerably to the vitality of the work in the various departments.

This program has been greatly strengthened as a result of a generous bequest from the late William P. Philips. A substantial sum from this bequest is used to bring to Haverford "distinguished scientists and statesmen," whose visits may last anywhere from a few hours to a full academic year. On page 13 of this catalog is a list of the visitors brought to the campus under this bequest during the academic year 1955-56.

The Haverford Library Lectures and the Shipley Lectures, both endowed lectureships, provide annual speakers. The endowment for the former, a gift from the estate of Mary Farnum Brown, is available "for an annual course or series of lectures before the Senior Class of the College, and other students, on the Bible, its history and literature, and as a way may open for it, upon its doctrine and its teaching." The fund for the latter was presented by Samuel R. Shipley, in memory of his father, Thomas Shipley. The income from the Shipley fund is used "for lectures on English literature." At the weekly Collection meetings of the whole College prominent visitors talk to the student body on subjects of current interest.

Admission to Candidacy for Master's Degree

GRADUATES OF INSTITUTIONS of standing equivalent to that of Haverford College, who present satisfactory evidence of character, seriousness of purpose, and scholarly attainments, may be admitted as candidates for the degree of Master of Arts or Master of Science. The number of graduate students to be admitted each year will be determined by the Administration, in view of the situation obtaining in the College and in individual departments in that year. A candidate for the graduate degree must show competence in one language besides English. Each applicant will be advised, on request, of the language requirements to be met in the particular department in which he wishes to carry out his specialized study.

Applications, together with transcripts, should reach the Director of Admissions not later than May 1.

Requirements

A candidate is required to pass four full-year advanced courses or their equivalent,* each with a grade of not less than 80, and to do satisfactory additional intensive work, which may take the form of a thesis or other research, equivalent to a full course. At least two of the courses and the additional intensive work must be in the special field chosen by the candidate, and the remaining courses in allied subjects. In addition, the candidate may be required, at the discretion of the professor in charge, to pass a comprehensive examination upon the field of his special study. The scope of the examination will be determined by the professor in charge, and will be communicated to the candidate when he is admitted as a graduate student. The entire plan of study must be drawn up by the candidate in consultation with the professor under whom he proposes to do the major part of his work. This plan must be submitted for approval before October 1 to the Chairman of the Committee on Graduate Program. After approval by this Committee, the program must be filed with the Registrar. In cases where a thesis is required, the candidate must deposit two copies of his thesis in the College Library at least two weeks before Commencement.

A minimum of one year's residence is required, and a candidate, if well prepared, should be able to complete his work for the degree in this time. If his preparation is inadequate, a longer period of residence may be necessary, but the required work must be completed in not more than two academic years. Courses taken before the registration of the candidate as a graduate student at Haverford College will not usually be counted toward the degree.

Candidates who engage in any occupation or employment other than graduate study will not generally be able to satisfy the requirements for the degree in one year.

COURSES OF INSTRUCTION

THE NUMBERING SYSTEM used in this catalog involves a two-digit number for each semester course. Courses numbered from 11 through 19, primarily Freshmen courses, are open to all students; courses numbered from 20 through 30 are open to Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors; courses numbered from 31 through 60 are open to Juniors and Seniors; courses numbered from 61 through 80 are open only to Seniors; courses numbered from 81 through 89 are project courses open to Seniors and often also to Juniors; courses numbered from 91 to 99 are open only to graduate students; in each department the course in preparation for the comprehensive examination is numbered 100.

When two course numbers, followed by a single description, are joined by a hyphen, the course is a year course; a student who takes the first semester of such a course must normally take the second semester. When two course numbers followed by a single description are separated by a comma, the first semester may be taken without the second, though the two are normally taken together as a year course. In either case, the first semester course is prerequisite to the second.

Unless otherwise stated, courses with uneven numbers are given in the first semester; those with even numbers in the second.

Where a course is listed as prerequisite for another course, a grade of 60 or better will be required in the prerequisite course, unless otherwise specified; however, the instructor may waive this requirement at his discretion.

Each course carries three semester hours credit, and is offered annually, unless otherwise specified.

Astronomy

THE DEPARTMENTAL WORK is designed to give students an understanding of and an interest in the universe in which they live. At all times in the course work the relation of astronomy to the other fields of learning is kept to the fore. The courses progress from the elementary, through courses requiring more mathematical and physical background, to the strictly logical and critical development of a limited problem.

Biblical Literature

THE COURSES in this Department are intended to give opportunity for study of our literary, moral, and religious heritage from the cultures which flourished in the Eastern Mediterranean lands where the roots of our civilization lie.

Those courses which are specifically Biblical in content are directed toward appreciation and understanding of Old and New Testaments and Apocrypha, their history, meaning, and interpretation. These courses cover broadly the historical backgrounds, literary qualities, and enduring religious values in these works of creative genius. Course 11, a survey of the whole Bible, is recommended as properly introductory to this field. Courses 12, 13, and 22, somewhat more advanced, place emphasis respectively upon the growth of religious ideas, the beginnings of the Christian movement, the literary history and art of the Bible, and its influence upon English and other literatures. Conference courses offer opportunity for intensive work by individual students on problems of archaeological, historical, or religious interest. Course 28 affords study of the broad background of the great early culture-centers of the Near East, where the first significant steps toward civilization were taken, many of whose achievements have come down in unbroken line into our western civilization. Finally, a course in comparative religion (Biblical Literature 23) is designed to acquaint the student with the nature and significance of religion in various cultures of our modern world.

Major Requirements

Six half-year courses in Biblical Literature, and Biblical Literature 100.

Six other half-year courses in either Biblical Literature or related departments, such as English, History, Philosophy, Psychology, Sociology.

Special study of one selected Biblical field, e.g., history, literature, the Old or New Testament.

A comprehensive examination covering the history, literature, and criticism of the Bible, and the religious and moral life of the Hebrews, Jews, and Christians.

23. COMPARATIVE RELIGION—Mr. Flight.

A comparative study of the great living religions, their founders, their scriptures, their characteristic ideas and ideals. Not open to Freshmen.

28. ANCIENT HISTORY OF THE NEAR EAST—Mr. Flight.

(Also called History 28.)

The beginnings of Western civilization in the cultures of the Near East; archaeological and historical. Not open to Freshmen.

Biology

THE BIOLOGY program is designed to give a solid foundation in general biological principles, an insight into recent developments of experimental aspects of the field and an opportunity for a research experience in the senior year.

The courses are built up in a sequence of three stages.

- 1) Four introductory courses to be taken at the freshman and sophomore level which cover biological principles (13, 21) and biological diversity (12, 14).

- 2) Six advanced courses (31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36) to be taken at the junior or senior level designed to create sufficient competence for research in the senior year.
- 3) Three Senior Research Tutorials (61-62, 63-64, 65-66) involving reading of current literature, laboratory research, student lectures and seminars and a senior thesis. The topics of these research tutorials lie in the areas of principal interest of the instructors.

Major Requirements

Biology 12, 13, 21, 31, 32, either 33 or 35, 36, either 61-62 or 63-64 or 65-66, 100; Chemistry 13, 14, 25, 26.

The Department strongly recommends the following additional courses since they provide a minimum theoretical background for advanced work in Biology; Mathematics 11, 12 (or 16), Physics 13-14, Chemistry 28.

Biology 100 consists of a series of seminars given by students and designed to tie together the work done in the three Senior Research Tutorials, and a written comprehensive examination at the end of the senior year.

Mr. Conner.
A study of the evolution of structure and function in the animal kingdom.
13. ORGANISMS IN THE WORLD—Mr. Erickson.
An introductory course in the areas of biology conventionally denoted as Ecology, Genetics and Evolution.
The course will attempt to give insight into the problems of the maintenance of the individual organism in relation to the various environments and in relation to the other organisms occurring therein (Ecology); into the problems of self-perpetuation of kinds of organisms by reproduction (Genetics); into the problems of descent with modification and entrance into changed relations with environments and with organisms (Evolution).
14. THE PLANT KINGDOM—Three hours. Two class periods and one laboratory period a week. Mr. Loewy.
A study of evolutionary development in the plant kingdom and of the structure and function of the higher plants. Advanced students can do additional work in plant physiology.
21. PHYSICAL BASIS OF LIFE—Four hours, including one laboratory period a week.
Mr. Loewy and Mr. Santer.
An introductory course in the areas of biology conventionally denoted as Physiology, Biochemistry, and Biophysics.
The course will attempt to give insight into the methods and subject matter of the physical-chemical approach to the study of living systems. Major emphasis is laid on cells rather than on correlative mechanisms between cells.
Prerequisite: Chemistry 13, 14, or consent of the instructor.

- 31, 32. MICROBIOLOGY—Four hours, including one laboratory period a week.
Mr. Santer.

Chemistry

THE COURSES in chemistry, when taken in proper sequence, afford a developing knowledge of chemistry as a rational science. Fundamental principles are stressed but sufficient experimental and other factual material is introduced to render these principles clear and to illustrate their applicability. Emphasis is placed upon precision of observation, measurement, and statement, and upon the application of the inductive-deductive method of scientific development, with the aim of making the study of chemistry of general educational value.

A Major in chemistry who intends to undertake graduate study in Chemistry should include in his program courses 24, 31, 32, 63, 64 and 65, together with German 13-14, Mathematics 21, 22, and Physics 13-14. This is in accord with the level of accomplishment recommended by the American Chemical Society. Course 81 or 82, giving some insight into the aims and methods of original research, is also desirable. For the courses in chemistry needed for premedical preparation, see page 41.

Students whose scholastic record prior to entrance indicates a satisfactory proficiency in elementary chemistry may enter the more advanced course, Chemistry 13, directly from high school. Others desiring work in chemistry will take Chemistry 12 in preparation for Chemistry 13.

Economics

THE WORK in Economics is intended primarily to develop in students an understanding of the working of modern economic society, to give practice in the interpretation of economic data, to arouse an informed interest in public affairs, and to lay the basis for the formation of intelligent judgments in the field of economic policy. The introductory courses are designed to give the basic understanding of economic processes and of economic organization that should be part of a liberal education. The advanced courses also are offered as part of a program of liberal education, but are designed to meet, at the same time, the needs of men going on to graduate work in economics or business administration or directly into business. Several of the advanced courses should be of special value to men planning to enter the foreign service, other government work, journalism, or law. In the advanced courses emphasis is placed on the use of source materials and on research methods in economics, and students gain experience in the preparation of analyses and reports.

In Economics 71, 72 and 74 there is wide latitude with respect both to subject matter and to course method. The specific subjects in each will vary from year to year, depending on the interests and capacities of the students.

Men expecting to major in Economics are advised to take Social Science 11-12 in the Freshman year. It will also be helpful to take Mathematics 11 and 14.

English

THE ENGLISH DEPARTMENT offers the opportunity to study significant formulations of the human spirit in the English language, and to do critical and creative writing.

Many students who choose to major in English intend to pursue some aspect of the subject professionally: to proceed to graduate school, to teach literature, or to undertake a literary career. The program of the Department provides preliminary education for all these purposes. The study of English literature is recommended likewise to those students who wish to acquire a knowledge of their literary heritage, or to gain an acquaintance with the use of the English language, before entering a non-literary profession, such as law, government service, the ministry, medicine, or business. The Department welcomes such students.

English 11-12 is required of all Freshmen in the college; this course, or its equivalent, is a prerequisite to all further work in the Department. English 11-12 provides tutorial instruction in writing and an introduction to the study of literature.

Students who have difficulty in expressing themselves orally are recommended to take work in public speaking. The attention of slow readers is called to the remedial work in reading.

Courses 20, 21, 22, 25, 26, 29 and 37 are open to all students in the college who have met the prerequisites.

Other courses are designed primarily for students intending to major in, or already majoring in, English or closely related fields. They are open to other students only by permission of the instructor concerned. A central sequence of courses is arranged for students majoring in English. It consists of 23 (Renaissance) and 24 (Seventeenth Century) normally to be taken in the Sophomore year, and 31 (Eighteenth Century) and 32 (Nineteenth Century) normally to be taken in the Junior year. Courses numbered in the 60's are seminar courses, in most cases based on earlier work in the period; courses numbered in the 80's are devoted to individual projects, requiring a general knowledge of the field in which the project is undertaken.

The purpose of this course is to introduce students to the main elements of Twentieth Century world culture, concentrating in the last quarter of the year on American society as a special form. The emphasis in the first semester is broadly historical, in the second analytical. Lectures, reading, papers, and discussion groups. Social Science 11-12 is a prerequisite for all courses in Economics, Political Science, Psychology, and Sociology.

German

THE MAIN OBJECTIVE of the German courses is twofold: 1) the acquisition of the language; 2) the study of the literature and civilization of which it is the medium. The courses are planned and conducted with the aim of enabling the individual student to fulfill most effectively his prospective needs. Hence provision is made for acquiring a practical speaking knowledge of the language as well as the ability to read it for undergraduate and post-graduate research, for which in many fields it is indispensable. An appreciation of German literature from the Middle Ages to the Contemporary Period is offered in a relatively wide range of courses.

German 11-12, 13-14, and 24 are primarily language courses. German 15 stresses literature, but combines this with practice in the language. The remaining courses are devoted largely to the history of German literature from the earliest times to the present, and to the intensive study of special periods and eminent authors.

The collateral reading required in German 13-14 generally consists of works of literature but it may be done in the fields of philosophy or history or, at the discretion of the instructor, in the natural sciences.

Opportunity is given to students who complete German 11-12 or German 13-14 with distinction to advance rapidly into higher courses by passing a special examination on a prescribed program of collateral reading.

It is possible and in some cases highly desirable for a Major in German or a student otherwise interested in advanced work to take his Junior year abroad in a supervised Junior year program. Attention also is called to the opportunities offered by university summer schools in Germany, Austria and Switzerland, and to international seminars and work camps sponsored by the American Friends Service Committee and other organizations in these countries.

Greek

THE WORK in Greek can be modified to suit the needs of individual students. The elementary course provides some insight into the culture of the ancient Greeks, and into linguistic problems generally, besides leading to a knowledge of Greek adequate for the reading of the Gospels and of easy classical authors. More advanced courses are intended for students with an interest in history, philosophy, or literature; the authors read are studied for their value in these fields. Students are encouraged, to the extent of their capacity, to develop an imaginative understanding of art, philosophy, and science as forces in human life. The special contribution of the Greeks in these fields will be assessed and its significance in European history and in current education will be noted. A knowledge of Greek is a great asset in many fields of graduate study.

Major Requirements

Greek 31, 32, and four half-year courses selected in consultation with the Major Supervisor; Greek 100.

Three additional courses to be arranged in conference with the Major Supervisor.

If Greek 21, 22 is not taken in college, an additional half-course will be required.

History

THE COURSES IN HISTORY are designed to give some conception of the development of the civilizations which exist in Europe and in the United States today. Since history is the story of what men have done, it is related to every other field in the curriculum, but the limitation of time forces a selection of those aspects of human activity which can be treated in any course. An attempt is made to give a reasonably rounded view of those developments which are deemed most important in the period under consideration as a background for understanding other subjects in the fields of the humanities and the social sciences. With a variation of emphasis in each course, caused in part by the nature of the growth of civilization in the period and in part by the amount and the kind of historical evidence which has survived, attention is given to such phases of development as the political, constitutional, social, economic, religious, and intellectual. History 11-12 is intended to be an introductory course, and, although it is not a prerequisite for the election of any other course in the Department, it is required for those who major in History.

The study of history provides a background against which current problems of internal and external policies may be viewed to advantage. It also helps to develop critical standards for the evaluation of evidence which can often be applied in forming opinion with regard to the solution of such problems. Finally, it is useful as a foundation for professional studies not only in history but also in such subjects as public administration, journalism, and law.

Major Requirements

History of Art

UNDER the co-operative arrangement between the Colleges, Haverford students who wish to take advanced courses in History of Art may do so at Bryn Mawr College. The introductory course is given at Haverford.

21-22. INTRODUCTION TO THE HISTORY OF ART—Mr. Bernheimer and Mrs. Martin.

This course deals with the history of Western art from its beginning in ancient Greece to modern times, with emphasis upon the Christian periods. It is conceived as a history of human values in terms of the visual forms in which they have been cast. The course parallels Humanities 21-22. In order to bring out the human significance of art, religious and philosophical ideas are discussed as they influenced the form and subject matter of art.

An introductory section deals with aesthetic principles and their application in the fields of painting, sculpture, and architecture. The purpose of the course is threefold: to widen the student's comprehension of past attitudes and beliefs so that he will be better able to understand his own; to enlarge his range of aesthetic appreciation; and to give him the technical knowledge required for further studies in the history of art. Not open to Freshmen.

Latin

THE LATIN DEPARTMENT offers instruction in the language, literature and civilization of the Roman people. Knowledge of the Latin language is fundamental to an understanding and proper use of the English and Romance languages; familiarity with the Latin classics is an indispensable background for the Western European literary tradition; and the history and civilization of Rome provide an explanation of, and parallels to, many pressing contemporary political, economic, social, and religious problems.

Principal emphasis is laid upon meeting the Roman legacy through the medium of the Latin language; but for those whose knowledge of Latin is too limited for this purpose, Latin 29-30 offers an opportunity to do so from the historical approach.

Major Requirements

Four full-year courses (except Latin 11-12), some of which may be taken at Bryn Mawr College; Latin 100. The Latin Department reserves the right to exclude Latin 13-14, in individual cases, from consideration as fulfilling a part of the Major requirements.

Mathematics

THE AIMS of courses in Mathematics are: (1) to promote rigorous thinking by exhibiting a systematic, deductive, intellectual discipline; (2) to explain the role which Mathematics has played in the development of the culture of our age; (3) to foster technical competence in Mathematics as an aid to the better comprehension of the physical, biological, and social sciences.

Freshman Mathematics emphasizes mathematical ideas rather than techniques of computation. It is designed as a terminal course for the non-specialist who plans to take only one year of Mathematics as well as the beginning course prerequisite to further work in the Department.

The more advanced courses cover work in the fields of analysis, algebra, geometry, and statistics. The student majoring in the Department extends his studies into all of these areas; he may prepare for teaching in preparatory school, for graduate study leading to college teaching or industrial research, or for statistical and actuarial work.

The sequence in analysis and algebra, Mathematics 21, 22, 31, 32, 33, 34, 63, is especially suited to the needs of the physical sciences, while Mathematics 14 and 38 deal with those concepts of statistics and probability which are fundamental to the biological and social sciences.

Music

THE COURSES offered in Music have as their objective (1) the stimulation of the creative energies of the student through musical composition, and (2) the development of an understanding of music through the study of history and important writings on musical subjects, as well as through the analysis of musical compositions from all periods. In furthering and strengthening the discipline of music the College has no intention of training musicians by conservatory methods. The intention is rather to form enlightened workers in the field of music. Experience has shown that students in the fields of composition and musicology can be effectively aided by the joint offerings of Haverford, Bryn Mawr, and the University of Pennsylvania. At Haverford the program seeks to stimulate free composition in the vocal and instrumental forms with a view to public performance by professionals of successfully completed works.

Major Requirements

Three full year courses in music and six semester courses or their equivalent from such related fields of the Humanities, History of Art, Languages and Science as may be approved by the Department.

The Major comprehensive examination will consist of:

1. An examination in the history of music.
2. The presentation by the candidate of a musical composition in one of the larger instrumental forms, or a vocal work. In cases where the candidate has not been sufficiently trained in musical composition, the examination may be confined to music history. In such cases the candidate's work is expected to be at a high musicological level.
3. A small composition to be completed during the examination period.

11-12. ELEMENTARY MUSIC THEORY—Mr. Reese.

This course deals with the general foundations of the musical language—scales, intervals, rhythm, formation of melodic patterns and their notation—and includes elementary chord formation (introduction to harmony). Ear training is an important adjunct throughout the course.

21-22. ADVANCED HARMONY AND COUNTERPOINT—Mr. Slonimsky and Mr. Swan.

No sharp line is drawn between harmony and counterpoint. Students will be free to select the method of harmonization, provided they can show a knowledge of both vertical and horizontal construction. Starting with exercises in two- and three-part writing the student will proceed to the composition of short pieces, scoring them for strings or voices. (A piano exposition is also permissible.) The work is done individually, the class periods being used for the discussion of common problems. Prerequisite: Music 11-12, or its equivalent.

25. HISTORY OF MUSIC—Mr. Slonimsky.

31-32. SEMINAR IN MODERN MUSIC—Mr. Slonimsky and Mr. Swan.

This seminar is conducted jointly with Swarthmore College. Historical forms of music, such as the sonata, are projected from their beginnings into Modern Music, and their use by contemporary composers illustrated. Whenever possible the students are encouraged to tackle source material and present reports on figures and works of the 20th century.

82. PROJECT IN MUSICAL COMPOSITION—Mr. Swan.

Philosophy

THE COURSES in Philosophy are intended first of all to acquaint students with the major currents of interpretation and reflection upon the recurring problems, such as the nature of man, the nature of the universe, the nature of the processes by which man apprehends and responds to that universe. Since these problems underlie the work of literature and furnish it with many of its most basic themes; since they underlie the presuppositions of political, sociological, and economic thought; since they reappear in the frame in which every thoughtful scientist works and affect not only the use to which his results will be put, but his very method, just as his methods have influenced in turn the formulation of the problems, the study of philosophy is an important tool in connection with work in any of these fields.

In the second place the courses in philosophy are designed to assist in integrating material presented in literature, history, the social and physical sciences, in art, and in religion in order to assist the student in drawing together what he has learned, and in approaching a more responsible, intentional, and intelligent world view with which to confront life.

The courses are so planned as to require such orientation as would be secured in either Philosophy 11 (which examines in an elementary way the great problems man confronts) or Philosophy 21-22 (which deals with these same problems as it presents the great classical philosophical thinkers chronologically) before proceeding to the more specialized philosophical disciplines such as ethics, aesthetics, logic, political philosophy, philosophy of science, philosophy of religion, and to more specialized studies of certain philosophical thinkers.

Major Requirements

Physical Education

COURSES in Physical Education are arranged in accordance with the plan for all-year physical training in the Freshman, Sophomore, and Junior years. The aim of this plan is to make possible active participation in athletics for the majority of students at Haverford College, with emphasis on the sports with carry-over value. Each student is required to take, during his first three years, nine terms (fall, winter, spring) of Physical Education or of certain courses in the Arts and Service Program (see p. 99), with a minimum of six terms in Physical Education; three in the Freshman year, two in the Sophomore year, and one in the Junior year.

A thorough medical and physical examination is given to each student upon entrance. Only those students whose physical condition is satisfactory will be permitted to take part in athletics. A tuberculin test is given to all Freshmen, followed by an x-ray if necessary, as part of this required examination. A swimming test is given to all entering students following the physical examination. This test must be passed by all students before graduation. Swimming instruction is given in the gymnasium pool during the early fall and late spring.

The outdoor facilities include: Walton Field for football and track, with a 440-yard oval and a 220-yard eight lane straight-away cinder track; the Class of 1888 and Merion fields for soccer, both of which are used for baseball and softball in the spring; a skating pond; Cope Field for cricket; an athletic field presented by the Class of 1916; a baseball field presented by the Class of 1922, used also for soccer in the fall; and thirteen tennis courts, three of which are all-weather. There are two dinghies available during the spring and fall for those (with certain exceptions) who wish to sail.

The indoor facilities are all included in the Gymnasium. The basement contains dressing rooms, showers, a swimming pool, a wrestling room, and a training room. Through the generosity of the Class of 1928, it has been possible to provide additional locker and dressing facilities, a new storage room for athletic equipment, and a laundry and drying room. A regulation basketball court is on the main floor and is used for Varsity and Junior Varsity basketball, the interclass and intramural program, and for instruction in Physical Education. Adjoining this floor are dressing facilities for instructors, coaches and officials, and rooms for the administration of medical and physical examinations.

Physics

COURSES in Physics are intended to acquaint students with fields of knowledge important to our civilization, to train them in analytical thinking, to give them an appreciation of scientific methods, and to help them gain first-hand experience and insight into the methods of experimental investigation.

Students of astronomy, experimental biology, chemistry, engineering, mathematics, medicine, physics or other sciences will find the foundation offered by General Physics (Physics 13-14) of great value. Physics 13-14 is ordinarily taken in the Sophomore year after Mathematics 11-12, but Freshmen with adequate preparation may be admitted after consultation. Students who plan to major in Physics are advised to take Physics 13-14 in their Freshman year.

For the student with professional aims in science, the Department offers courses leading to a Major in Physics which should equip a man to enter graduate school or industry on a favorable footing. Sound knowledge of mathematics is essential. Ability to understand and use the calculus is assumed in most of the advanced courses. The Department desires to cultivate in its Major students independence of thought and initiative at progressive levels of maturity; to that end, a sequence of courses following Physics 13-14 has been arranged, culminating in Physics 81, 82. The latter offers opportunity to conduct an extended individual investigation with training in the mastery of theory and experiment, and with emphasis upon independence and the ability to express oneself clearly both orally and in writing on the subject of investigation. Physics 81, 82 is not, however, limited to students majoring in Physics; it may be elected by others after consultation.

Major Requirements

Physics 13-14, 21, 28, 33-34, 81, 82, 100 and two other semester courses in Physics.

Mathematics through differential equations.

History of physics (collateral reading) in course 100.

A written comprehensive examination in two parts: (a) on general physics and history treated comprehensively; (b) on an extended, open-book problem designed to test each individual's ability to correlate his knowledge. The granting of Honors in Physics is based upon excellence (an average of 85 or better) in course work, particularly in Physics 81, 82, and evidence of accomplishment beyond the usual course requirements.

Students who desire to combine a Major in Physics with advanced work in some other related department may do so by special arrangement between the two departments concerned. In such cases a program is mapped out with some modification of the requirements normally expected of a Major in a single department.

Students who major in Physics are expected to take two semesters, but the course is not restricted to Major students. Qualified Juniors or Seniors may, by permission, elect either one semester or two. Also, the course may be repeated for credit with change of content. The granting of Honors depends heavily upon performance in this course.

Political Science

THE POLITICAL SCIENCE CURRICULUM is designed to give students an understanding of political organization and political forces in modern society, to provide knowledge and a basis for insight and judgment on the problems involved in the relationship of the individual to government and of governments to one another. The broad areas of study include: analysis of political theory in relation to its institutional environment; comparison and appraisal of different types of governments and political organization; American political institutions; and problems of international relations.

The tools of analysis include theory and experience. The purposes and the actual workings of political institutions are appraised. In advanced courses, emphasis is placed upon individual research and analysis—practice in location, organization, and presentation of data, and independent judgment.

The courses are designed primarily for a liberal arts education and are intended to create intelligent and lasting interest and participation in the formulation of public policy. The training will also serve the practical needs of those men contemplating professional careers which involve an understanding of modern government, such as law, journalism, and the public service.

Men majoring in political science are expected to understand the relationship of this field to other social studies and also the purposes and methods of the social sciences as a whole. They are thus expected to take supporting courses in economics, history, and sociology.

Romance Languages

ADMISSION of new students to all French and Spanish courses except French 11-12 and Spanish 11-12 is contingent upon placement examinations administered by the Department prior to the opening of such courses.

Opportunity is given to students who complete French 11-12, Spanish 11-12 or Spanish 13-14 with distinction to advance rapidly into higher courses by passing a special examination in September on a prescribed program of vacation study.

Residence in the French and Spanish Houses and participation in the Cercle français and Club español afford an opportunity for supplementary oral practice.

Students who might profitably spend their Junior year in France or Spain are encouraged by the Department to apply for admission to the institutions sponsoring foreign study groups.

Students majoring in Romance Languages are encouraged to spend a summer in France or in a Spanish speaking country. Foreign summer schools and projects sponsored by the American Friends Service Committee and other organizations offer exceptional opportunities in this regard.

The program of French courses offers students an opportunity:

- 1) to learn to read, understand, speak and write French. In French 11-12 emphasis is placed on the ability to read and pronounce French. In French 13-14 a special effort is made to teach students to understand spoken French. French 21 and 22 are planned for the benefit of students primarily interested in learning to speak and write French;
- 2) to achieve an understanding of the basic attitudes implicit in a foreign culture which has exerted a profound influence in the shaping of western civilization;
- 3) to read with an increasing awareness of philosophical, moral, aesthetic and social implications the most significant French literary works.

Arts and Service Program

THE FACULTY OF HAVERFORD COLLEGE adopted in the spring of 1947 a program which involves a new departure in American education. This program is designed to cultivate aesthetic perception, creative control of materials, a love of fine workmanship, and other important areas of learning and of experience, such as community service, which have often been neglected in the liberal arts program. The Faculty feels that, though courses (called "units") in these areas cannot properly be included in the academic curriculum, they are of no less importance in the development of personality than strictly intellectual work.

Every student is required to take nine terms of work which is not academic in nature. It is mandatory that six of these terms be taken in Physical Education: three in the Freshman year, two in Sophomore year, and one in the Junior year. The remaining three terms may be devoted either to offerings of the Department of Physical Education or to units of the Arts and Service Program described here. The first election of such units in the Arts and Service Program may be made in the fall or winter term of the Sophomore year.

In its non-academic work, the College insists on the same high quality of teaching which it demands in its academic courses. A distinction in the two types of work is needed not because one is thought to be less important than the other, but because in the opinion of the Faculty the two kinds of work are different and should not be equated.

CABINETMAKING—Three hours a week. Mr. Holmes.

Instruction will be offered during the winter term in woodworking with hand tools on selected tasks. Qualified students may work on projects of their own choice insofar as facilities permit. Cost of materials will be borne by the student. Limited to five students with consent of instructor.

COMMUNITY SERVICE—Three hours a week. Mr. Hetzel.

Non-academic credit will be given to students who serve as group leaders in the activities of community services. Activities include athletics, scouting, clubs, music, dramatics, hobbies, and other youth-leadership work. Competent social workers will supervise the work, and guidance will be given by sociologists to make the experience meaningful.

Offered in the fall and winter terms.

MACHINE-TOOL WORK—Three hours a week. Mr. N. Wilson.

The unit for beginners will be conducted in the winter term and will include machine tool work on the lathe, milling machine, shaper, and drill-press. Those who have sufficient skill will be permitted to use the scheduled period for approved projects of their own choice. Limited to five students.

MODELING AND SCULPTURE—Three hours a week. Mr. J. W. Kelly.

This course for beginners or advanced students will be offered in winter term. It includes composition, portrait, life, and some study of modern trends in sculpture. As artists have for long been taught to read, so this course aims to teach academic students to see.

MODERN IRON SCULPTURE.

A practical course using a spot welder to develop three dimensional free forms. Each student will make sketches and develop a composition, will use iron rods and thin gauge sheet iron cut, shaped and then welded together. Students will also discuss Modern Sculpture with the instructor. Limited to six students.

MUSIC APPRECIATION—(1)—Three hours a week. Mr. Reese.

An elementary course designed to develop a technique of listening to music. The basic aspects of music—melody, rhythm, harmony, texture, color, form—are studied. Emphasis is placed on the analysis of examples given and of music heard in available concerts. Offered in the winter term.

MUSIC APPRECIATION—(2)—Three hours a week. Mr. Caselli.

PAINTING AND DRAWING—Three hours a week. Mr. Janschka.

The purpose of instruction in this course is to help students in acquiring perception and skill in artistic creation and rendition through the media of painting, drawing and modeling. The work may be from life and nature, from imagination, or the copying of art works. Prior experience is not required. Offered in the fall and winter terms. Limited to twenty-five students each term.

PHOTOGRAPHY—Three hours a week. Mr. N. Wilson.

This unit is for beginners and will include instruction in the use and characteristics of photographic equipment, the processing of films and papers, and the composition of subject material both indoors and outdoors. Limited to six students. Offered in the fall term.

PUBLIC SPEAKING—Three hours a week. Mr. Butman.

The course is intended for those who are particularly interested in public speaking and require some expert tuition.

RADIO COMMUNICATION—Three hours a week. Mr. Benham.

This unit consists of projects in radio, such as instruction in the International Morse Code, a study of basic principles, or a construction project (the cost of materials to be borne by the student). It may serve as preparation for the amateur license examination given by the Federal Communications Commission. Admission with the consent of the instructor. Offered in the winter term.

THEATER ARTS—Three hours a week. Mr. Butman.

WEEKEND WORKCAMPS—Mr. Hetzel and Mr. Richie.

Students electing this unit will spend three week-ends participating in the work of renovating houses in certain areas in Philadelphia. Consultations with expert social workers and discussion within the camp group will promote an interest in and understanding of social problems. Offered in the fall and winter terms.

The Graduate Curriculum in Social and Technical Assistance

(Not offered in 1956-57)

HAVERFORD COLLEGE offers to qualified men and women a Graduate Curriculum in Social and Technical Assistance in the belief that the development of a peaceful world society depends on large-scale social, economic and political reorganization in many regions and over a long period of time.

All who engage in assistance programs should be both emotionally and intellectually qualified for the task. As men and women of good will they should be able to work harmoniously with people of different races and under difficult and primitive conditions. They should be able to appreciate the values of foreign cultures and understand the basis for economic and political theories.

Projects for the improvement of living conditions which are essentially technical in character make a profound impact on the social life of the people who are affected by the changes. Thus, professional competence of the technicians is not sufficient by itself. They must be alert to the social implications of the work and prepared to help the affected population to adjust to a new economic-social order. Practically all of the technical and social assistance projects now in progress or envisaged by the private, governmental and inter-governmental agencies are as much problems of human engineering as they are matters of putting technological principles into practice.

The Graduate Curriculum in Social and Technical Assistance offered by Haverford College presupposes a sound general education as basic preparation, preferably with some technical education or experience. The course does not necessarily specialize in the needs of specific areas—on the principle that a graduate should be broadly prepared to serve wherever the opportunity offers. However, in the case of an individual who is planning to join a specific assistance program, opportunity is offered to adapt the content and method of courses to the student's particular needs.

Many of the fifty-two students who have completed this program have found positions of responsibility. Sixteen are serving in twelve different foreign countries, five are engaged in governmental service in the United States, eleven are with local agencies engaged in community development and social services, nine are teaching, three are doing administrative work in educational or civic organizations, two are continuing their technical education, and two are in industrial or commercial work.

Entrance Requirements

This curriculum is open to men and women who hold the Bachelor's degree from recognized institutions and who are otherwise qualified by virtue of their character, motivation and previous training. Special consideration is given to foreign students with similar preparation and qualifications. Candidates for admission are expected to possess competence in at least one modern foreign language equivalent to one year's work in college beyond the elementary level, and to have some preparation in the social sciences.

Academic Course of Study

Each student will be expected to complete a program of ten semester-courses selected to fit his particular needs. In most cases these courses will be chosen from those listed below, but students may be urged to select other courses which fit their particular needs and the general aims of this curriculum. A grade of at least 80 must be obtained in each course.

SOCIAL SCIENCE 91—Case Study of Assistance Programs. Required.

A study by the case method, of the objectives, organizational and operational techniques, and problems faced in various types of assistance programs: relief, reconstruction, technical assistance, social and technical planning. In the study of each program, consideration will be given particularly to problems raised by geographical, cultural, economic and political aspects of the areas concerned. Lectures by staff and visitors, readings, papers, and seminar discussions.

SOCIAL SCIENCE 93—Orientation Seminar. Required.

This course will consider both directly and through biographical studies some of the factors which motivate service in assistance projects. It will also examine the living genius and impact of the principal non-Christian religions today.

SOCIAL SCIENCE 97-98—Research Project and Thesis. Required.

Research projects and theses may be case studies of projects sponsored by voluntary agencies and others operating assistance and developmental programs, or other approved subjects.

SOCIOLOGY 51—Social Research.

An analysis of classic and significant studies in the fields of the social sciences with a view toward understanding the methods, tools, techniques, and hypotheses of social research. Studies will demonstrate the use of statistical, case, historical, and other procedures. Individual projects.

ECONOMICS-POLITICAL SCIENCE 53, 54—International Relations: Economic and Political.

An examination of the major factors which condition international relations, with special emphasis on political and economic aspects. The first semester's work focuses on certain basic elements: physical and human resources, fundamental economic and political concepts (e.g. trade, investments, nationalism, and imperialism) and some analysis of the interaction of these factors prior to World War II. This background provides the basis for an intensive study, during the second semester, of selected area and functional problems as they have taken shape since World War II. This study will terminate with group or individual projects involving some field work.

POLITICAL SCIENCE 64—Modern Political and Social Theory.

A study of leading political doctrines of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries which have had major influence in shaping the issues and conflicts of the modern world.

PSYCHOLOGY 81, 82—Special Topics in Psychology.

A seminar for special work in restricted fields of psychology. A project course.

MODERN FOREIGN LANGUAGE.

Non-Academic Course of Study

Each student in the graduate curriculum is expected to take one non-academic course in the Arts and Service Program. The following are recommended as appropriate for the purposes of this program:

Community Service. Activities include supervision of athletics, scouting, clubs, music, hobbies and other work with youth in a community center.

Photography. This course is intended for beginners and will include instruction in the use and characteristics of photographic equipment, as well as darkroom procedures of developing and enlarging.

Weekend Workcamps. Students electing this course will spend three weekends participating in the work of renovating houses in certain areas of Philadelphia.

Requirements for the Master's Degree

The degree of Master of Arts will be awarded to those who have satisfactorily completed the program of ten academic semester courses (including the thesis based on the research project), the non-academic course, and a comprehensive examination on the academic courses and the relevant courses offered for entrance.

Fellowships

Preference in the awarding of the Thomas Wistar Brown Fellowships for graduate study, totaling $5,000, will be given to qualified men and women who share concerns of the Society of Friends and who intend to specialize in Social and Technical Assistance. The value of a Thomas Wistar Brown Fellowship depends on the needs of the applicant. Holders of these Fellowships may live at Haverford or, by arrangement with the Vice-President of the College, at the community of Pendle Hill, situated a few miles from Haverford.

The College has received a grant from the Christopher Reynolds Foundation which makes possible the awarding of fellowships to one or two students who have had several years of experience in a technical field or in a technical assistance project. These fellowships vary from $1,000 to $3,000, depending on the financial status and requirements of the student. Special consideration will be given to applicants who have had experience in the technical assistance programs of the United Nations or of the United State Government.

Awards are determined on the basis of financial data presented in the questionnaire which constitutes formal application for admission into the graduate unit in Social and Technical Assistance. Questionnaires containing such a request for financial aid should be in the hands of the Director of Admissions, Haverford College, not later than April 1 to secure consideration for the following year.

Student Government

THE COLLEGE ADMINISTRATION has delegated to the Students' Association the responsibility for nearly all aspects of student conduct on the campus; and the Students' Association has assumed this responsibility. Student Government is exercised through an elected Students' Council, on which are representatives of all the classes.

The Students' Council is an administrative and judicial body. It handles all phases of the administration of regulations for the Students' Association. It manages extra-curricular activities on the campus and allocates to each a percentage of the Student Activities Fee ($18 per year, charged to every undergraduate as a part of the Unit Fee) on the basis of a yearly budget. In intercollegiate relations in general it serves as the representative of the Haverford student body.

The presidency of the Students' Council is the most important undergraduate office. The President represents the student body before the Board of Managers, the College Administration, and the Faculty. He serves both as liaison officer and executive. He conveys to the College Administration the recommendations of the Students' Council in disciplinary matters.

THE STUDENTS' ASSOCIATION is made up of all undergraduates in good standing at Haverford College. It is the body for student self-government. The Students' Council is elected from among the members of the Students' Association, and carries most of the burden of leadership in the undergraduate body. In addition, there are dormitory representatives elected to the Council.

THE HONOR SYSTEM COMMITTEE is responsible for introducing the Honor System to incoming students. It also makes periodic evaluations of how the System works.

Honor System

The Honor System at Haverford is an expression of a belief that students can successfully meet the responsibility of setting and enforcing standards in social and academic life. Working in honest accordance with the professor's instructions is the basic principle in the academic area. In the social area the fundamental principle is respect for the reputation of women guests and of the College. Students have the right to entertain women in their rooms, subject to the regulations of the Students' Association.

The Honor Pledge, which is quoted below, is called to the attention of each applicant for admission to Haverford College. In signing this pledge the student accepts the Honor System in its entirety, realizing that it is subject to change by the democratic processes of student government. Specifically, he pledges to uphold two responsibilities under the Honor System. First, he pledges to govern his own conduct according to the principles which have been adopted and to understand what conduct is acceptable in specific situations. To gain this understanding the student himself must carefully consider the principles involved and should discuss them with other students in order to further his own understanding. The standards which define permissible conduct under the Honor System are the standards which the Students' Association has adopted, rather than a student's own moral beliefs. The second obligation is twofold. First, the student must report himself to the Students' Council if he has failed to act in accordance with the standards of the System in a certain situation. Secondly, if he discovers a violation committed by someone else, he must ask the offender to uphold his pledge by reporting himself. If the offender refuses, the person who has discovered the violation is pledged to report it to the Students' Council. In this manner each individual becomes personally responsible for the successful operation of the entire System.

There are several ways in which the Honor System contributes to student life. There is educational value in deciding as a group what standards and regulations are needed in a college and in considering carefully the factors which make standards necessary. Students are willing to be responsible for these standards because they themselves have set them. At the same time Haverford successfully meets its responsibility to the community by maintaining an acceptable level of conduct.

The Honor System gives rise to freedom for the student by eliminating the need for certain regulations—regulations which would be necessary not for their intrinsic worth but simply as a less efficient method of dealing with the problem of student conduct. The freedom for the Haverford student expresses itself in activities which are both privileges and responsibilities. This freedom contributes to the atmosphere of integrity and mutual confidence that prevails at Haverford.

Each entering student should feel confident, before selecting Haverford, that he can give his active support to the Honor System. He should realize that its success, which is of great importance to him personally and to the whole student body, and indeed to the College itself, depends upon his willingness to give it his complete support.

HONOR PLEDGE

"I hereby accept the Haverford College Honor System, realizing that it is my responsibility to safeguard, uphold, and preserve each part of the Honor System and the attitude of personal and collective honor upon which it is based."

Societies and Organizations

THE PUBLIC AFFAIRS ASSOCIATION is an organization of men interested in political, economic and sociological affairs. It includes as subsidiary groups a chapter of the Intercollegiate Conference on Government and the Political Forum which is responsible for bringing speakers on current affairs in these fields to the campus.

THE INTERNATIONAL CLUB, founded in 1954 by an exchange student, offers opportunities for Haverford students to become acquainted with the more personal and intimate side of customs in foreign countries.

The W. W. COMFORT DEBATING SOCIETY elects to membership men who have shown a consistent interest in debating, and who have represented the College on more than one occasion. Every year a series of intercollegiate debates is conducted.

THE STUDENT CURRICULUM COMMITTEE investigates and evaluates Haverford's methods and philosophy of education and makes suggestions to the Faculty and Administration on the subject of the curriculum and College program.

THE ADVISORY COMMITTEE ON COLLECTION SPEAKERS makes suggestions on possible speakers for the College and arranges for interested students to meet with these visitors.

THE DRAMA CLUB, in conjunction with the Bryn Mawr College Drama Guild, produces on the average three major plays a year, alternating between the Bryn Mawr and Haverford stages. Meetings, that are open to all regardless of previous experience, are the workshop of the Club with lectures and discussions on all vital aspects of play production.

THE COLLEGE GLEE CLUB, which is the chief musical organization of the College, is open to all who have a love of music and enjoy singing. Rehearsals are held twice weekly. The repertoire includes short numbers of various types and one or more major works each season, the latter being presented in conjunction with the chorus from a women's college. There are trips at various times and, some years, a concert tour during spring vacation. Tryouts are held after the first month of rehearsals for both Freshmen and Upper-classmen. Regular members are chosen on the basis of interest, voice quality, and reading ability.

Smaller ensemble groups for chamber music are fostered at both colleges. There is opportunity for instrumental study with noted teachers at nearby music institutions.

THE BAND plays at football games, pep rallies, and on a few other occasions.

THE RADIO CLUB operates the College radio station, WHRC. Members of the club arrange programs, operate the station, and build or buy necessary equipment. The studios are located in the third floor of the Union Building.

THE PHOTOGRAPHIC CLUB promotes interest in photography and has the use of a dark-room and equipment located in Leeds Hall.

THE NAUTICAL CLUB is composed of undergraduate students of the College. Its purpose is to promote an interest in sailing for pleasure and to engage in inter-collegiate dinghy racing. It is a member of the Inter-Collegiate Yacht Racing Association.

THE VARSITY CLUB of Haverford College, organized in 1936, is composed of undergraduates who have won varsity letters. Its purpose is to advance the interests of the College and of athletics in every way consistent with the high ideals of the College.

DEPARTMENTAL CLUBS. There are at Haverford various departmental groups, which arrange for outside speakers and often hold discussion sessions.

Among these are the French Club, German Club, Spanish Club, Philosophy Club, Psychology Club, a Humanities Forum which discusses topics of general interest to students of language, literature, philosophy, and the fine arts; the Mathematics Club, Biology Club, and Chemistry Club. A number of these clubs sponsor demonstrations, plays, and social gatherings.

Joint Faculty and Student Group

THE COMMITTEE ON STUDENT AFFAIRS is a joint committee made up of members of the faculty and undergraduates. It is charged with supervising the arrangements for social affairs on campus, and with reviewing the budgets of various recognized student organizations.

THE CAMPUS CLUB is an association of graduates, faculty members, undergraduates, and friends of the College who are interested in maintaining and increasing the beauty of the College campus.

Student Publications

THE HAVERFORD NEWS is a weekly newspaper, sent to all undergraduates and to all members of the alumni body. It is published on Fridays, during term-time, by undergraduates. There are opportunities for all interested men on both editorial and business staffs.

THE HAVERFORD COLLEGE HANDBOOK is published each fall under the auspices of the Students' Council. It contains information particularly valuable to new students.

THE RECORD is published annually by the Senior class, with the support of the Students' Association. It includes a record of the year, with particular emphasis upon the activities of the graduating class.

THE HAVERFORD REVUE is a magazine devoted to student literary effort. It is published irregularly.

Health Program

EACH STUDENT is given a thorough examination at the beginning of the Freshman year, and at other times as recommended by the College physician. Chest x-rays are provided each year for the entire student body. Influenza Vaccine is recommended and given to the entire student body each year, at no additional cost to the student.

Each student is entitled to unlimited dispensary service, at stated hours, and first-aid service at any time.

In case of illness, each student is entitled to two weeks of residence in the Morris Infirmary each semester, ordinary medicine, diagnostic laboratory work, any x-rays needed for diagnosis, and the services of the College physician and resident nurse.

Students will be charged $5.00 a day for residence in the Infirmary after their first two weeks. Day students will be charged for board in addition, while in the Infirmary.

Each student is also covered by a blanket accident policy which pays actual expenses resulting from any accident up to a limit of $500.00 for each accident. The expenses covered include x-rays, medicine, surgical appliances, hospital bills, nursing care, physician's fee, surgeon's fee, and also dentist bills for repair or replacement of natural teeth as a result of an accident, subject to the approval of the College physician. The coverage is in force from 12:01 A.M. Standard Time three days before the date when registration of entering students begins until midnight three days after Commencement Day.

All of these services are covered by the Unit Fee which is paid by all students (see page 27).

The Infirmary, presented by John T. Morris, '67, contains ten beds, a surgical room, an isolation ward for contagious diseases, its own kitchen, and accommodations for a resident nurse. Every provision has been made for medical and surgical treatment of all cases among students during the college year. The danger of infection through illness in the college dormitories is thus minimized.

Library, Laboratories, and Other Academic Facilities

The Library

THE HAVERFORD COLLEGE LIBRARY is planned and developed with the primary purpose of providing the intellectual resources of books, periodicals, and pamphlets needed to sustain the work of the academic curriculum. Most of the volumes have been selected by the teaching faculty, and, with the exception of some special collections described below, the books and periodicals are all on open shelves and readily accessible for over ninety hours a week during the college year. In the administration of the Library, the aim is to bring the resources of the book collection as effectively as possible into the academic life of the College.

Beyond this primary purpose, the Library seeks through several collections to provide opportunities for independent research in certain fields. Most notable of such collections is the Quaker Collection, which attracts many visiting scholars each year. The Government Depository and International Documents Collections provide extensive resources for independent study in the social sciences, and there are further collections of autograph material, orientalia, and particularly of Renaissance literature offering similar research opportunities in other fields.

The Haverford Library contains about 200,000 volumes, and holds subscriptions to over 600 literary and scientific periodicals. Though designed especially for the use of students and faculty of the College, the Library welcomes outside readers who wish to consult the books, and, under certain restrictions, may grant them special borrowing privileges. The Library is open on week-days from 8:00 A.M. to 11:00 P.M., and on Sundays from 2:00 to 11:00 P.M. (Treasure Room: Week-days — 9:00 - 5:00; Saturdays — 9:00 - 12:00). Special hours are arranged for vacation periods.

The Library building, the first portion of which (the present north wing) was built in 1863, has grown by five successive additions. The construction of a new Stack in 1941 has assured room for growth of the book collections for several years to come. In December 1952 the original north wing was renovated in memory of William Pyle Philips, and now forms a bright and comfortable room for quiet study. There are also three special reading rooms in the building:

THE GUMMERE-MORLEY MEMORIAL READING ROOM, decorated and equipped by the Class of 1892, provides a reading and browsing room for Haverford students.

THE RUFUS M. JONES STUDY, a replica of Rufus Jones' own study, with his own books and furniture, is used for seminar classes in philosophy as well as for quiet reading.

THE TREASURE ROOM, provided through the generosity of Morris E. Leeds of the Class of 1888, contains the Quaker Collection as well as other rare books and special collections.

Special Collections

THE QUAKER COLLECTION, containing approximately 20,000 books and 40,000 manuscripts, maps and pictures of interest to the Society of Friends, provides a repository for Quaker literature in the United States, and makes Haverford a vital center for the study of the history and philosophy of Quakerism. The unique nucleus of the library is The William H. Jenks Collection of Friends' Tracts, mostly of the seventeenth century, which numbers about 1500 separately bound titles.

THE RUFUS M. JONES COLLECTION ON MYSTICISM contains almost a thousand books and pamphlets from the fifteenth century to the present day.

THE TOBIAS COLLECTION OF THE WRITINGS OF RUFUS M. JONES is practically complete. It consists of 168 separate volumes and 16 boxes of pamphlets and extracts.

THE CHARLES ROBERTS AUTOGRAPH COLLECTION contains more than 20,000 items, embracing autographs of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, authors, statesmen, scientists, ecclesiastics, and monarchs, and also several series of valuable papers on religious and political history.

THE CHRISTOPHER MORLEY COLLECTION OF AUTOGRAPH LETTERS comprises about 200 letters and memoranda selected by Mr. Morley from his correspondence files. Over one hundred contemporary authors are represented.

THE WILLIAM PYLE PHILIPS COLLECTION contains more than seventy-five rare books and manuscripts, mostly of the Renaissance period. Among the treasures of this collection are first editions of Dante, Copernicus, Spenser, the King James Bible, Milton, Newton, and the four folios of Shakespeare.

THE HARRIS COLLECTION OF ANCIENT AND ORIENTAL MANUSCRIPTS contains over sixty Hebrew, Greek, Latin, Arabic, Syriac, and Ethiopian rolls and codices collected by J. Rendel Harris.

Affiliations

Haverford maintains a cooperative arrangement with Bryn Mawr and Swarthmore whereby the facilities of the libraries of all three colleges are open to the faculty and students of each of the colleges.

THE PHILADELPHIA BIBLIOGRAPHICAL CENTER AND UNION LIBRARY CATALOGUE, the largest regional cooperative catalogue in America, enables users of the Haverford Library to locate books in over one hundred and seventy libraries of the Philadelphia area.

THE LIBRARY ASSOCIATES is an organization of graduates and friends of the College, devoted to increasing the usefulness of the Library. It serves to bring the facilities of the Library to wider notice and to make them available to the whole Haverford community; to encourage the making of gifts to the Library; and to aid in the use of the Library for exhibition purposes. Inquiries should be addressed to The Library, Haverford College.

Scientific Laboratories

THE WILLIAM J. STRAWBRIDGE MEMORIAL OBSERVATORY is equipped with three equatorially mounted telescopes, a 10-inch and a 4½-inch refractor, and a 6-inch reflector; a reflecting telescope with 8-inch mirror and altazimuth mounting; a meridian circle telescope of 3¾-inch aperture; a zenith telescope of 2¼-inch aperture; a spectrohelioscope; an astrographic mounting provided with two 4-inch Ross lenses and a 4-inch guiding telescope; sidereal clocks, a chronograph, and other instruments. The astronomical library is housed in the Observatory.

THE LYMAN BEECHER HALL CHEMISTRY LABORATORY is a three-story structure with working space in the various laboratories for about two hundred and fifty students. Separate laboratories are available for general chemistry and qualitative analysis, quantitative analysis, organic chemistry, qualitative organic analysis and organic synthesis, semimicro quantitative analysis, and physical chemistry, respectively. In addition two rooms are devoted to the needs of research students. Books and periodicals dealing with chemical subjects are housed in a comfortably furnished library on the first floor which is open to the students.

THE HILLES LABORATORY OF APPLIED SCIENCE houses the Engineering Department. This modern building contains classrooms, drawing rooms, a departmental library, shops, and mechanical and electrical laboratories.

Exceptional facilities for observing the practical side of the work are offered by the many manufacturing companies in and near Philadelphia and frequent inspection trips are made.

SHARPLESS HALL is occupied on the two lower floors by the Department of Physics. Here are situated the departmental library, laboratories, darkrooms, shops, and rooms for individual work. Through the gift of William P. Philips, '02, and through other acquisitions, the department is equipped for advanced work in electronics and x-rays.

The upper floors house the Biology and Psychology laboratories, and the Biology library.

Natural History Collections

Archaeological Collection

Art Collection

A permanent art collection, including paintings and drawings by Homer, Inness, Pintorricchio, Sargent, Turner, and Whistler, is displayed in the Library.

Temporary exhibitions of paintings, drawings, and photographs are held from time to time at the College.

Framed reproductions of outstanding paintings are available for loan to students at the beginning of each semester.

Music Collection

In addition to a considerable collection of musical scores and books in the general Library, the special equipment of the Music Department consists of several pianos and a collection of scores, books, and phonograph records presented in 1933 by the Carnegie Corporation. This collection has been amplified by yearly accessions, and now numbers close to 1600 records. A large part of this collection is available to students at stated hours in a special listening room.

THE ALFRED PERCIVAL SMITH ROOMS in the Haverford Union are reserved for music study. There is a larger room with a Steinway Grand for the holding of classes and informal concerts organized by the Music Department, and a small library in which valuable books, scores and records are kept.

The large concerts are held in Roberts Hall where a concert piano and a Hammond organ are at the disposal of artists.

Campus

THE ARBORETUM AND THE WOOLMAN WALK, the latter the gift of Edward Woolman, '93, contain a wide variety of woody plants, both indigenous and exotic, thus permitting direct observation and study by students of the natural sciences.

THE MARY NEWLIN SMITH MEMORIAL GARDEN which adjoins the south side of the Library, while primarily developed as a decorative feature, contains a wealth of flowering shrubs of interest to the botanist.

The Bucky Foundation

THE BUCKY FOUNDATION, which has as its goal the promotion of a spiritually grounded political and economic order, and the training of responsible students for such an order, maintains an office at the College.

Income from the Foundation has been used to sponsor a Constructive Citizenship program and for the training of students through the Relief and Reconstruction Unit. It is being used to support Haverford participation in a program of week-end camps.

Fellowships, Prizes and Honors

Fellowships

THE CLEMENTINE COPE FELLOWSHIP was established in 1899. The income is applied to "assisting worthy and promising graduates of Haverford College in continuing their studies at Haverford or at some other institute, in this country or abroad, approved by the Board of Managers. Candidates shall be nominated by the College Faculty to the Board of Managers."

The Faculty will nominate a First Cope Fellow and a Second Cope Fellow whose individual stipends, not to exceed $1,000, will be determined by the Board.

Applications for a Clementine Cope Fellowship must be in the hands of the President before March 1, accompanied by whatever statement of extra-curricular activities the candidate considers relevant.

Prizes

(All prizes awarded in books are marked with appropriate bookplates. As soon as possible after the award a list of standard books, from which selection is to be made, should be submitted for approval to the head of the department awarding the prize. Books selected from the approved list may then be ordered through the College Business Office. The College grants an average discount of ten per cent of prize books, and supplies the bookplates.)

ALUMNI PRIZE FOR COMPOSITION AND ORATORY.—A prize of $50.00 was established by the Alumni Association in 1875 to be awarded annually for excellence in composition and oratory. Competition is open to Freshmen and Sophomores, but the same man may not receive the prize twice. The competition for this prize is administered by the Department of English.

JOHN B. GARRETT PRIZES FOR SYSTEMATIC READING.—A first prize of $50.00 and a second prize of $25.00 will be given at the end of the Junior or Senior year to the two students who, besides creditably pursuing their regular course of study, shall have carried on the most profitable program of reading in a comprehensive topic during a full college year.

Candidates for these prizes must register with the chairman of the department under whose supervision the work will be performed. The department is responsible for guiding his work and reporting his achievement to the Committee on Fellowships and Prizes for final judgment. Either or both of these prizes may be omitted if, in the judgment of the Committee, the work does not justify an award.

Interested students should apply directly to a relevant department for information.

THE CLASS OF 1896 PRIZES IN LATIN AND MATHEMATICS.—Two prizes of $10.00 each, in books, to be known as "The Class of 1896 Prizes in Latin and Mathematics," were established by the bequest of Paul D. I. Maier of the Class of 1896. They are awarded at the end of the Sophomore year to the students who have done the best work in the departments concerned.

THE LYMAN BEECHER HALL PRIZE IN CHEMISTRY.—A prize of $100.00 was established by the Class of 1898 on the twenty-fifth anniversary of its graduation in honor of Lyman Beecher Hall, Professor of Chemistry at Haverford College from 1880 to 1917.

This prize may be awarded to a student who has attained a high degree of proficiency in Chemistry and who shows promise of contributing substantially to the advancement of that science. It may be awarded to a Junior, to a Senior, or to a graduate of Haverford College within three years after graduation. It may be awarded more than once to the same student, or it may be withheld.

THE CLASS OF 1902 PRIZE IN LATIN.—A prize of $10.00 in books, is offered annually by the Class of 1902 to the Freshman whose work in Latin, in recitation and examinations combined, shall be the most satisfactory. At the discretion of the professor in charge of the Department, this prize may be omitted in any year.

THE DEPARTMENT PRIZES IN MATHEMATICS.—A first prize of $30.00 and a second prize of $20.00 are awarded on the basis of a three hour examination on selected topics in Freshman Mathematics. The examination is held annually on the first Monday after the Spring Recess, and is open to Freshmen only.

ELLISTON P. MORRIS AND ELIZABETH P. SMITH PEACE PRIZES.—These have been combined for the year 1956-57 into a single competition offering three awards of $200.00, $100.00 and $50.00 respectively. It is open to all undergraduates and to graduate students.

The prizes are awarded for the best essays bearing on the general topic of "Means of Achieving International Peace." Essays should be deposited with the Registrar before May 1. The judges shall be appointed by the President of the College.

Prizes will not be awarded if, in the opinion of the judges, a sufficiently high standard of merit has not been attained.

PRIZES IN PHILOSOPHY AND BIBLICAL LITERATURE.—A prize of $40.00 and a second prize of $25.00, in books, are offered annually to the students who, in the judgment of the professor in charge, do the most satisfactory outside reading in Philosophy in connection with the courses in that Department.

A prize of $40.00 and a second prize of $25.00, in books, are offered annually to the students who, in the judgment of the professor in charge, do the most satisfactory reading on the Bible and related subjects.

THE SCHOLARSHIP IMPROVEMENT PRIZES.—A first prize of $50.00 and a second prize of $45.00 are awarded at the end of the Senior year to the two students who, in the opinion of the judges appointed by the President of the College, show the most steady and marked improvement in scholarship during their college course.

THE FOUNDERS CLUB PRIZE.—A prize of $25.00 is offered and awarded annually by the Founders Club to the Freshman who is judged to have shown the best attitude toward college activities and scholastic work.

THE S. P. LIPPINCOTT PRIZE IN HISTORY.—A prize of $100.00 is offered annually for competition in the Department of History under the following general provisions:

First—Competition is open to Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors who have taken or are taking work in the Department of History.

Second—The prize shall not be awarded twice to the same student.

Third—The prize may be withheld in any year, if the conditions listed below are not met by any of the competitors to the satisfaction of a majority of the judges.

Conditions

In competition for this prize an essay of not less than 5,000 words shall be submitted as evidence of scholarly ability in the collection and presentation of historical material, treating a subject selected with the approval of a member of the Department of History. The essay may be written either independently, or in connection with course or Honors work in History.

Essays should be typewritten and deposited with the Registrar before May 1.

THE NEWTON PRIZE IN ENGLISH LITERATURE.—A prize of $50.00 established by A. E. Newton may be awarded annually on the basis of Final Honors in English, provided that the work of the leading candidate, in the judgment of the English Department, merits this award.

THE WILLIAM ELLIS SCULL PRIZE.—A prize of $50.00 established in 1929 by William Ellis Scull, '83, is awarded annually to the upperclassman who shall have shown "the greatest achievement in voice and in the articulation of the English language." This prize is administered by the Department of English.

THE GEORGE PEIRCE PRIZE IN CHEMISTRY OR MATHEMATICS.—A prize of $50.00 in memory of Dr. George Peirce, '03, is offered annually to a student of Chemistry or Mathematics "who has shown marked proficiency in either or both of these studies and who intends to follow a profession which calls for such preparation. Preference is to be given to a student who has elected organic chemistry, and failing such a student, to one who has elected Mathematics or some branch of Chemistry other than organic. Should there be two students of equal promise, the one who is proficient in Greek shall be given preference." The prize is offered, however, exclusively for students who have expressed the intention of engaging in research.

THE STUDENT ORGANIZATION PRIZE.—Classmates of Edmund Jennings Lee, 1942, who lost his life in the service of his country, have established in his memory a fund, the income from which is to be given annually to that student organization which, in the opinion of a committee of judges, has contributed most toward advancing the interests of the College.

THE THERESA HELBURN PLAYWRITING AWARD.—These awards, open to all students of Bryn Mawr College, are given by Theresa Helburn to encourage playwriting. The prize consists of $100.00 for the best full-length play and $50.00 for the best one-act play submitted each year and considered worthy. Original work is required; adaptations, translations and collaborations are not eligible. Haverford students in playwriting may submit manuscripts for these awards.

Honor Societies

PHI BETA KAPPA.—The Haverford College Chapter of the Phi Beta Kappa Society of America was chartered in 1898 as Zeta of Pennsylvania. Election of members-in-course, Alumni members, and Honorary members, based upon scholarly attainment and distinction, takes place at the end of the academic year. President: Irvin C. Poley, '12; Vice President: Howard Comfort, '24; Secretary: Harry W. Pfund, '22; Treasurer: Holland Hunter, '43.

FOUNDERS CLUB.—The Founders Club was established in 1914 as a Haverford organization of students, alumni, and Faculty. Election to its membership is recognition of a sound academic record combined with noteworthy participation in extra-curricular activities. Undergraduate elections are usually limited to the Junior and Senior classes. President: John A. Lester, Jr., '37; Secretary: Richard T. Forman, '57.

Honors

Honors are of two kinds: Honorable Mention in a single course and Final Honors for work in the major department.

Honorable Mention in a single year course will be awarded at the end of the Freshman or Sophomore year for acceptable work in that course and additional work in the total amount of not less than seventy-five hours. Candidates for Honorable Mention must obtain a minimum grade of 85 in the regular work of the course and may be required to pass an examination on the additional work. Two courses of one semester each in the same department may be construed as a single course.

A student who has received the prescribed grade in the regular work of a course required for Honorable Mention, but who has not done the additional work required in connection with that course may do so with the consent of the professor in charge during the succeeding year.

Final Honors are designed to provide stimulation for capable students to undertake and carry through academic work of high quality. The Faculty has agreed that three indications of such high quality work on the student's part are: first, a broad and thorough understanding of his major field; second, within the range of his honors work a knowledge more profound than would normally be expected; and third, understanding of the relationship of his major field to other areas of human experience.

A student who is considered by his major department to have the ability to become an honors candidate is invited to do so and is informed of the nature of the honors work expected as early in the course of his major work as is convenient. Although the nature of honors work varies from department to department, some work outside of the regular course work in the department, preferably along lines of the student's particular interest, may be required. The honors candidate may gain some time for this extra work by devoting one or more project courses to it in his Senior year.

Three grades of Final Honors are awarded: Honors, High Honors, and Highest Honors. Honors are awarded at the discretion of the major department to honors candidates who meet the qualifications and may, under exceptional circumstances, be awarded to students who have done excellent departmental work even though they have not undertaken honors work as such.

High Honors and Highest Honors are awarded by the Faculty. Candidates for honors whose work has been outstanding are invited by the department to take a public oral examination, conducted by an examination committee under the chairmanship of the major supervisor and including at least two examiners from fields other than the candidate's major. If this committee so recommends, the Faculty may award High or Highest Honors. In general, Highest Honors are reserved for students who have demonstrated both breadth and depth of scholarship.

presented at the Annual Meeting of the Corporation
of Haverford College
October 16, 1956

THE ACADEMIC year 1955-56 marked the conclusion of Gilbert White's administration, a ten-year period notable for important changes and welcome progress in many aspects of the College program and in the physical plant. The change in administration saw the beginning of a period of transition which will continue until a new president has been appointed and has assumed office.*

The year was an unusual one not only because of the change in administration, but also because it was during this period that the Development Program reached a successful conclusion, with Leeds Hall and the Merion apartments completed, and the Field House well under way. It was a year which showed an unusual number of changes in the faculty as a result of death, retirement, and the acceptance of other opportunities.

That the College had reached the end of an era was made apparent by the death of President-emeritus William Wistar Comfort on December 23rd and by the death on January 2nd of his life-long friend, Charles J. Rhoads, who had served so ably not only on the Haverford Board, but also as Chairman of the Board of Bryn Mawr College. Frederic H. Strawbridge completed his fiftieth year of service as a member of the Board of Managers.

In his final report Gilbert White concluded that as he thought of Haverford it was in terms of the men he had known here — Board, faculty, students, alumni. Important as our progress is in buildings, in endowment, in academic program, there can be no question that our past accomplishments, our present efforts, and our hope for the future all center on the young men who come for a period to the College and on the faculty which works with them while they are here.

FACULTY

The end of the academic year brought the retirement of Arnold Post and John Flight from the active faculty. Arnold Post accepted his first appointment on the Haverford faculty in 1917 and has through forty years made a distinctive contribution to the College through his teaching and writing in his own field; he has also displayed a breadth and variety of interest in other directions which has been a source of stimulation, somewhat tinged with awe, to both his students and his colleagues. John Flight first came to Haverford in 1929 and in his modest and unassuming way has, from the upper regions of Sharpless Hall, won the affectionate regard of his students and his fellow members of the faculty. We are fortunate in having both of these men continuing this year with some teaching.

Richard Sutton who joined the Haverford faculty in 1930 and who since Frederic Palmer's retirement has served as Chairman of the Physics Department, resigned to accept a position at Case Institute in Cleveland. This year he was on leave. We miss his presence here, but are glad to see his enthusiasm for a new and challenging opportunity.

Dr. William Lander was appointed College Physician to replace Dr. Henry Cornman, who resigned for reasons of health.

The Medical Expense Reimbursement Plan, under the guidance of a faculty committee, was put into effect, as was the plan for Clinical Medical Care for faculty families under the direction of Dr. William R. Watson, Jr., '41.

An increase in tuition, a special allotment from the Board of Managers, and the happy circumstance of the gift from the Ford Foundation, all combined to make it possible to plan a substantial increase in faculty salaries for the coming year. Gratifying as this is, it should be regarded as a step in a process that must continue.

New members of the faculty in the current year are Melvin Santer in biology; Colin MacKay, Robert Walter and Russell Williams in chemistry; Edgar Rose and Alfred Satterthwaite in English; George Coelho in psychology; Steven Muller in political science; Joseph Miller in physical education; and Theodore Hurlimann in physics. Nicolas Slonimsky will give one course in music during Alfred Swan's absence in the first semester, and Joachim Maass will give a course in German in the second semester.

William W. Ambler, '45, was appointed this month as Assistant Director of Admissions.

During the current year John Ashmead will be on leave in Greece; Richard Bernheimer and Alfred Swan will be on leave the first semester; Philip Bell and Wallace MacCaffrey will be in England for the year; Field Haviland will spend his leave at the Brookings Institution in Washington; Herman Somers will be on a special project at the University of California; Kenneth Woodroffe will be teaching at Reed College; Frances deGraaff will be abroad for the whole year; Marcel Gutwirth will spend the second semester in France.

John Roche has resigned to accept a position at Brandeis University. John Campbell has left to join the staff of the National Institute for Mental Health in Bethesda, Md. Last month Thomas O. Jones resigned to accept a position in chemical research.

Emmett Dunn, who joined the faculty in 1928, died on February 13th. A distinguished scientist with an international reputation in his area of special interest, his loss is a sad one.

Although the application list was somewhat larger than in the previous year, the number of acceptances was held to a figure which would make it possible to maintain an average of 450 undergraduates for the year.

Again there was an increase in the amount available for scholarships. One beneficial result of this was the possibility of preventing the increase in tuition from working hardships on scholarship candidates.

The students were again most helpful with their advisory committees on Collection speakers, dining room operation, and other phases of College life.

In the Admissions Office it seems clear that the mounting enrollments in the schools are beginning to make themselves felt in college application lists. This is the beginning of a trend which will increase each year for a considerable period, and which will inevitably raise again questions on the size of the College.

One particularly pleasing and effective student undertaking has been the orientation program for the freshmen prior to the opening of College.

ACADEMIC PROGRAM

Although there was little change last year in the courses offered, plans were made during the year for major changes in the future in several areas. The offerings in English were extensively revised, with the intention of meeting more adequately the needs both of those who wish to specialize in English literature and of students whose interest in English is more general. Additional revisions were made in the offerings in biology; the program continues to be based on four separate one-semester introductory courses, but a more extensive advanced offering will be available. The physics program has also been revised and strengthened.

Interdepartmental cooperation, which has been especially strong in the social science departments for several years, is increasing in the natural sciences, especially among physics, mathematics and astronomy where plans have been made for definite interdepartmental offerings.

The experimental programs in mathematics and biology, mentioned in previous reports to the Corporation, seem to be well established. Two other experimental programs, the Senior Seminar and the program in Social and Technical Assistance, were conducted on only a modest scale last year and are not being continued for 1956-57. They were valuable as experiments and the few students involved were doubtless greatly benefited, but for the present at least it seems best to direct our energies and resources elsewhere.

As in previous years, the resources of the Philips Fund were being used to bring distinguished visitors to the campus for a variety of purposes, including classroom instruction, Collection talks, and lectures supplementing regular class work. Both the faculty and the students profit from the close contact with distinguished persons from off the campus which this program makes possible.

After several years' experience with the Visitors Program we are now beginning a study of the Program from its inception to see what its impact has been and how we should plan for its more effective operation in the future.

For some time it has been clear that a program of a similar nature covering the humanities would be most welcome. Already one alumnus has provided for a start in this direction and it is our hope that in the next few years this program will receive further support.

The Observatory continues its customary policy of entertaining visitors. During each year approximately 350 people come to the Observatory, and this year there have already been over 100.

PLANT AND BUILDING PROGRAM

The Field House is moving rapidly toward the time when we can begin to use it. The chief items still in process are the electrical installations and the floors. We should remind ourselves that as we begin to use the building it will be for the physical education program and that until additional funds are available we cannot use the building for spectator sports. A new stack has been completed at the Power House, providing for a more efficient use of our boilers and for an incinerator. A new low pressure boiler has been installed which will take care of our needs throughout the College when no heating is required.

Attractive new benches, the gift of the Class of 1956, have been placed along some of the walks.

During the year another laboratory was added in Sharpless Hall for the Biology Department, and the seminar room which formerly occupied this space has been relocated in Chase Hall.

The customary painting of buildings and routine upkeep has been carried on through the vacation period. A damp summer and additional work in landscaping around our new buildings has put a heavy demand on our small grounds crew.

In the past several years we have made considerable progress on faculty housing. This is a matter which will receive further study.

FINANCES

The College finished the year with an operating surplus which will be added to the reserve fund which has been accumulating for several years. Although in this year we did not have the same unusually large dividends and back payments on securities as we did in 1954-55, the return on investments was good.

The gift from the Ford Foundation for faculty salaries and the help which we received from the alumni made a substantial faculty salary increase possible. To fortify this program and to help meet our rising operating costs, tuition was increased from $750 to $850 for the year 1956-57.

A readjustment of the William Maul Measey Trust for scholarships strengthened our scholarship program, as did further generous additions to the Trust by the donor.

THE DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM AND ANNUAL GIVING

The conclusion of the Building Program was set for the end of 1955 and all Haverfordians can be proud that the goal of one million dollars was surpassed by $30,000. This time last year we were still short of the million dollar goal by $64,000. The successful attainment of the goal was a remarkable achievement by the College's alumni and friends.

After having had the use of Leeds Hall for a year we can report the enthusiastic reaction of the students — and indeed of us all — to this fine addition to our dormitory facilities. When the present construction on the Field House is completed, the College will have the facilities for the physical education program and for intramural athletics which it has needed for thirty years. Conflicts between the physical education and the academic programs will be eliminated.

When the Field House was planned it was decided that the first step should be a structure useful immediately, but providing for uses not possible until we were in a position to make further expenditures. Unfinished business includes the gallery to provide seating space for 1000 spectators, additional space for fencing and wrestling, and squash courts. Other physical needs include a wing to Leeds Hall (for which the architectural plans have been completed), additional classroom and laboratory space, a rearrangement of the facilities in the Library, and a number of other items which need not be delineated here.

One of the primary objectives of the Development Program has been the establishment of a regular Annual Giving Program to help the College in current operations in the year ahead. Giving of this kind will make possible improvement in the College's service to its students. As we move forward under a new administration, a program of priorities will be worked out. This program will take into account both instructional and physical needs. Certainly one of the first obligations is the matter of faculty salaries.

Plans for the Annual Giving Program for this year have matured. John S. Williams, '20, is the chairman, and a goal of $75,000 has been set. On the basis of the support to date from alumni, from parents of past and present students, and from friends of the College, this seems to be a realistic estimate. Our experience with annual giving in the next two years will have important implications for Haverford's future growth.

SUMMARY

This report has been designed to cover a year which, as already stated, brought about a change in administration with a number of attendant problems. In some respects it was a difficult year, although because of the interest of all concerned — alumni, Board, students, faculty, staff — the College has continued its forward progress in a most heartening manner. This progress is the result of a basic policy in which we all believe, as well as the impetus built up over a long period of years.

As we move ahead in the 124th year of Haverford, we should remind ourselves of our tradition as a liberal arts college and of the obligation that is placed upon us by the opportunities presented by our size, by our financial resources, by our carefully selected student body, and by our strong and imaginative faculty — to see to it that, insofar as we are able to help them, our graduates go forth with courage, with vision, and with a desire to serve their fellowmen.

We are well aware of how short we fall in attaining the results to which we aspire, but part of our strength lies in this awareness, and part lies in our constant examination of the process, seeking for more effective ways of achieving our ends. We must concentrate not on our accomplishments but on our opportunities.

The present prospects and future needs of the Library have become very much clearer during the past year by virtue of the completion in March 1956 of the "Statement of Long-Range Objectives in the Development of the Haverford College Library." This twenty-one page report, and the abundant data which support it, are the result of two years of survey and reflection in which the Library staff, the faculty, and the administration of the College have been equally engaged. Its completion and its endorsement by the faculty at their meeting of April 19, 1956, gives to the administration of the Library a philosophy and a direction which we have not had before. We now know quite clearly what sort of Library Haverford needs to aid and foster her intellectual growth in the years immediately ahead. We know the problems we must face; and we know the steps, we can begin to measure the costs, that must be undertaken to surmount those problems. In reviewing the work of the Library in 1955-1956, it is possible for the first time to state just where and how far we have moved in the direction of the Library we think Haverford needs in the foreseeable future; and it is possible to list also the further jobs we must seek to accomplish in 1956-1957.

ACHIEVEMENTS IN 1955-1956

Staff

One serious Library-staff need was studied and estimated in a report by the Librarian in March of last year, the need for a substantial increase in Library-staff salaries. In addition, two major staff needs were revealed by the "Statement of Long-Range Objectives": the addition of a trained librarian to our Cataloguing Department, and an increase in the over-all proportion on the staff of professional to non-professional librarians.

Two of these needs and a portion of the third have been met as the College enters the new fiscal year. A substantial increase in the Library-staff salary-scale was put into effect as of September 1, 1956, co-ordinate with the general increase in administrative staff salaries. Also in September 1956 Mrs. Mae E. Craig joined the staff of the Cataloguing Department.

Mrs. Craig is an expert cataloguer with twenty years of college library experience; with her help we may expect to achieve not only the cataloguing of many accumulated gifts and special collections but also more prompt and thorough cataloguing of our growing annual acquisitions.

Collections

Provision has been made for the early accomplishment of three objectives described in the "Statement" regarding the development of our Library collections:

1. The construction of new seminar classrooms on the third floor of Whitall has released Library #3 from classroom use and has given us an excellent headquarters for the Micromaterials Reading Room. Here the microfilm reader and cabinets will be housed, and a reader and shelves provided for microcard and microprint materials. The Micromaterials Reading Room will give us one effective means of combatting the growing space problem, and in future years will enable us to acquire in microform resource materials which would otherwise be unobtainable.
2. At the same time it has been possible to move the large map-collection from the third floor of Sharpless Hall back to the Library. It has been housed conveniently also in Library #3, which thus will become in the course of the current year both a Micromaterials Reading Room and a Geography Reference Room.
3. It has also been possible in 1955-1956 to budget for and acquire one of the two major bibliographical resources for which the "Statement" revealed an urgent need: Joseph Sabin's Dictionary of Books Relating to America from its Discovery to the Present Time (New York, 1868-92, 1928-36), in 29 volumes.

AGENDA FOR 1956-1957

Conservation of Shelf-Space

The problem of conserving Library shelf-space is one on which the "Statement" has a good deal to say, and it is one which we must take three steps to meet during the current year:

1. Some classifications, particularly those on the second, third, and fourth floors of the stack, must be relocated to make room for the even growth of our collections. In the process the fifth floor shelving-space must be brought into much fuller use.
2. A program must be undertaken of weeding out and discarding books in crowded areas which, in the judgment of the faculty, are no longer needed in the Library.
3. The possibility of exchanging some long sets for microfilm, micro-card, or microprint sets must be explored thoroughly, especially where (as in the Government and International Documents Collections) it might effect substantial saving in space without deterring student use of the works in question.

Orientation

The Library leaflet described in the "Statement" should be printed in the current year, providing a map-diagram of the book collections and elementary directions for the use of the Library.

Technical Procedures

For the Library staff there are two projects which can and should be undertaken in 1956-1957:

1. Conversion of the circulation charging-system from the present double-record to a single-entry system.
2. Compilation of a staff-manual must be begun to give ultimately a detailed and exact job-description for each position in the staff-organization.

It hardly needs to be said that, in defining these jobs for 1956-1957 and in charting the Library's course for many years to come, the completed "Statement of Long-Range Objectives" will be of inestimable value.

STAFF

There have been two changes in the permanent staff of the Library during the past year. Mrs. Martha Schellenger left her position at the Reserve Book Room in July, and has been replaced this September by Mrs. Sarah Caspar. Miss Katherine Jordan, Secretarial Assistant, left the staff in January and has been replaced by Mrs. Pauline Axelsson. Two members have been added to the staff for the current year: Mrs. Mae Craig, as mentioned above, has joined the Cataloguing Department, and Mrs. James B. Reill, through the generosity of the Shoemaker Fund, has come to the staff to assist in cataloguing Quaker manuscripts.

GIFTS RECEIVED

Gifts to the Library during the past year were so numerous as almost to defy summary description. Over one hundred and forty donors — students, faculty, alumni, parents, and other friends of the College — made gifts of books, newspapers, periodicals, and pamphlets which have strengthened our collections in many fields. The following list, extensive though it is, gives but a sampling of the total number of gifts received.

From the American Friends Service Committee, 119 books and pamphlets on international relief work.

From Philip W. Bell, 147 books and many periodicals in economics and foreign affairs.

From Henry Joel Cadbury, '03, 40 books and reprint articles on Quakerism.

From Charles Lyon Chandler, 34 pamphlets published by the Newcomen Society of England.

From Tristram C. Colket, III, '46, 33 books on medicine and surgery.

From Franklin Day, 5 books on history and calligraphy.

His skill and judgment have been a great asset to us in the work this fall.

GIFTS TO OTHER LIBRARIES

We are happy to have been able to make two gifts to other libraries in the past year. Forty-eight volumes of our Quaker duplicates were given to the Library of the new and growing Eastern Baptist Theological Seminary; and, thanks very largely to the Haverford College Service Fund Committee who carried out a campus-wide collection of books, we sent off six large cartons of books and pamphlets to the Asia Foundation in San Francisco, whence they were sent on to the Orient for use by Asian students.

1955-1956 has been a busy year in the College Library. The Library Associates held four meetings on Sunday afternoons in the Treasure Room, in October, November, March, and May. On October 22, 1955, the Renaissance Conference of the Philadelphia Area held their annual meeting at the Library, and a special exhibition of the William Pyle Philips Renaissance Collection was arranged for that occasion. Of the less spectacular but all-important routine business of the Library, the statistics below give a detailed record.

In our Report last year we looked back upon the history of the Quaker Collection at Haverford, and forward towards its growth and service in the future. This year we shall record some of the details of that growth, and acknowledge the gifts of those who have contributed to it.

ACTIVITIES

It seemed useful to circulate last year's Report as a pamphlet, The Quaker Collection at Haverford, with an appended list of the important donations of Quaker books to the Library since 1833, and a list of the more important published books on Quaker subjects for which the Haverford library furnished material. This we sent to Quaker alumni and to Friends who are friends of Haverford, to recall to their minds the significance of the Quaker Collection and the importance of depositing their Quaker books and family papers in the Collection when they no longer have space for them. The gifts recorded below reflect the response to this encouragement.

Visitors: Twenty-eight scholars used the Treasure Room during the year. Henry J. Cadbury appeared frequently; Elizabeth Gray Vining worked through reams of material for a life of Rufus M. Jones; and William Bacon Evans added to his large files of a Dictionary of Quaker Biography. Local Friends such as Francis R. Bacon, Richmond P. Miller, George and Eleanor C. Emlen, Helen Buckler, and David Keiser came to Haverford on Quaker research missions. Among the four visitors who used the Charles Roberts Autograph Collection was Frances Lichten who brought a photographer and for two days took copies of all our materials relating to American artists for the Archives of American Art at Detroit, Michigan. More than a thousand other visitors, students, and friends of the College came into the Treasure Room, either as individuals or as members of groups holding special meetings there.

Inquiries by mail: Fifty-five people sought help from our staff by mail, on subjects such as William Bartram, Mary Dyer, John Woolman, Quaker work in mental hospitals, conscientious objectors, and Lincoln's Quaker ancestry. We had other questions relating to subjects in the Roberts Autograph Collection, including John Marshall, Alexander Hamilton, and Aaron Burr. But why a woman in Fort Myers, Florida, should ask us about the "seventh son of a seventh son" we do not know!

Meetings in the Treasure Room: After the Freshmen had had a chance to become thoroughly acquainted with the College and to experience Fifth-day Meeting for several months, we invited them in April to come to the Treasure Room and learn for themselves of the rich resources there for a study of the Quaker faith, its history, philosophy, and testimonies. Haverford Friends School sent their oldest class to see the Quaker treasures, while three classes came over from the Haverford School to see the Shakespeare Folios. Professor Sargent also brought his Shakespeare class into the Treasure Room so that they could examine the great plays in their earliest printed form, and Professor MacCaffrey entertained a regional conference of Renaissance scholars here in October. The four meetings of the Library Associates are mentioned in the Librarian's Report.

Exhibits: A pictorial history of American colleges, prepared by Dr. Lockwood for the November meeting of the Library Associates, filled our cases for a month, as did a collection of the poetry and other writings of Professor Richard Lattimore of Bryn Mawr, who spoke before the Library of Associates in March. At the turn of the year we exhibited a series of letters of Woodrow Wilson in connection with the Wilson Centennial Anniversary Celebration. In January and February we displayed some of the letters which the Haverford News published in appreciation of the many-sided activities of President Gilbert White. For the first fully united meeting of the Philadelphia Yearly Meeting of Friends in March, 1956, Haverford joined the Friends Historical Library at Swarthmore in a special exhibition. Two cases of letters, pictures, and books at the Arch Street Meetinghouse relating to Friends and President Lincoln showed something of Friends' keen interest in race relations as well as in the problem of war and peace.

Cataloguing: The special cataloguing project for which we had received the generous assistance of the Thomas H. and Mary Williams Shoemaker Fund reached a successful milestone, with the completion by Mrs. Mae E. Craig and the Library staff of the processing of a backlog of over nine hundred Quaker books, two hundred early broadsides, and all of our Quaker pamphlets published before 1800. We now turn in 1956-57 from printed materials to an accumulation of over eight thousand Quaker manuscripts, for the arranging and cataloguing of which we have secured the services of Lucille F. Reill, a member of Old Haverford Meeting. Quaker manuscripts to the number of 1954 went through the accessioning process during the past year, as did 101 for the Charles Roberts Autograph Collection.

Friends Historical Association: The Curator's election to the Presidency of Friends Historical Association in January, 1956, comes as another indication of Haverford's contribution to Quaker historical activities through the many years past. The College's participation in the work of Friends Historical Association runs back through a long line of succession, which begins with Isaac Sharpless and Allen C. Thomas, and carries through Rayner W. Kelsey, Amelia Mott Gummere and Lydia Flagg Gummere, Francis R. Taylor, I. Thomas Steere, William Mintzer Wills, William W. Comfort, Henry J. Cadbury, and many other Haverfordians or wives of Haverfordians. The Assistant Curator, Anna B. Hewitt, continues her valuable help to the Association as Assistant Editor and Chairman of the Membership Committee.

VOLUME LV

HAVERFORD COLLEGE was founded in 1833 as the first college established by members of the Society of Friends in the United States. Wherever the first Quaker settlers set up their meetings for worship, they also opened schools, but because Friends have no ordained ministry or priesthood set apart from secular life, they made in the beginning no provision for institutions of higher learning. With the expansion of science and learning in the early nineteenth century, however, the need for advanced training was felt by the Friends as it was by the many other religious groups in America which founded colleges in that era. A tragic separation in American Quakerism in 1827-28 brought this need sharply to the attention of certain leaders of the "Orthodox" Quaker body in Philadelphia and New York. They organized Haverford, therefore, as an institution which would provide an "enlarged and liberal system of instruction" to meet the intellectual needs of "Friends on this continent," offering a course of instruction in science, mathematics, and classical languages "as extensive as given in any literary institution in this country." In religion, morals, and manners, the students who attended Haverford were, in the Quaker phrase of the day, to receive a "guarded" education, but their training was to be "equal in all respects to that which can be obtained in colleges." Haverford College in those days was modestly called Haverford School, but the intent was clear to create an intellectual center that would give to Friends the kind of education which other young Americans were receiving in the best colleges.

The choice of the site of Haverford College exercised its founders for three years; it was settled by the purchase of 198 acres of rolling farmland in the center of the Welsh Tract, a large area originally set apart by William Penn for Quaker immigrants from Wales. The region still bears the native place-names of its settlers, of which Haverford is one. The site was propitious. Today the College campus (increased to 216 acres) is a beautiful area of fields and woodlands, although the Philadelphia suburbs have spread out along the Main Line to Haverford and beyond. What had been fields grew into a graceful sweep of lawns, distinguished by trees and by planting reminiscent of an English garden. This was the contribution of William Carvill, an English landscape gardener whose careful planting gave Haverford a campus of great charm.

During the first forty years of the College's existence, Founders Hall, the original building, Alumni Hall, which is now incorporated in the Library, and an Astronomical Observatory comprised the major part of the physical plant. Throughout this era Haverford men were proving by their effectiveness in their communities the soundness of the principles on which the College had been founded. In 1847 Haverford opened its doors to young men who were not members of the Society of Friends, and in 1856 it became a degree-granting institution, with a tradition of high scholarship which has continued unshaken. At the same time it has adhered to its Quaker traditions of simplicity of living and enlightened interest in social issues.

An era of progress began in 1874 under the presidency of Thomas Chase. He and his brother, Professor Pliny Earle Chase, brought the institution to full academic stature, and strengthened its endowment. In this period a number of new buildings were erected, notably Barclay Hall, which, as the principal dormitory, became the center of student life.

President Isaac Sharpless, 1887-1917, led Haverford College into the forefront of American collegiate institutions. His many-sided genius enabled him to gather and hold together a faculty of extraordinary capacity. In his regime, and the years immediately following, modern dormitories and classrooms, well-equipped laboratories for Chemistry, Physics, Biology, and Engineering were added to the growing assembly of buildings. The Gymnasium was erected in 1900; Roberts Hall, containing administrative offices and a large auditorium, in 1903. The Haverford Union, used for many College activities, dates from 1910; the Morris Infirmary from 1912. A modern Observatory was built in 1933, and a modern addition to the Library was completed in 1941.

As the College enrollment has grown in recent years, the need for residences in which men of like tastes and interests might have more intimate associations has been met by the establishment of a Spanish House and a French House, each with a resident director. In these specialized student residences the occupants have the advantages of group life without social discrimination of a fraternity system.

The original fund of $60,000 raised when the College was started has been increased by generous bequests and donations to more than $8,300,000. This endowment enables the College to maintain a superior faculty of unusual size in proportion to the number of students. Student enrollment is limited in order that teaching may continue on the basis of personal acquaintance in a unified community, as it has throughout the history of Haverford College.

Haverford Station on the Pennsylvania Railroad, between Bryn Mawr and Ardmore, is twenty minutes from downtown Philadelphia. The campus fronts on the famous Lancaster Pike (U. S. 30). It is approximately two hours train journey from Haverford to New York or Baltimore and less than three hours to Washington. Philadelphia's Orchestra, its museums and libraries, its scientific laboratories and industrial plants are all easily accessible to Haverford students, who can make full use of the cultural opportunities of a city while enjoying the beauty of a college campus in a quiet suburban setting.

THE CORPORATION OF HAVERFORD COLLEGE

TO THE BOARD OF MANAGERS AND THE CORPORATION

The report of your Treasurer for the year September 1, 1955 to August 31, 1956, together with that of the Auditors, is submitted herewith.

Again the College, in spite of somewhat increased expenses, ended the year with a small operating surplus of $37,773.06. It is interesting to note that in the past five years the cost of operating the College has risen from $847,460 to $1,061,126, over 25 per cent. Income has fortunately so far kept pace, but in this ascending spiral perhaps a timely word of caution on expenses other than Faculty Salaries should be in the record.

Endowment during the period has been both increased and decreased: decreased, for we are beginning to pay for the physical improvements to the college, the Corporation's share of the building program, a diminution this year of $120,000 in funds; increased, for bequests, gifts, and the first half of the grant from the Ford Foundation in the amount of $265,000 have led to a total addition to Funds and Trusts of $445,769.94. All of this means that on August 31st, 1956, the total book value of Funds and Trusts under the care of the College amounted to $11,299,834. The market value of these Funds and Trusts was on that date $16,893,111.

A substantial portion of these funds is invested in college real estate, and this year I propose to focus attention on this item. Campus real estate includes only income-producing faculty houses and apartments. All other college buildings, class rooms, dormitories, library, power plant etc., are not considered as investments and are consequently not on our books at any value.

There are 63 full time faculty and administration at the College for whom an effort is made to provide on-campus housing. Originally most of the faculty had their own houses, but as time went on and the faculty increased in number, it seemed desirable to convert the larger houses into apartments. There are now 17 houses and 36 apartments on the campus or immediately adjacent thereto. Not taken into account are five faculty built and owned houses with recapture provisions. Ten of the apartments and two of the houses are occupied by retired staff members.

The investment in campus real estate totals $382,078, (exclusive of Merion Hall and certain minor items), and the return on this amount this year was 2.9%; of this 1 1/2% goes toward amortization of these old properties leaving a net return of 1.4%. However, even these figures do not reveal the true investment and rate of return. The former would be higher and the latter lower than that stated, if a number of houses were placed on the books at their real value. The eight College Lane houses are now set forth at an arbitrarily low valuation at which they were taken over; several of the apartments appear on the books solely at the cost of conversion from house to apartment, and four of the apartments in buildings used for student housing and producing substantial rents which are taken in the above calculations are, like other college buildings, on the books at no value at all.

These figures do, however, indicate the interest of the College in adequately housing its faculty and the quiet but substantial subsidization which is made by the College towards this end.

After ten years the final amortization payments have been made on the cost of the Barclay Hall fire and of the "new" boilers. A strong attempt is being made to keep up the physical plant out of current operating income rather than defer either this maintenance item or spread the cost of major replacements over several years.

In view of the continued high level of the stock market, and in view of the need for cash for the building program, the Finance Committee authorized the sale of carefully selected common stocks which resulted in realized gains of $347,660. In our Consolidated Investments the percentage of common stock at book value remained 46%, and at market value was 62%; in bonds, 22% and 15%; in preferred 23 1/2 and 17%; in mortgage, miscellaneous and campus real estate 8 1/2% and 6%.

The income from the John Farnum Memorial Fund and the John Farnum Brown Fund was expended in the manner specified by the terms of the trust.

In conclusion, your Treasurer is moderately sanguine about the coming year. As of September 1st faculty salaries rose substantially, but as of that date the annual giving program of our loyal alumni moved into high gear, so that with a watchful eye on expenses, we hope for a continuance of a favorable operating statement.

Respectfully submitted,

Treasurer

Dear Sirs:

We have examined the statement of receipts and expenditures and the operating statement for the fiscal year ended 8th Month 31, 1956, as set forth in the annual report of the Treasurer and Comptroller of the Corporation of Haverford College.

Our examination comprised the verification of the receipts and expenditures of the Treasurer and Comptroller for the year; the reconciliation of the cash balance at 8th March 31, 1956 with the balance on deposit in bank; and the examination of the securities held by the Provident Trust Company and Fidelity Philadelphia Trust Company as fiscal agents for the Corporation.

In our opinion, the annual report of the Treasurer and Comptroller correctly sets forth the results of the operations of the Corporation of Haverford College for the fiscal year ended 8th Month 31, 1956, in conformity with generally accepted accounting Principles applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

Very truly yours,

LAWRENCE E. BROWN & CO.
Certified Public Accountants.

WILLIAM MAUL MEASEY TRUST

This Trust was established by William Maul Measey by Agreement dated June 27th, 1952 and supplementary Agreement dated April 26th, 1956.

The Trust Agreements provide that the income shall be granted as aid to students without restrictions as to sex, race or religious affiliation, in selected secondary schools or colleges, who on the basis of character, scholarship and financial situation, merit assistance in continuing their education.

In secondary schools aid is to be given to students who live in the institutions during school terms, and not to day students.

The Capital of the Trust is to be invested solely in common or ordinary corporate shares.

During the past fiscal year ending August 31st, 1956, the income was $57,900.89, and for the academic year 1955-56, out of the previous year's income $12,787.77 was granted to 26 students at Haverford College, and $12,500 to 24 students at secondary schools or other colleges.

W. PERCY SIMPSON TRUST

Provident Trust Co. and William J. Clark Trustees

This perpetual Trust was established under the will of W. Percy Simpson, Class of 1890, who died Second Month 19, 1938. The will provides that one fourth of the net income from the residuary estate, after the death of his widow (who died in 1940) and of his son (who died in 1946), shall go to two grandchildren, and of the remaining three quarters one tenth shall go to Haverford College. Thus Haverford's share of the income now is 3/40th. The income comes partly from securities but largely from Texas Oil Royalties and rentals. Of the present income as estimated by the Trustees, Haverford's share is about $1,875 per annum.

The will further provides "without imposing any obligation upon Haverford College, I recommend to it the advisability of expending the moneys which shall from time to time come to it under this will or so much thereof as may be required, for the examination and analysis of applicants for admission to the College with respect to their mental, physical and general qualifications, and of students therein for the purpose of determining the field of activity best suited to the individual."

The will further provides that whenever a vacancy shall occur by the death or resignation or otherwise of the individual Trustee, the selecting of a new Trustee shall be done by the governing body of Haverford College, and that if the College fails to perform this duty, the payment of further income to it shall terminate.

HENRY C. BROWN TRUST

Pennsylvania Co. for Banking and Trusts, Trustee

Founded Eighth Month 18, 1948, by bequest of estimated value of $183,000 from Henry C. Brown, of Philadelphia, ex Class of 1866, to the Pennsylvania Co., in trust for benefit of Haverford College. The will provides that the income is to be used for current expenses. The will further provides that "the said College shall have power in its discretion to use a portion of the principal of the said trust estate not exceeding in any one year twenty per cent of the original fund for permanent purposes such as buildings, books and equipment proper for conducting the work of instruction and education."

NATHAN BRANSON HILL TRUST

Founded in 1904 by deposit with First National Bank and Trust Company of Minneapolis, Minn., Trust, of a paid up life insurance policy for $5,000 by Samuel Hill, '78, being in memory of his father, Nathan Branson Hill. The income is to be used to aid in the maintenance of Haverford College so long as it shall remain under the auspices of the Society of Friends. In 1931 Samuel Hill died and the policy realized $5,039. The Trust is to remain in the care of the above named bank, now known as First National Bank of Minneapolis, until twenty-one years after the death of Samuel Hill's son, James N. Hill, who is still alive. At that time, the Trust is to terminate and the principal is to be vested in Haverford College absolutely.

If advisable, it may be given to more than one boy in any year. My preference is that it be awarded to a member of the Society of Friends, but I do not so restrict it. Should the time come when, for any reason, scholarships may not be needed or desirable, having full confidence in the Management of the College, I wish that both the principal and the income be used as the College in its sole discretion shall determine.

"I suggest that at the College it be known as the 'Moses Brown School Scholarship', and at the School as the 'Haverford Scholarship'." A further gift of $4,985.00 was made in 1949-50 and $2,715 in 1950-51 (through 1949 campaign). Present book value, $10,000.

Until otherwise ordered by the Board, 10% of the income is to be capitalized each year; provided that this shall not reduce the yield from the fund below 4%.

MAX LEUCHTER SCHOLARSHIP FUND

The plan for this fund was evolved during the life of Max Leuchter, who died in 1949, and carried out upon his death by his wife Cecila P. Leuchter and his sons, Ben Z. Leuchter and Joel C. Leuchter. Self educated after completion of grade school, becoming editor and publisher of the Vineland Times Journal, Max Leuchter wished to benefit the College to which he sent his son, and which he had come to greatly admire.

The purpose of the donors in making this gift in 1950 of $10,000.00 was to "create a scholarship which shall be given yearly to a student whose need can be demonstrated, whose academic performance meets the College requirements, and who, in addition, gives promise of making an outstanding contribution to the life of the College through his breadth of interest, his love of hard play and of hard work."

The scholarship shall be in the amount of $300.00 in the beginning. It may be given to a new student each year or to one student through each of his four years. All income received above $300.00 shall be capitalized each year.

"When the income from the fund has reached proportions such that an additional scholarship of $300.00 can be awarded, and that at the same time at least $300.00 can be returned to the fund, the additional award shall then be made."

"It is the further wish of the donors that, while their interests are primarily as stated above, should the Board of Managers of the College be faced with circumstances which cannot be foreseen now, the Board may, at its discretion, use the income from the fund for College purposes other than the scholarship purposes." The present book value is $12,519.04.
